FIGHT TO AVERT FINANCE ABYSS WAXES USELESS

City, County Near Breakdown.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city, county, and school board yesterday slipped along one day closer to a financial breakdown.

President Cermak and certain county commissioners now appear to realize that the county has no money on which to operate; that there is no immediate prospect of any coming in, and that they do not know where and how to borrow any. Twice they have received no bids for $7,000,000 of tax warrants. So Cermak has appealed to the Silas Strawn committee, which was out yesterday attempting to get funds for mothers' pension, the operation of the county hospital, and for the poorhouse at Oak Forest.

City and Schools Hopeful.

But city and school officials went cheerfully and hopefully along, believing they can borrow money on tax anticipation warrants in the face of the two failures of the county board. The city busied itself talking about the validity of the corporate budget, whether Mayor Thompson will veto it a third time, and the legality of retaining 473 policemen and 222 firemen on the pay roll who were shoved off and then reinstated at the direction of the city council.

The school trustees and their lawyers were still attempting to ascertain whether the $101,000,000 budget is valid in all respects.

Aldermen continued to discuss the corporate appropriations, which have been widely advertised as an "economy" budget. Ald. John S. Clark sent a letter to Mayor Thompson, Corporation Counsel Ettelson, Police Commissioner Russell, and Fire Commissioner Goodrich saying that it is the desire of the city council to retain the 473 patrolmen and 222 firemen.

Asks Damper on Politics.

"May we hope," reads the letter, "that all personal and political feelings be cast aside in these trying times due to the various factors over which city officials have but little control, to the end that the interest of the taxpayer and the citizenry in general may be protected and its welfare maintained to the highest degree possible?"

The alderman said that he hoped to make supplemental appropriations, based on new revenue, to provide for the firemen and policemen.

But no city or school official was found who would give a satisfactory answer to this question:

Where will the city and school board get money on which to operate if they cannot sell tax anticipation warrants?

Little Basis for Hope.

Nor was a satisfying reply obtainable to this question:

What is the basis of hope that the city or school board will be able to borrow in the face of two failures by the county?

The most frequent reply was that Mayor Thompson will force an additional $300,000,000 valuation on the top, which was taken off by the reassessment. The Building Managers' association said yesterday that $300,000,000 had not been taken off, that the correct amount is $119,000,000. They added they will fight to the full extent of the law to prevent unjust assessment of the central business district.

The proposed adding of $300,000,000 in taxable values means $15,000,000 in added taxes extended. That is a tidy sum worth fighting for.

Calls Agitation Political.

The reassessment has not been completed. The board of assessors was hearing complaints yesterday from many towns. The board rooms were jammed and some of the protestants were vigorous. Finally Assessor Charles Ringer asserted:

"This whole agitation in the country towns has been stirred up by politicians with such letters as this." He waved a copy of a letter dated Dec. 21 signed by "Anton J. Cermak, president," which reads:

"I have just been advised that the country town valuations are about completed and that there will only be five days allowed by the board of review and board of review for complaints on valuations following completion. Have therefore arranged with Mr. John E. Conroy, Democratic committeeman, to aid those in the country towns who wish to protect themselves by complaint. If you will gather as many as possible of the last bills in your precinct and bring them to him, he will assist you in getting present values, so that your people will know what their taxes are to be, and may protest if they are excessive."

"That is just a case of politicians

RELATIVE NEWS VALUE OF AN AIRPLANE TRAGEDY AND AN AUTOMOBILE TRAGEDY

POLICE RESCUE 5 CHILDREN AND WOMAN AT FIRE

Within five minutes after they discovered a fire at 1 o'clock this morning in a three story tenement at 1420 South Wabash avenue Police Sergt. Joseph McNamara and Patrolman Joseph Keating carried five children and a woman out through the smoke and warned the other tenants, all of whom escaped.

The officers noticed smoke pouring from the eaves and flames shooting from third floor windows as they passed on their beat. On their first trip upstairs they warned Miss Mary Cenderella and her sister, Mrs. Frances Cascio, and carried out the latter's children—Catherine, 6 years old; Florence, 4; Minnie, 3, and Briggio, 1 year old boy. On their second trip they warned second floor tenants and carried out Mrs. Mary Falby, 59, and her grandson, Charles Dailey, 12 years old. The fire, for which a 2-11 alarm was sounded, inflicted damage estimated at $2,500.

Another 2-11 fire about the same hour in the Julius Holzer clothing store, four blocks away at 18th street and Wabash avenue, destroyed an establishment which had occupied the single story frame structure for forty years, formerly under the name of Evans Brothers. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

ROBBERS SHOT WITH OWN GUN BY STORE OWNER

George Demetriades, a haberdasher at 332 South Halsted street, turned the tables on two young men who tried to hold him up last evening.

He was alone in the store when they entered. He clenched his fists when they ordered "hands up." They knocked him down and began to beat his head, one with a blackjack and the other with a pistol butt.

Demetriades grasped the pistol and wrenched it away. He started firing as he gained his knees. One robber, whom the haberdasher believes he wounded thrice in the back, escaped.

The second, with a bullet in his leg, limped into Abe Knoefsky's tobacco shop next door and sought refuge behind a customer, Edward Quigley. Demetriades was about to fire again when a policeman entered. At the Bridewell hospital the wounded man identified himself as Harold Donohue, 25 years old, 455 East 39th street, and named his companion as one "Red" Donnelly.

Last of Plane of Army's Arctic Lands Near Spokane

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The last plane of the army's arctic patrol able to fly over the icy peaks of the Continental divide glided down on frozen Newman lake, near here, today. Only four ships did not complete the long flight from Selfridge field, Michigan, despite subzero temperatures and unfavorable flying conditions. Temperatures of almost 50 degrees below zero in Montana made postponement of the last hop, from Great Falls to Spokane, necessary for several days. The 17 pursuit planes and one trimotored transport were overhauled in preparation for the return flight, scheduled to start tomorrow.

Army Must Go Dry or Face Court Martial

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The army has been ordered to go dry or face court-martial proceedings.

This was disclosed today when Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley announced that army regulations have been amended to include a section calling for strict compliance on the part of all officers and enlisted men with the provisions of the national prohibition act, as well as the act of May 18, 1917, which banned the use of intoxicants on military reservations.

Army Regulation a Law.

As interpreted by officers, the new regulation makes drinking a court-martial offense, whether the liquor is consumed on or off a military reservation. An army regulation is law for the army and if an officer is found guilty of taking a drink at a cocktail party he could be tried for conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. In more serious cases officers could be court-martialed out of the army.

Disclosure of the new war department regulation, made effective by the late Secretary of War James W Good, last October, aroused immediate speculation as to whether cabinet members generally would follow suit and take action forbidding employés and officials under them to disobey the prohibition law.

Upon his inauguration, President Hoover made it plain that he frowned on drinking by officials and according to all reports there has been less drinking on the part of members of a President's official family in the Hoover administration than during a previous régime. There have been reports that the President would take steps to halt drinking by government employés.

Whether On or Off Duty.

Secretary Hurley, in making the new regulation public, said it was the war department's contribution to the President's program to enforce prohibition. After requoting the regulation making the 1917 law effective, the present army regulations point out that "the national prohibition act contains no provisions which lessen the force and effect of the 1917 law, but serves to extend its broader provisions, prohibitions, and penalties to military personnel in their civil capacity, whether on or off military reservations."

"A strict compliance with the provisions of the national prohibition act is enjoined on our military personnel," the regulation states. "Commanding officers are especially charged with the strict enforcement of these laws within their jurisdiction."

2 DEAD, 25 TO 40 HURT IN WRECK OF CHICAGO TRAIN

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Two persons were known to have been killed and 25 to 40 injured, at least 10 seriously, in the wreck of passenger train No. 4 of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which was derailed tonight near Trafford, about 22 miles north of here. The train was bound for Chicago.

The dead are Tom Lee Harrison, engineer, of Decatur, Ala., and John Henry Johnson, Louisville, Ky.

Mack Sexon, Negro fireman, was first reported killed. He is in a critical condition and is not expected to live.

The train was composed of fourteen cars, and only three cars, the last two Pullmans and the diner, remained on the track.

A freight train running slightly behind the passenger was stopped just short of the wreck. Arrangements were made to couple the freight engine to the three cars remaining upright and to rush the dead and injured back to Birmingham.

PLEDGES END OF "WHOOPEE"; ENDS OWN LIFE

"I've made my last whoopee," said Miss Pearl Groves, 18 year old waitress at the Evanston hospital, last night to another waitress, Miss Evelyn McKnelly, in the latter's room in Henry house, where the hospital staff members reside.

With the remark Miss Groves drained a vial of carbolic acid, fled down a corridor, and locked herself in her own room. She was dead when an interne, Dr. J. H. Givens, entered the room after a carpenter removed the door.

MELROSE PARK QUAKES BEFORE ALCOHOL RING

New Threats Follow Disappearance of 3.

With two policemen missing for four days, the wife of one also missing, village officials under threats of death, the police chief's home under guard against attack, and the village attorney's home bombed, all within a week, Melrose Park was in a turmoil last night, as federal, state and local authorities pressed their search for the missing policemen.

Relatives and friends of Lieut. Rocco Passarella and of Patrolman Emil Ristau and his wife, believed the trio had been kidnaped and may have been killed because of the policemen's activities against a liquor ring. Chief of Police Arthur Leesberg professed to believe that the two men had been frightened away by threats of bootleggers. And federal authorities were investigating to determine whether they had disappeared or had been kidnaped to keep testimony from a federal grand jury.

Police Guard Chief's Home.

Despite Chief Leesberg's opinion that his former policemen, who were noted for their activities against bootleggers, had been driven away by fright, he himself appeared last night to be worried by threats of death similar to those sent Ristau and Passarella. At his home two policemen were stationed with shotguns to prevent the liquor ring from attacking him.

The worries over the threats had extended into the village board, and it was learned that Thomas McBreen, chairman of the council police committee, had resigned his chairmanship on Saturday night. He denied that he had received any threats, but said he quit his post because of the threats to other officials and the turmoil in the village. He intends, he declared, to quit the village board and "throw up the whole business."

Village Attorney Leaves Home.

At the same time it was learned that Guy C. Guerine, village attorney, whose home was bombed last week, had left the village several days ago. Friends said that he was in a sanitarium.

Dr. Edmond G. Brust, president of the board, however, expressed his contempt for the threats that have others quaking, although he was frankly concerned over the fate of Ristau and Passarella, believing that they have been kidnaped by the alcohol ring. With Chief Leesberg and William S. Ristau, a councilman and a brother of the missing policeman, he conferred yesterday with Assistant U. S. Attorney Dan Anderson, who is investigating the activities of the Melrose Park booze ring.

Pledges Search for Police.

"Nobody is going to scare me with any anonymous threats," Dr. Brust declared. "We are going to keep hunting until we find Ristau and Passarella. The whole town is concerned over their disappearance, and we are not going to let them down if they have been kidnaped by bootleggers."

Lieut. Passarella was active a year ago in the government drive which resulted in the indictment of more than 100 persons for operating stills in Melrose Park. A week ago Anderson elected him and Ristau to raid a building in Melrose Park and their raid uncovered a re-cooking still capable of turning out 1,000 to 1,500 gallons of alcohol a day. The investigation of renewed liquor activities and the raid resulted in the bombing of Guerine's home.

Receives Threat Over Phone.

And then Ristau received a threat over the telephone, warning him to "get out of town or have your damned head blown off." On Thursday Passarella received the same threat, and that night he resigned from the police force. On the following day he and Ristau were to have appeared before the U. S. grand jury.

On Friday afternoon, Ristau visited his brother at the latter's automobile agency in Melrose Park and drove away in an automobile. A few minutes later, he and Mrs. Ristau were seen to drive away from their home.

Chief Leesberg declined to say whether he had forced Passarella to resign.

Relatives said that they were certain the policemen must have been kidnaped. Mrs. Passarella received no communication from her husband before his disappearance. She is living in a state of siege at her home with her three small children, in a state of prostration, afraid to admit any one to her home.

STIMSON PLEADS FOR GOOD WILL AND FRANKNESS

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The five power effort to curb the ever mounting costs and risks of naval armaments was launched tonight by a welcoming banquet at the Savoy hotel, given by the British government. The conference opens at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald described the hope and confidence of his government to the assembled representatives of France, Italy, Japan, and the United States. Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, in replying for the visiting delegations, expressed the conviction that the conference was one of the rare occasions in history out of which a permanent step toward peace might gain impetus.

Pleads for Frankness.

Secretary Stimson spoke to the assembled delegates, pleading for a spirit of frankness and good will for the realization of the lofty purposes of the conference.

He pledged the American delegation to enter the conference "in such a spirit of frankness and good will."

Prime Minister MacDonald paid a stirring tribute to the leadership of the United States in "every peace movement of modern times."

Acknowledges Hospitality.

Mr. Stimson in his speech said:

"It is a great pleasure to acknowledge the gracious hospitality with which we have been received by our hosts on this occasion. It also is a great privilege to speak for the visiting delegations to the conference and to voice our appreciation of this invitation and of the importance of the occasion for which we are met. I am confident that each of our nations appreciates the greatness of this opportunity.

"The people of the United States recognize this as one of those rare occasions of history out of which, provided only the necessary conditions of spirit are present, a long and permanent step forward on the road towards peace may be taken for all the nations of the earth. Those conditions are mutual good will and an honest effort on the part of each one of us to understand the circumstances and difficulties which surround our sister nations here represented.

"Remove Secrecy and Rivalry."

"I earnestly plead for such good will and such an endeavor. I earnestly plead that we approach this conference table with no desire to overreach our fellow countrymen, but with a sincere will to obtain a result which will be faithful and beneficial to all. No other result will stand the test of time. No other accomplishment of this conference will be permanent.

"The chief purpose of our meeting is to transform the process of naval armament from a method of competition to one of mutual agreement and limitation. Economy is only an important by-product of such an end. Our real aim is to remove the secrecy, the rivalry, the mutual irritation which inevitably attends the precedent of competition in armament, and to leave each nation free to have an adequate national defense which will yet not be a source of worry and suspicion to its neighbors.

Frankness and Good Will.

"Manifestly such a result can only be obtained by frankness and good will. Manifestly if any one of us leaves this conference feeling that his country has been coerced into an unfavorable agreement our chief purpose will not have been attained. A sense of injury will remain as a rankling sore to plague our mutual relations in future years.

"I think I can pledge you that the American delegation, sincerely endeavoring to carry out the lofty purposes of their chief, the President of the United States, will enter the con

STAGE SET FOR OPENING TODAY OF NAVY PARLEY

Envoys Make Final Preparations.

The Naval Parley

The five power naval reduction conference opens in London today. Here are the high lights of the eve of the parley as cabled to The Tribune by its correspondents and news services:

Secretary of State Stimson at welcome banquet given by government appeals to powers to enter conference in spirit of frankness and good will. Says aim of conference is to end naval rivalry.

Mr. Henning reveals that United States has agreed to support Great Britain on reduction of battleships.

Mr. Steele tells of first full meeting of all delegates to make final arrangements for opening of conference at 11 a. m. today.

Mr. Wales describes elaborate court ceremony, in which King George welcomed delegates at Buckingham palace.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—When the delegates to the five power naval conference assembled for the first time as a whole this morning the British air ministry, perhaps unintentionally, gave them a foretaste of what might happen to all navies by sending the R-100, the largest and fastest airship in the world, to sail over the garden of Prime Minister MacDonald's residence and salute them.

The delegates had just assembled at 10 Downing street when the news arrived that the great airship had left its moorings at Cardington, Bedfordshire, and was on the way to London. Prime Minister MacDonald invited the delegates into the garden when the ship passed over, flying low and bobbing its greeting. More than one delegates must have reflected that, if the ship proved a success, they might as well agree to scrap all navies forthwith.

MacDonald Named Chairman.

The meeting this morning was an informal one for the purpose of discussing the program of tomorrow's opening meeting in the royal gallery of the house of lords. The delegates decided that after King George's welcoming speech at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. Chicago time) the first business would be to elect Mr. MacDonald chairman of the conference.

After the prime minister's address of welcome there will be replies by the chiefs of each delegation. Then the meeting will adjourn until Thursday, when another plenary session, this time private, will be held in St. James's palace. Wednesday will be devoted to private consultations among the various delegates.

Thursday comes the business of appointing a secretary general of the conference, who is expected to be either an American or a Frenchman, after which a committee composed of representatives from all delegations will be appointed to carry out the work of the conference.

Will Tell Naval Needs.

Each delegation on Thursday will make a general statement of the naval needs of its country. It is then expected that the conference will disappear from public view in committees for some time.

After these decisions were arrived at today the delegates again were taken into the garden to be photographed and filmed both for the silent movies and the talkies.

At 3:30 p. m. all were driven to Buckingham palace, where they were presented to King George by Mr. MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson. The king, who is in excellent health, chatted with each delegate for a few minutes and expressed his hope for a successful issue of the conference.

Entertained by Government.

This evening the delegates were entertained by the government at a dinner at the Savoy hotel. This was followed by a brilliant reception at Lancaster house by Prime Minister MacDonald and his daughter, Isabel.

Lancaster house, formerly the palace of the dukes of Stafford, is one of the finest houses in London. It was bought a few years ago by the late Lord Leverhulme, who presented it to the government. It is magnificently furnished and is used as a London museum and for state entertainments. It is almost in the precincts of St. James's palace.

From an authoritative source it is learned that Great Britain is going into the conference with a determination to secure naval reduction, but it is also clear that a reduction, so far as Great Britain is concerned, cannot be achieved in cruisers.

Great Britain's total number of cruisers now is 54, of which some are due for scrapping, and as the admiralty has fixed 50 as the minimum needed for national safety there is no chance of a reduction there.

Great Britain is pinning great hopes for saving on battleships, either by scrapping them or, as is more likely, by a cessation of building and gradual retirement. It also hopes to secure a reduction in submarines.

Great Britain is not interested in French battleships for the reason that they are few and ineffective. The submarine, however, is a serious matter for Breat Britain, as a flock of French submarines could endanger its food supply and destroy its commerce. It is also pointed out that the disappearance of the battleship might render possible a reduction even in cruisers later on.

Recall War Necessities.

During the war it is recalled that 25 cruisers, 80 destroyers, and a great fleet of aircraft carriers, mine layers, mine sweepers, colliers, oil tankers, store ships, repair ships, etc., were required to attend the battle fleet. If the battle fleet were scrapped, all these would be rendered superfluous.

All this is expected to be laid before the conference by the British delegates, and in the attitude of America and France toward the problems of battleships and submarines everything depends.

The British, it is stated, will go the longest way possible to secure success, not only because the present government is pacifist in principle, but still more because it needs the money now being spent on the navy for other uses much closer to its heart.

JAPAN EXCITED AS ZERO HOUR OF NAVY MEET NEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 20.—The extraordinary public interest in the impending London naval conference was heightened today by the arrival of the special American ambassador, William R. Castle, who called immediately on Kijuro Shidehara, foreign minister, who is a former acquaintance. Mr. Castle said frankly that his business here is President Hoover's expressed desire to have some one with an intimate knowledge of naval questions in Tokio during the naval parley.

Massmeetings held here, at Koba, Osaka, and Yokohama evidenced the amount of public sentiment here over the cabinet's cable to Reijurio Wakatsuki, leader of the Japanese delegation, urging all possible efforts to bring about a successful conference.

Naval circles generally, although disappointed at Japan's difficulties in bringing out a definite understanding regarding a 10-10-7 ratio, seem not pessimistic over the eventual outcome of the conference.

The public interest is mostly due to the prospect of a considerable tax reduction if the naval programs are cut. Radio stations here plan to broadcast King George's address at the opening session tomorrow, and many radio fans are preparing to listen in.

ROCKFORD TO PAY HELP AS MAYOR WHIPS COUNCIL

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Five hundred city employés, whose pay was held up today by Mayor J. Herman Hallstrom as a warning to the city council not to override his veto of the city budget will be paid tomorrow as a result of the council's docility tonight.

A week ago, despite the mayor's request that the provision for a $3,000 salary for Assistant Chief of Police Homer Read be omitted from the budget, the council included the salary in its ordinance and Mayor Hallstrom promptly vetoed it. Yesterday when the 500 city employés called at the city hall for their salaries, they were informed that the mayor had refused to sign the pay checks until after he learned whether the council intended to repass the provision to keep Read in office.

The council did not discuss the veto at tonight's meeting, and as a result the veto will stand, Read, who has been a member of the police force for 33 years, being demoted to a captaincy. Mayor Hallstrom has been attempting to abolish the office of assistant chief of police for several years.

Italian Flies 29 Hours; Breaks Light Plane Record

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 20.—A new long distance record over a closed circuit for light airplanes was established today by Renato Defato, an Italian airman, who covered 1,750 miles in 29 hours of continuous flying between Montecelio and Ostia. This record exceeds by 750 miles the previous one established last August by the German aviator, Cornelius.

U. S. LINES UP WITH BRITAIN TO JUNK BIG SHIPS

See Hoover as Overriding Naval Advisers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The immediate dual purpose of Great Britain in the London conference from the start, it was learned today, has been:

FIRST, a reduction in the number and size of battleships and their eventual total abolition, which was proposed by Prime Minister MacDonald;

SECOND, the increased strength of the cruiser fleet.

Furthermore, it transpires that the Hoover administration has been aware of this purpose for several months and has tacitly consented to go along with the British program, despite the fact that it is in conflict with the naval necessities of the United States.

U. S. Tail of British Kite.

This is but one detail of the accumulating evidence that America is only the tail of the British kite in the contest of world politics to be staged at the five power naval conference, which opens tomorrow. Behind the projection of the conference is discerned the hand of adroit British statecraft, no less than in the case of the Washington conference, where the idea originated, not with the late President Harding or Secretary of State Hughes, but with Lord Lee of Farnham, then first lord of the British admiralty, whose purpose was to halt the building of an American navy superior to that of Great Britain's.

The London conference originated not so much in a desire of the Hoover administration to accomplish something in the way of international disarmament, as the necessity of the Labor government of Great Britain in finding funds to finance its social service program without increasing the budget. A naval reduction offered a means of greatest retrenchment, and the greatest saving in navy expenditures manifestly could be accomplished, if a way could be found to avoid building battleships, which cost Great Britain $35,000,000 each.

Inasmuch as ten battleships each were to be laid down by Great Britain and America under the replacement provisions of the Washington treaty between 1931 and 1936, the MacDonald government fairly leaped at the opportunity of saving $350,000,000 for expenditure on unemployment insurance and other social service innovations. In such an achievement the Labor government saw a vision of its perpetuation in office.

Hoover Advised From Start.

There is ample evidence that the British projected the conference with the main purpose of obtaining a drastic reduction in expenditures for battleships without altering the existing superiority of Great Britain to America in capital ships, and with no intention of reducing the existing British strength in cruisers.

According to an authoritative British source of information, the Hoover administration was advised from the start of the purpose of the British government regarding battleships. Furthermore, from Japanese sources comes the information that the Hoover administration also knew at an early date of the concurrence of Japan with Great Britain on the battleship reduction project.

These facts were withheld, however, from the American public, which labored for several months under the impression that the chief objective of the conference was to reduce cruiser fleets and establish an Anglo-American parity in this category. Indications are not wanting that the Hoover administration also believed for some time that the British sincerely intended to reduce their cruiser fleet.

Battleship Reduction a Shock.

Eventually President Hoover awakened to the situation and then for the first time disclosed that a battleship reduction instead of a cruiser reduction was the chief accomplishment to be expected at the conference. One of the highest ranking officers of the American navy and a member of the navy general board was dumbfounded.

American naval authorities strongly oppose the British battleship reduction program because, with a lack of naval bases, America must depend on the invulnerable battleship fleet as a movable base capable of operating in distant regions. Despite this expert view, the Hoover admanistration willingly or unwillingly was maneuvered into an acceptance of the British program in principle.

he British proposal asks a reduction in battleships and big cruisers, both of which Great Britain has less need of than the United States, and no reduction in small cruisers, which America has little use for, because it lacks land bases, from which small cruisers can only be operated effectively.

Agrees to Slash Big Ships.

The Hoover administration has agreed to reduce the number of big cruisers and has brought pressure to bear on American naval advisers to indorse the building of a larger number of small cruisers than hitherto contemplated. The administration thus reverses the American position at the Geneva conference in 1927, and goes far toward accepting the British proposal, characterized by former President Coolidge as a limitation of ships vital to the nation's needs, and nonlimitation of ships unsuited to American national defense.

A postponement of the replacement of battleships for five years would prevent America from building, during that period, ships equal in size to the British dreadnaughts; Rodney and Nelson, which were laid down after the Washington treaty, thereby prolonging the existing inferiority of the American capital ship fleet to the British.

POMP AND PAGEANTRY TO BE ABSENT AS KING OPENS PARLEY TODAY

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The pomp and pageantry of royalty will not be in evidence when King George opens the first plenary session of the five power naval conference in the royal gallery of the house of lords tomorrow.

Instead of the crown, the ermine robes and the gorgeous uniform worn when the British monarch opens parliament on state occasions, he will be attired like a well groomed senator or a business man on dress parade. He will wear the dark striped trousers, frock coat and silk hat of formal morning dress. The king is one of the very few men in England who stick to the frock coat instead of the cutaway.

The trip from Buckingham palace, less than a mile away, will be made in a limousine rather than in the state carriage of gold and glass drawn by eight white horses. Members of the foreign delegations who have not seen King George in public probably will be surprised at his informality and the simplicity of his manner.

NAVY DELEGATES DO 'SQUADS RIGHT' FOR KING GEORGE

Ruler Shakes Hands with Sixty at Palace.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The elaborate court ceremony, following a strict age old protocol, for the presentation of the naval delegates to King George at his reception today at Buckingham palace, visibly impressed most of the representatives of the five powers assembled here for the opening of the conference tomorrow.

Twelve persons from each delegation were selected to meet the king, and Prime Minister MacDonald acted as master of ceremonies.

Mr. MacDonald introduced the head of each delegation to King George, who welcomed the visitors with a few cordial words. Then the chief delegate moved backward, always facing the king, for a yard and a half, and the other eleven members of the delegation filed past.

King Uses Two Tongues.

As each delegate stepped up, the chief delegate murmured his name and King George thrust out his hand welcoming him. The king spoke in French with the French and Italians and English with the Japanese and Americans.

After the presentations were over, the squad of naval delegates moved compactly away to the next salon, where a buffet lunch and tea were served. The queen was not present.

"How is M. Raymond Poincare?" the king asked Aristide Briand when Premier Tardieu presented the French foreign minister. Then turning to the French premier, King George said, in French, "I wish I spoke French as well as you speak English."

Pictures Provoke Jokes.

One delegate pointed to two enormous paintings beside the king, one depicting Blucher and Napoleon at Waterloo, and the other showing Nelson at Trafalgar, and said kiddingly to M. Briand:

"That is a fine joke on the French."

But M. Briand rapped right back:

"You noticed the big statue of William the Conqueror outside, didn't you?"

The government was host at a sumptuous banquet of 450 covers at the Savoy hotel tonight where the ladies, accompanying the delegates, were also invited. More than 5,000 glasses were required—eight at every place, for choice and selected beverages. Sherry was served as an appetizer, and then rare dry white Burgundy, followed by claret and old musty red Burgundy.

Few Turn Down Glasses.

With the dessert came Château Yquem, then Brut champagne and a choice of eleven kinds of liquors with coffee and cigars. Only an extremely limited number of the 450 guests turned down their glasses.

Some, attending a high British banquet for the first time, were unacquainted with the English custom that nobody smokes at dinner until the king's health is toasted.

Those who lit up cigarets before the scarlet-coated professional toastmaster called, "Charge your glasses, his majesty, the king!" were tipped off by neighbors to throw away their smokes.

After the banquet the party moved on to Lancaster house for a formal reception.

ference in such a spirit of frankness and good will.

"We are honored that his majesty the king, whose hospitality we have enjoyed today and whose subjects from all parts of the British commonwealth of nations are represented at the conference, will open our deliberations.

Voices Praise of MacDonald.

"We also feel that we are most happy in the personality of the gentleman who is the chief delegate of the nation which is our host—the Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald. Mr. MacDonald, upon his recent visit to the United States, made a deep and lasting impression upon our countrymen. They were strongly attracted by his character. They followed his utterances with approval. To them he seemed the personification of international good will and of a lofty desire for peace on earth.

"His visit was neither intended to nor did in any way negotiate changes in the official relations of the countries. But my countrymen regard Mr. MacDonald's connection with this conference as an earnest of the good will which they hope will animate its councils.

"A Fortunate Augury."

"We feel that we have a fortunate augury also in our friendly and sympathetic relations with each of the other three nations represented here. The feelings of the average American citizen for France are flavored with an affection which dates back to the foundations of our nation and which received a new and powerful impulse in our admiration for her gallant fight for human liberty in the great war. Our ties with Italy stretch between thousands of homes in either country and America has followed Italy's rapid growth in union and nationality during the last century with keen interest and admiration.

"Towards Japan we have not only friendship and esteem based on long and intimate association since the earliest days of her intercourse with western nations, but also a high appreciation of her vital service to the world as a great stabilizing force in the far east.

"Knowing the facts and sentiments as I do, I have no hesitation in pledging you the success of the coming conference. I feel confident that each of us, in the spirit which I have referred to, will join in a common effort to make of this meeting a great and notable landmark in humanity's progress toward that time when nations will dwell together in permanent confidence and amity and when all of their questions will be settled by the methods of justice and friendship and never by the arbitrament of force."

NO BATTLESHIP BRIGADE RAISES ANVIL CHORUS

Quote Cost Figures to Scare Taxpayers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The campaign on the part of little navy groups in the United States to scuttle the American fleet at the London conference gained momentum today.

Chairman Burton L. French [Rep., Idaho] of the house subcommittee on naval appropriations in a long speech advocated abolition of the battleship and advised his colleagues that failure of the London conference would cost the United States two billion dollars during the next fifteen years in warship replacements.

Almost simultaneously the national council for prevention of war broadcast bulletins to all sections of the country calling for scrapping of all battleships and radical slashes in all categories of ships at London, because they cost too much.

French Views with Alarm.

Chairman French minimized the value of the battleship, which American naval experts say is the backbone of modern fleets. He asserted that the submarine and the aircraft carrier will make it necessary to take the capital ship with its big sixteen inch guns to the nearest harbor in the next war. Despite his lack of respect for the big fighting ships, Mr. French would not scrap American vessels unless other powers did likewise.

According to Mr. French, the United States during the next fifteen years would have to build two billion dollars' worth of warships if no agreement is reached. He divided this figure up as follows: battleships, 600 millions; aircraft carriers, 95 millions; cruisers, 391 millions; destroyers, 562 millions and submarines, 351 millions.

Will Hoover Take a Hand?

With the opening of the London conference less than twenty-four hours away, speculation is rife in Washington as to whether President Hoover will allow the American delegation to shape United States policy as the situation develops in London, or take over the reins himself.

At the time the delegates left Washington, the intimation given out at the White House was that the delegation had full plenary powers and would make its own decisions. Since then there have been some evidences that the President will not hesitate to take a hand if he thinks he can improve the chances for an agreement. Indications now are that the President is prepared to go somewhat further in the way of battleship tonnage reduction than the American delegation, although not convinced that the time is ripe to reduce the number of American battleships below twelve.

O'BRIEN WIDOW MAY TESTIFY ON LOVE FOR DORR

Defense Gives Hint While Picking Jurors.

Unlike her reputed paramour, Howard Dorr, who denied that he ever had regarded her as anything but the wife of his good friend, William O'Brien, Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien will not deny that a love affair existed between her and Dorr.

That was indicated yesterday as Mrs. O'Brien went on trial in the court of Judge Harry B. Miller for the murder of her husband. Dorr also was tried before Judge Miller and was found guilty on Saturday of the murder of O'Brien, the jury recommending life imprisonment. The hint of the defense trend came when prospective jurors were questioned by Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who with Sam A. Hoffman will defend Mrs. O'Brien.

Gives Clew on Defense.

"If testimony is introduced showing that the defendant had improper relations with the co-defendant, Dorr, would it so prejudice you that you could not try her fairly as to whether or not she killed Mr. O'Brien?" Attorney Dougherty asked.

"You understand, do you not, that a person could violate one law and not another? Now if it is shown that the defendant offended against the moral code, or perhaps was guilty of adultery, your mind will not be so inflamed that you will be unable to give her a fair trial? She was not indicted for adultery."

Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler, who with Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne will conduct the prosecution, addressed the prospective jurors relative to the death penalty.

"We will not specifically ask that they give the death penalty," said Mr. Butler. "But we will ask for 'punishment to fit the crime,' and we want men who have no scruples against the death penalty."

Before court adjourned a panel of four jurors was chosen and sworn in. They are Thomas F. Drury, 5344 North Latrobe avenue; Gordan Brownell, 3160 Eastwood avenue; Irving A. Turner, 8735 South Hermitage avenue, and Robert McGaghie, 36 East 107th street.

To Become a Mother.

One of Genevieve O'Brien's chief assets, ironically enough, in her trial for the murder of her husband will be the fact that she expects to become a mother. She will be allowed to tell the jury of her condition when she takes the stand in her own defense, according to Attorney Hoffman.

Even yesterday, when the tedious questioning of veniremen was in progress, it was apparent Genevieve's trial will be full of paradoxes and contradictions.

Genevieve refused to testify in behalf of Dorr in his trial, although his wife, Rose, called on her in her cell in the county jail and begged her to do so. But Dorr said yesterday he readily will take the stand in Mrs. O'Brien's defense if he was called.

Defense attorneys said they expected to call him to the stand. On the other hand, the prosecutors said it was possible they would ask the court to call Dorr as a court's witness.

Dorr even indicated Mrs. Dorr would go to the defense of Genevieve, notwithstanding the fact that when the verdict was returned finding her husband guilty of murdering Gen's husband, Mrs. Dorr shrieked, "Take her before God, she's the guilty one."

Only a Few in Court.

As Genevieve's trial opened Judge Miller's courtroom presented a contrast to its appearance during the 17 days devoted to Dorr's trial. Instead of a thousand or more persons trying to get in, only a handful attended. No one had expected the case to go to trial at once.

Except for Judge Miller, who apparently was unwearied by the strenuous days of the previous two weeks, every one seemed a trifle weary. Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne more than once carefully hid a yawn. Special Investigator Roy Arnold leaned back in his chair or glared at prospective jurors as if they were responsible for the case's going to trial.

Genevieve, sitting in the same chair Dorr occupied, looked white and frail. When Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne asked a prospective juror, who said he was a waiter, whether the defendant's sex would prejudice him in her favor, the man stared at the rather pensive, childish face of Mrs. O'Brien and nodded his head.

Excused from Jury Duty.

"I reckon it would," he said in a hoarse voice. He was excused. He put on his cap and a ragged sweater, got his time card, which entitled him to one day's pay when he might have got more, and departed.

Whenever Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne qualified one of the veniremen for the death penalty, Genevieve's nervous fingers pulled at her handkerchief, the slight droop to her mouth become bitter, and more than once she shook perceptibly.

Her manner was a contrast to that of Dorr, who had seemed more like an interested spectator rather than a man on trial for murder. Genevieve, her small face set in a mass of auburn curls, obviously tried to make herself as unobtrusive as possible.

"We do not see how the state has a shred of evidence against Genevieve O'Brien, and we will show that she had no knowledge that Dorr was going to shoot O'Brien," Mr. Dougherty said.

He said he would not fight any attempt on the part of the state to introduce the statement she made to police.

In it Mrs. O'Brien laid the blame for the murder on Dorr. She said he had told her he would "have to get rid of him some way," meaning her husband, and that maybe he would "have to get rid of them both," meaning O'Brien and Mrs. Dorr, but Mrs. O'Brien said she had told him he was crazy, and asserted that she had not thought he meant it.

O'Brien's Father in Court.

Don O'Brien father of William O'Brien, sat in the front of the courtroom. He hopes to see his daughter-in-law convicted, he said, with "proper punishment" fixed.

Genevieve's father, Thomas Keegan, was not in the courtroom. He has been confined to St. Bernard's hospital, but is expected to be present today, with her brothers, Ray and Eugene Keegan, all of 5935 Wentworth avenue.

ISHBEL TO LEAD WHIRL OF PARTIES FOR U. S. WOMEN

London to Buzz with Social Events.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP) — Party frocks were unpacked, invitations scanned, and decisions made about dates, by the wives of the delegates to the naval conference today as they prepared for a flurry of teas, receptions and luncheons beginning with the opening of the conference tomorrow.

All official London is planning a series of entertainments for the women visitors, but the details of dates and the nature of the functions were held up until the program of conference meetings was settled.

Ishbel Is Chief Hostess.

Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the prime minister, as chief official hostess, has already decided to give dinner parties for the wives of the delegates whenever their husbands are occupied with conference dinners. She will be assisted by two women in London government circles on each occasion.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the American ambassador, has already started informal entertaining by keeping more or less open house at the embassy for any of the delegates' wives who wish to drop in for an informal chat and a cup of tea. Toward the end of the conference she will be hostess at a large, formal party.

The American Women's club is preparing a formal afternoon reception for Jan. 31. The American women have been given courtesy membership cards for the duration of their stay, and the spacious club rooms, dining room and card rooms, are available for them at any time.

Lady Astor Hampered.

Lady Astor, one of the outstanding Anglo-American figures in London, will be somewhat hampered in any entertaining she may wish to do by the fact that the opening of an important parliamentary session coincides with the opening of the naval conference, and by the fact that the building next to her town house is being torn down, to the accompaniment of much unpleasant noise, which makes entertaining practically impossible.

Mrs. Stimson, wife of the secretary of state, has already captivated by her charm the delegates of other nations who were guests at the secretary's country home yesterday. The other delegates and London's hostesses are eagerly awaiting the arrangement of her program so that they can meet and entertain her.

MORAN SUES MACK FOR ATTEMPTING NEW MINSTREL PARTNER

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—George Searcy, black face minstrel, who is better known as George Moran of "Moran and Mack," today secured a temporary injunction to stop his erstwhile pal, Charlie Mack, from supplanting him with a new minstrel man and calling the new man by either the name of "George Moran" or "Black Crow."

Mack says he has had a succession of minstrel partners in his "Two Black Crows" act and that the "Moran" of the act was always a salaried employé, not a partner.

Mack and his new "Moran," Bert Swor, are just finishing a black face comedy for talking movies, which is entitled "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F."

Moran's legal papers, which resulted in Judge Walter Hanby's temporary injunction today, set forth that Moran and Mack teamed in 1917 and worked together in black face until Jan. 11, 1929.

FATHER OF TEN GETS 60 DAYS ON AUTO CHARGE

Floyd Owen, 46 years old, 8241 North Kilpatrick avenue, Niles Center, a contractor, the father of ten children, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail yesterday for leaving the scene of an accident. Judge Jacob Hopkins in the Criminal court passed the sentence. Last Sept. 19, Owen drove his car through a stop light at Dempster and Niles Center roads and struck an auto driven by Frank Munson, 1468 Byron street, injuring Mrs. Munson and her niece, Gwendolyn Brown, 10 years old. Assistant State's Attorney Robert L. Donigan asked for the maximum sentence of a year and a $200 fine. Judge Hopkins said he was lenient because of Owen's children.

Edward Meehan, 32 years old, 6548 Justine street, and Matthew Brick, 26, 10506 Ottawa boulevard, Chicago Heights, were slightly injured last night when Meehan's automobile and a Safeway motor bus, driven by Brick, collided at 63d street and Irving avenue.

With no deaths reported yesterday the 1930 Cook county motor toll remained at 34.

Six year old Martin Shively, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shively of 1406 Washington street, Waukegan, died in the St. Therese hospital at Waukegan of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Leslie Martin, 814 Washington street, Waukegan.

BOB LAWYER'S SUMMER HOME.

Summer home burglars yesterday renewed their activities in Lake county by robbing the summer home of Frederick A. Brown, Chicago attorney, at Druce's lake in the western part of the county. The robbers forced open a French window and took six oriental rugs, furniture, silverware, dishes, clothing and bedding valued at more than $5,000.

William E. Ostrander, 30 years old, an insurance broker, was in a cell at the detective bureau last night, charged with stealing $325,000 from his aunt, who had raised him from babyhood and entrusted her estate to his care when her first husband died several years ago.

WILLIAM E. OSTRANDER.

Ostrander said he had lost the money, which he claims was not more than $50,000 in actual cash and $100,000 in paper profits, speculating in the stock market with his aunt's consent. He insisted that he had conducted his speculations under a power of attorney given him by his aunt, Mrs. May McMahon, of the Chatfield Apartment hotel, 3333 Washington boulevard.

Blames Stock Crash.

Ostrander, who assumed the name of his aunt's husband when he went to live with the family after the death of his parents 25 years ago, blamed the entire affair on the crash of the stock market and his aunt's second marriage, telling a story of being played for a "sucker" by fair weather friends who gave him "tips" on the market. He was a "big fellow" along La Salle street during the days of the boom market, he said, and everybody was ready to advise him how to invest his aunt's money until the crash came.

Ostrander was arrested yesterday as he was entering the Insurance Exchange building at Jackson boulevard and Wells street to keep an appointment with his aunt in the office of his attorney, where they were to discuss their recent losses. At the detective bureau, he exhibited three letters signed with Mrs. McMahon's name authorizing him to transfer her securities, but Mrs. McMahon insisted that she had not given him the letters and that he had filled in the power of attorney over her signature on a blank piece of paper.

According to her story, Ostrander accompanied her to a safety deposit box where she kept the securities, left her by her husband, John Ostrander, a wealthy manufacturer, and while she was clipping the coupons, he stole 1,009 shares of United States Steel stock, which has a total market value of more than $170,000, along with other valuable stocks, which she did not specify. Her husband, she said, had left her $500,000 and she had never touched the principal, living entirely on the income.

Ostrander, however, said that he had conducted her business affairs for her for three years until about a year ago, when she married her second husband, John McMahon, a police messenger. At that time, Mrs. McMahon gave him her bungalow at 1004 Harvard street, Evanston, where he lived for a time until he lost it by foreclosure for a small loan.

He blamed McMahon for his arrest, declaring that it was all "a family quarrel."

19 NATIONS SIGN YOUNG PLAN AND THE WAR IS OVER

Ten Year Row Over Swag Ends at Hague.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, Jan. 20.—Until 5:45 p. m. today nobody would have been quite correct in saying the war was really over. It was at this hour that the revised and amplified Young plan was laid before Henri Jaspar, Belgian premier, and chairman of the second reparations conference, fully signed.

Delegates of 19 nations held their pens in hand in the historic Binnenhof one hour in affixing their signatures to 20 separate agreements, 14 anexes and 15 special clauses, totaling 150 pages. Edwin C. Wilson, first secretary of the Paris embassy and American observer, sat and observed but signed nothing.

When Premier Jaspar had this mountain of paper before him he declared The Hague conference adjourned, the old era of perilous discussions and disappointing setbacks dead and a new one of concord born.

Final Act Drab Affair.

The revised Young plan is expected to settle German reparations for all time and under the preamble all the powers undertake to enforce this settlement. Next in importance comes a series of agreements outlining the settlement of the central European financial mess. And despite eleventh hour alarms, nobody signed with reservations except on two minor questions raised by Czech-Slovakia and Portugal.

The final act of liquidating the war, which has been going on haltingly for ten years, with countless international confabs, three military occupations and general distrust, was a drab business.

Some of them unshaved and all haggard after their night-long sessions, the delegates took seats outside the narrow table to form a closed square and listened to the speech of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, and one by Premier Jaspar, and signed away.

Speaking for all delegates, Mr. Snowden said:

"We believe we have fulfilled the task set for us by the great powers at Geneva sixteen months ago—the final liquidation of all matters left by the war. Our agreement, like all such, is in the nature of a compromise. None of us got wholly our own way, but it is an honorable compromise."

He praised the courage and cordiality of the Germans:

"I think they can go back and claim credit from their countrymen for the way they protected their interests. Dr. Gustav Stresemann is dead, but his works still live.

Must Work Together.

"Now we are no longer allies and enemies, but friends and comrades working together for the pacification of Europe. The interest of one from now on is the interest of all, and a wrong or injustice done one is a wrong or injustice done all."

The Young plan, despite the batterings it has undergone, really is still recognizable. Germany still pays roughly $9,282,000,000 from April of last year through 1966. The system of annuities is not altered, except as the private accord between the United States and Germany changes them.

There is a new feature—a sanctions clause—by which it is clearly implied that military occupation can ensue if The Hague tribunal holds that Germany has willfully defaulted.

World Bank a Clearing House.

The international bank, instead of a vast, powerful organization of control, is merely to be a clearing house, in which payments will rest only a couple of days. The final touches will be put to it when the Swiss approve the charter in February, setting the capitalization at $96,500,000. The mobilization loan of $300,000,000, of which the Germans get $100,000,000, is provided for by October of this year, and the Germans pledge to keep out of the international loan market until 1931.

Apart from the sanctions clause the so called "new plan" reinforces the Young plan. Germany must pay up entirely within three years after it has obtained a provided two year moratorium.

The first and most striking result of the ratification plan of the parliaments of various powers will be the withdrawal of 20,000 troops left in the third Rhineland zone. Premier Tardieu of France expects to begin negotiations with the Germans in March.

The central European accord between the little entente and Hungary will finally be reached at a conference in Paris within two weeks.

In the wrangle to win this agreement Great Britain agreed to meet one-fifth of the expenses of the pool, out of which the claims of the so called second pool to the archduke, the church and private railroad claims are to be met. It will cost the British $125,000 per year. The Italians stand two-fifths and the Belgians two-fifths.

Seymour Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, sat and watched while they signed his job away.

OPERA STAR OF FORMER YEARS ENDS OWN LIFE

Mme. Elena Avedano Pratt, 41 years old, who was killed yesterday when she walked in front of an electric train at Bellwood, was in her youth regarded as a child prodigy. At the age of 22 she was a member of the San Carlos Opera company and was acclaimed in Europe, South America, and Cuba.

But then it is said reverses set in. Ten years ago Mme. Pratt was taken ill and lost her voice. She married and divorced Guiesseppe Valdastri of San Francisco. When police visited her room at 1015 North Clark street they found a picture of her 17 year old daughter adorning the wall.

Mme. Pratt tried to sell real estate. Then she opened a vocal studio at 243 South Wabash avenue. Failure again, and last, the police say, a speeding train for an exit from the stage of life.

GEN. J. F. O'RYAN TELLS HOW HE IS SIR IN ENGLAND

Accepted Title Rather than Offend British.

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, who led the 27th division of New York National Guardsmen in the world war, cleared his throat twice today and gave this reporter an explanation of how he lives the dual role of an American-Irishman and a knight of the British realm.

It is all a matter of soil.

When Mr. O'Ryan is in our midst, he is just plain John or general to his friends, but when he sets foot on British land, he becomes Sir John, knight commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, or he can hang his gold star with St. George on horseback in the closet and get out his white enameled Maltese cross and bt St. John, commander of the Victorian order.

Clears Up a Mystery.

As recently as last November the O'Ryan title was causing editors almost as much worry as the dispute over whether or not to slip a hyphen in the middle of Jugo-Slavia. O'Ryan was in London at the time arranging for a reunion between his soldiers and John Bull's soldiers next May. The British papers kept referring to him as Sir John and the American correspondents kept mentioning him as Gen. O'Ryan. Today he was asked which was correct.

"Both," said Maj. Gen. Sir John F O'Ryan, "but I much prefer to be called general. I was honored by the British soon after the war along with several other Americans. It was a precedent, I believe. When I am on English soil they call me Sir John. I do not object to it, because such things are sacred to the British. To object would be to offend them and during the war we found the British, by which I mean the English, Scots, Irish, and Welsh, to be brave, determined, and straight shooters in every sense. When I think of the British my slogan is 'Mud is thicker than water.' We know that is true and it furnishes a common ground for all.

Why Should Papers Worry?

"You know by my name that I am not given to the British and I do not see why an American newspaper should be concerned with this matter at all."

The general did not go into the matter of whether an American should accept titles from another country when his own did not have any to put out. He was asked if he had suggested to the British newspapers that they refer to him as Sir John.

"No," said Gen. O'Ryan.

"But they did refer to you as Sir John."

"Yes," said Gen. O'Ryan, "I did not object. Don't get the idea that everybody in America has it in for the British. It is just a few nitwits. It is all nonsense. It is a big world. There are lots of people in it."

The general looked at his watch and then at one of those big yellow bags like you see on the Century.

"I'm going to Montreal in a few minutes," he said, "but I will write you something. Make a headline out of this—'Mud is thicker than water.'"

Gen. O'Ryan thereupon prepared to depart for Montreal. He will be Sir John tomorrow morning.

WIDOW'S PEEK OVER TRANSOM BARES TRAGEDY

2 Dead, 1 Overcome as Oxygen Fails.

A woman's interest in the habits of her neighbor led to the discovery of a grotesque tragedy in a tenement at 3426 Wallace street yesterday.

Mrs. Mary McBride, an elderly widow living on the third floor, was going out for groceries at 2:30 p. m., when she noticed a light burning in the flat of Mrs. Bernice Maschowski on the second floor. Since none of the other tenants could afford to run up a light bill in the daytime, the Widow McBride began to wonder.

Looks Over Transom.

She hesitated a moment before knocking. No answer came and the widow's curiosity increased. She spent a moment overcoming her scruples and then brought down a chair from her own kitchen. Standing on the chair, the widow peeked over the transom.

Through the steam blurred glass she discerned Mrs. Maschowski sitting on the sofa with her hands folded in her lap. At the kitchen table were two men with a flask and tumblers on the board between them.

Satisfied by her inspection, but a little anxious lest some one had seen her, the widow stepped off her perch. Mrs. Maschowski was separated from her husband and the widow knew she often entertained other men, but Mrs. McBride didn't want the other neighbors to know she would spy to get a bit of gossip.

Thinks Again of Light.

She was hurrying away to do her marketing when the thought of that burning light brought her back. Again she knocked and, growing hysterical at the silence within the flat, began to pound and kick the door. Other tenants heard the noise and called Deering police station.

Patrolmen Elmer McAvoy and Joseph Madigan forced the lock with a borrowed screw driver and backed away from the fetid air as the door swung open. The policemen summoned a pulmotor squad. Windows were broken to air the two tiny rooms and the rescue work was started.

One man, identified as John Sandstrolg, 34 years old, a bachelor tenant on the second floor, responded to the oxygen and was taken to St. Paul's hospital.

Mrs. Maschowski and her other guest, Michael Laeshas, 45 years old, 3440 Wallace street, were taken to a nearby mortuary. A police surgeon said they had been dead about six hours. The case was written in the records as an accidental asphyxiation, due to exhaustion of the oxygen in the rooms.

Woman's Suits Pile Up; Now Asks for $325,000

Mrs. Mona Roth, former cabaret singer, 4526 Drexel boulevard, whose $250,000 breach of promise suit against Moe Hillison, wealthy head of the Hillison and Etten Printing company, is pending in the Superior court, yesterday filed another suit against him. The second suits asks $75,000 damages for false arrest.

MOE E. HILLISON.

MRS. MONA ROTH. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Attorney Victor Frohlich, representing Mrs. Roth, declared that Hillison sought to intimidate his client before she filed the breach of promise suit by having her arrested on a charge of extortion last Dec. 1. He failed to prosecute when the case was called before Municipal Judge Borrelli and after Mrs. Roth had spent a night in the Hyde Park police station. The damages are asked for her embarrassment and humiliation, the attorney said.

In her first action Mrs. Roth declared that Hillison refused to marry her after courting her 12 years and paying her $500 a month as an allowance during that period. Hillison is married.

BANKER SHANNON CELEBRATES 75TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

Neil J. Shannon, vice president of the Foreman State Trust and Savings banks, will celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday today by doing his usual day's work at his office, advancing years having proved no handicap to his activity.

Mr. Shannon has been an officer of the Foreman bank for eighteen years, since he joined the institution to organize the trust department. Before entering the banking field he was assistant to the probate judge of Cook county, a post which he held for 22 years, his work there having made him one of the leading authorities in the city on trust and probate matters.

The veteran attorney and banker was born in Montreal and was graduated from the Kent College of Law in Chicago. Despite his years he is still an active sportsman and until a few years ago was an expert handball player. His favorite sport now is fishing.

Among those present were Chancellor Mueller, President Schacht of the reichsbank, and other leaders of the intellectual, industrial, and political life of Germany. Earlier in the day Mr. Schurman handed the president of the German Red Cross a draft for $5,000 from the American Red Cross for relief of Russo-German farmer refugees. It was his last official act.

RUBIO, BACK FROM U. S., GIVEN BIG HAND IN MEXICO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—President elect Ortiz Rubio arrived shortly afternoon from his vist to the United States and got the greatest reception ever given a president elect in the history of Mexican political life. At the station were representatives of every class of Mexican society. This is unusual, since up till now those not in political life have preferred to stay away from all political demonstrations, whatever its nature. But today, for the first time since the dramatic exit of the late President Porfirio Diaz, in the spring of 1911, after dominating Mexico for a third of a century, all Mexico turned out to welcome the president elect back.

To welcome Rubio were Minister of War Joaquin Amaro, and scores of generals and under army officers and the whole strenght of the national revolutionary party which backed him for president. Professional classes were there in force. Organized labor too was there. From within the station yard and without echoed and re-echoed shouts of welcome and these were taken up and repeated far down the streets.

SIFT CLEWS IN STREET SLAYING AT OAK PARK

Victim Is Shot Down by Gunman in Auto.

What little explanation there was for the murder of John De Saeger in Oak Park yesterday was that probably he was taking a job from some other man. Yet in the De Saeger home at 1729 North Menard avenue there wasn't a penny in the house, and he and his invalid wife and daughter had been living from hand to mouth for months—practically on charity—and he was deeply in debt.

De Saeger, apparently, was on his way to do some wallpaper patching in Oak Park. He was walking along South Wisconsin avenue when an automobile drew up alongside him. He and the driver conversed, man and machine moving along. Suddenly the driver of the car was heard to say:

"The hell you will."

Student Witnesses Killing.

The motorist then stepped from the car, shot De Saeger in the head, dropped the pistol, returned to the car and drove away. H. G. Groll, student at the University of Chicago, and Mrs. Arthur P. Rehm, 1145 Wisconsin avenue, saw the killing but were unable to see the license number of the machine.

Lieut. Kearin of the Oak Park police learned that De Saeger had operated a small painting and paperhanging business at 814 Harrison street, Oak Park, until a year ago. At that time De Saeger, his wife, Martha, and his 16 year old daughter, Madeline, lived at 1187 Grove avenue. Kearin's report showed the following:

"About four months ago the De Saeger family was evicted from the building, which is owned by Salvatore Sansone, 1131 Elgin avenue, Forest Park, and for which the firm of James A. Howe & Sons, 1118 Roosevelt road, are agents. He owed $195 rent for three months and owed many other bills in Oak Park.

Refused to Pay Rent.

"Howe says that De Saeger, in his presence, told Sansone to go to hell and try to get his rent. Recently, Sansone, who is a contractor, was putting up a new building at Elgin avenue and Roosevelt road and he offered De Saeger the job of interior decorating as a means of getting part payment on his back rent. De Saeger never appeared to do the work.

"Since then the De Saegers have been living on the bounty of Mrs. De Saeger's sister. The family said he had a violent argument with a man named Joe Ponnett, once his helper. We haven't located Ponnett. Mrs. De Saeger, who was prostrated, said her husband once belonged to the painters' union, but hadn't paid dues in a year."

DELAY HEARING OF DR. LOBDELL ON DEATH CHARGE

Dr. Effie L. Lobdell, who has practiced medicine in Chicago for 40 years, appeared before Judge William E. Helander yesterday on a charge of murder by abortion but her preliminary hearing was delayed to Feb. 5. Her attorney, Charles Michal, and Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast both asked more time to prepare their cases.

Dr. Lobdell was arrested Sunday in her apartment at the Congress hotel on a warrant procured by Frank H. Sobbry, 936 E. 76th street, whose wife died on Dec. 1 after an alleged illegal operation. Sobbry charged that Dr. Lobdell performed the operation but this she denies.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR COMPANY OF AIRSHIP VICTIM

Margulies Firm Said to Show Shortage.

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—A reported shortage of $250,000 in the accounts of the Great Eastern Casualty Insurance company, one of the five Newark concerns headed by Emanuel Sinclair Margulies, who died Friday in an airplane crash in Florida, has resulted in the appointment of temporary receivers for the concern, it was learned today.

The receivers were appointed by Vice Chancellor Fallon of Hoboken on a petition by Samuel M. Hollander, counsel for Mrs. Harriet C. Reid, who owned more than 100 shares of stock in the Great Eastern Casualty Insurance corporation. A hearing will be held tomorrow before Vice Chancellor Church in Newark to show cause why the receivership should not be made permanent.

A few hours after news of the alleged shortage had been made public the body of the president of the insurance company was brought back to South Orange by the widow, Mrs. Marguerite Zender Margulies, former Broadway musical star.

Vernie E. Moon of Maplewood, professional pilot, who made the trip to Florida with Margulies in the plane which Margulies had purchased a short time before at Newark airport, also returned from Florida. He was shaken and bruised in the crash, but spent only a few hours in the hospital. He said the plane would not have been wrecked if Margulies had not interfered with the controls.

"Ordinary soaps can do great harm"

CARSTEN of Berlin

"Daily cleansing with Palmolive Soap is the basis of all my treatments, even the most elaborate."

"Ordinary soaps can do great harm. Modern beauty specialists advise a soap made of vegetable oils . . . the pure oils of palm and olives. Palmolive Soap is safe for the most sensitive complexion. It leaves the skin in the best possible condition for a beauty expert's treatment."

Leo Carsten

KURFÜRSTENDAMM 200, BERLIN

Facade of Carsten's famous beauty salon on the Kurfürstendamm in Berlin . . . one of the most elegant shops on an avenue famous for its smartness.

Today, more than ever before, it is important to wash the face with this soap containing olive oil . . . safe, bland, non-irritating.

"NEW beauty treatments, such as ultra-violet rays and radio-active preparations, undoubtedly have their value in certain conditions of the skin, but it must not be imagined that older and simpler methods are superseded," says Leo Carsten, proprietor of the famous "Figaro" beauty shop on the Kurfürstendamm in Berlin.

"Soap and water, for example, are still the finest possible cleansers for the skin," he adds. "You will realize the importance of this when I say that daily cleansing with Palmolive Soap is the basis of all my treatments, even the most elaborate."

Herr Carsten, better known as "Figaro," is head of the leading beauty salon in middle Europe . . . located on one of the most fashionable streets in the world. He is also well known in Berlin social circles.

18,900 famous experts agree

In this shop . . . in other beauty shops patronized by the smart women of the world's leading capitals . . . the advice to use Palmolive is part of every recommended home facial treatment.

Palmolive is made of the oils of palm and olives . . . no other fats whatever. Its color is the natural color of those oils. Its natural odor makes unnecessary the addition of heavy perfumes. Its cosmetic oils have been the finest natural skin cleansers since Cleopatra's time. Nothing has ever supplanted them.

This is the Palmolive treatment

This is the way to get the best results: make a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. Massage it into the face and throat. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. That's all. Yet thousands of great beauty experts, millions of their clients, find it the most effective safeguard for beauty. And Palmolive costs so little that one uses it for the bath, of course, as well. Begin these twice-a-day treatments tomorrow. They will protect your skin from irritation . . . keep it fresh, glowing, lovely.

SCHOOL BOARD BEGINS QUIZ OF REPAIR CONTRACT

One Bidder Is Far Below Average of Others.

The board of education yesterday began an investigation into the awarding of contracts for the repair of school buildings. The board will try to discover why one contractor was the low bidder on all but one of eighteen school jobs at a price which was only 55 per cent of the average estimated by all other contractors bidding.

According to figures presented by Trustee Lewis E. Myers, the W. E. Boyington company bid $29,168 on 18 jobs and was awarded 17 of the contracts as the low bidder. The average estimates of all other bidders was $52,587, or nearly double the bids of the Boyington company.

Wants an Explanation.

"Either all of the other contractors got together in a collusion to mark up the prices," Mr. Myers said, "or else Boyington is performing miracles."

Several trustees demanded an explanation of this unusual circumstance before they would give their approval of the payment of bills for the work. It was pointed out that Boyington may have estimated the costs at a low figure with the idea of making up the difference through extra charges.

"This work was ordered on Nov. 19 and is nearly completed," said Chester Ellicott, head of the board's repair bureau. "It was ordered by the architect."

Who Ordered the Work.

"The work was ordered by the business manager," said the board architect, Paul Gerhardt.

Ernest Withall, the business manager, was in Florida, it was explained, and Mr. Boyington also was reported to be out of the city. They will be asked to appear before the board's building and grounds committee next month, together with all the other contractors who submitted bids.

Two of the high bidders appeared before the committee yesterday, but were unable to account for the great difference between their bids and those of Boyington.

Table of Bids.

The estimates on which Boyington was awarded the contracts as compared with the other bidders and the percentage differences are shown in the following table:

	Boyington company.	Per-centage.	Avg. of other bids
Hyde Park	$ 1,309	33%	$ 4,025

trying to get votes," added Mr. Ringer.

"That's undoubtedly true," said Assessor Charles Krutckoff.

The board of review was busy on complaints within the city, and it did not appear to be much interested in today's meeting of William H. Malone. He is the chairman of the state tax commission and has called upon the reviewers to explain some of the erasures in their reassessment lists.

"Never heard of that meeting," said Reviewer Barrett. "If all the busybodies would leave us alone we would get some work done." Reviewer Weber said that he had received the notice of Mr. Malone and had turned the letter over to Mr. Barrett.

Must Await the Taxes.

Of course none of the local tax expending bodies can get taxes until the reassessment is completed, which appears to be several weeks, if not months, away. But the city and school officials can keep on hoping that they will be able to borrow on tax anticipation warrants, or they may fall back on the mayor's plan.

On the reassessment the Building Managers' association accepted Mayor Thompson's challenge yesterday.

The Mayor says that loop values have been reduced $300,000,000 by the reassessment and the burden increased on outlying property.

The building managers say that charge is untrue, and has been made for political purposes. They assert the mayor's figure of $300,000,000 is phoney. They claim the reduction is $119,158,040. They show that the territory in the south township, between Van Buren and 39th streets—largely populated by the mayor's political friends, the colored voters—was reduced the same amount—the exact figure being $119,808,812. They assert that every township lying wholly within the city has been reduced, but varying in percentages.

Ready to Give Battle.

The building managers exhibited their readiness to give Mayor Thompson battle at a hearing before the board of review. Lester L. Falk appeared as attorney for 300 property owners.

Technically the board of education, through its tax attorney, Thomas V. Sullivan, and the city council, through its tax attorney, William Sullivan, appointed by Corporation Counsel Etelson, filed complaint against approximately 1,700 loop buildings in the expressed hope of adding on the mayor's $300,000,000.

"There must an end to this ballyhoo which is being raised purely for political purposes and to serve political ends," said Attorney Falk. He referred to the evidence and plan of attack of Messrs. Sullivan as "ridiculous," "not fair tests of market value" and as "detrimental and injurious" in probable effects.

The city and school board in urging the adding of $300,000,000 to loop values are prepared to cite the appraisals of property where bonds were issued.

Same as Outlying Areas.

"It is notorious that bond issue appraisals are generally higher than the market value of the properties appraised, otherwise why should these appraisals be made and cited in lieu of actual cash transactions which they represent?" said Attorney Falk. "This phenomenon is as prevalent in outlying districts as within the central business district. Out of 28 bond issue appraisals in the downtown district, assessors' valuations in the reassessment amount to 76 per cent. In other sections of the city the assessors' valuation are only 62 per cent of the mortgage appraisals."

The mayor has not started any crusade to increase the tax valuation on any buildings outside of the loop.

"The assessment of real estate in every part of the city has been reduced from the 1927 assessment," said Mr. Falk. "In the west town there has been a decrease of $125,000,000, or 19 per cent. In the loop, considering that it is bounded by Van Buren street, the river and the lake, there has been a decrease of $119,000,000 or 22.5 per cent. The remainder of the south town—between Van Buren and Thirty-ninth, that has also been decreased $119,000,000, which is substantially the amount in money which the loop received. But the reduction between Van Buren and Thirty-ninth streets is a cut of approximately 45 per cent from the 1927 assessment, which is twice the per cent of reduction the loop received. Lake View has received a decrease of $72,000,000 or 18.6 per cent, and north town a decrease of $30,000,000 or 12 per cent."

Mr. Falk also presented figures showing that Hyde Park's reduction of $19,500,000 is 4.6 per cent. Town of Lake's reduction of $22,600,000 is 6.1 per cent, Rogers Park's $6,814,000 is 7.5 and that Jefferson's $2,200,000 is seven-tenths of one per cent.

Others Reduced in Proportion.

Mr. Falk intimated that Mayor Thompson knew 18 months ago that if an equitable reassessment were made it would in justice reduce the values on loop property; but the mayor's big protest did not come until last Saturday, when the city council refused for a second time to overload the city's corporate budget by the $4,625,000 requested by him.

Mr. Falk referred to the publication in THE TRIBUNE, after the 1927 tax assessment, of pictures of two houses, substantially alike, where the assessment was widely different. About 40,000 complaints were registered against that assessment, and the state tax commission, recognizing the gross inequalities, ordered a reassessment.

Before that Mr. Falk said the board of education had an appraisal made which showed that loop property was assessed at about 55 per cent of its full value, while other property in the city averaged more than 20 points lower. The extreme cited by Mr. Falk was where the average was 13.14 per cent.

Reduction of $518,000,000.

Mr. Falk asserted that Chicago property was shown by the reassessment to be paying more than its fair share of taxes in comparison with property in the country towns. He went on: "The result of the reassessment has been that the tax values on real property lying in townships wholly within Chicago have been reduced $518,000,000, or approximately 16 per cent."

Mr. Falk aserted that the board of review cannot arbitrarily increase the loop. He asks for convincing evidence that the loop has been favored. He promises that if any property he represented had not been assessed fairly and uniformly he would willingly correct the error. But he added:

Attorneys Sullivan were not ready to proceed with the hearing. It will be resumed this morning.

HUSBAND STINGY, IS LADY HEATH'S DIVORCE PLEA

Sues 76 Year Old Knight in Reno Court.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lady Mary Heath, noted woman flyer, filed suit for divorce in District court today against Sir James Heath on the grounds of cruelty. They were married Oct. 13, 1927.

Lady Mary came to Reno last summer after leaving a hospital in Ohio, where she had been treated after an airplane crash.

In her complaint she declares Sir James Heath was 73 years old when she became his wife, whereas she is not yet thirty, and that he was wealthy but penurious. She said he refused to pay for goods which she ordered with his consent.

He declared he would deny the paternity of any child that might be born to them, she charged, claiming that it cost too much to bring up children.

Pall of Clouds Turns City's Day Into Twilight

A densely clouded sky and the lack of a breeze to blow away the smoke of Chicago's chimneys made twilight of the city's daylight hours yesterday. Electric lights were turned on all day in offices in the loop, where the pall seemed heaviest, and even in the residential neighborhoods housewives found the lights convenient for their teas, card parties and housework. The cloudy weather will continue today, perhaps with a little snow, according to the government forecaster, C. A. Donnel. Mr. Donnel foresees no change in the slightly subnormal temperatures.

Somebody ought to tell her

FOR every woman there is a sermon in the case of this lovely Pittsburgh girl (name withheld). Outdoors others find her so charming, so gay. But in the drawing room they politely avoid her. She can't understand it. The truth is that her trouble, which goes unnoticed in the open air, becomes instantly apparent—and offensive—indoors. Somebody ought to tell her. It would be a kindness. But nobody has the courage to do so. Even an intimate friend would hesitate to discuss a matter like this.

It's folly to assume that you never have halitosis, the unforgivable social fault. One out of every three is either an occasional or constant offender, surveys show.

Halitosis is caused by fermenting food particles in the mouth. Minor infections of the oral tract. Bad teeth, and Pyorrhea.

Kills Germs—Destroys Odors

Since you, yourself, canpot tell when you have halitosis, the wise precaution is to gargle with full strength Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times before meeting others.

Undiluted Listerine strikes at the cause of odors because it's an active—though safe—germicide. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ is killed by it in 15 seconds. Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant it immediately destroys all odors arising in the mouth. Leaves your breath sweet and normal.

NAME CONGRESS STRATEGISTS IN DRY LAW BATTLE

Committee Posts Filled for Hoover Campaign.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—President Hoover's dry law enforcement program moved a notch forward in congress today as committees in each house took preliminary steps. The prohibition controversy, meanwhile, flared up anew on the floor of the house.

Two subcommittees of the senate judiciary committee were appointed to deal with bills touching upon two of the recommendations, while, at a meeting of the house committee on expenditures in executive departments, it was decided to call Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as the first witness on another phase of the program next Wednesday.

The use of United States commissioners to handle minor violations of the prohibition laws, one of the proposals of the President and the Wickersham law enforcement commission, is partially provided for in a bill previously offered by Senator Harris [Dem., Ga.].

Subcommittee Named.

To consider this bill and, presumably, other similar legislation a subcommittee, headed by Senator Steiwer [Rep., Ore.] was named. Other members are Senator Hebert [Rep., R. I.] and Overman [Dem., N. C.].

Another subcommittee, composed of Senator King [Dem., Utah.], Hebert, and Waterman [Rep., Colo.] was assigned to the King bill to transfer the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the department of justice. Such wry to the department of justice.

Although the two senate subcommittees may proceed with hearings, it is believed likely that both the Harris and King bills will be replaced later by specially prepared administration bills.

The only measure as yet drafted to specifically carry out a part of the administration program is that of Representative William Williamson [Rep., S. D.], which, like the King senate bill, would unify dry law enforcement under the attorney general. It is this bill on which Secretary Mellon will be heard Wednesday.

Woman Offers Repeal Bill.

While the committee machinery was being adjusted today to handle the President's recommendations, more spectacular prohibition developments were occurring on the house floor. Mary T. Norton [Dem., N. J.], introduced a resolution calling for a national referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment. A few minutes later routine business was interrupted by the objections of Representative Cramton [Rep., Mich.], to the anti-prohibition remarks of Representative Black [Dem., N. Y.].

Mrs. Norton's resolution provides that each state could conduct a referendum at the first general election after adoption of the resolution by congress. The fate of the 18th amendment, however, would depend upon the total popular vote rather than the total states for or against it.

"Under the present method of amending the constitution," the lady from New Jersey explained, "the representatives of five per cent of the people of the United States have the power to defeat an amendment. The will of the majority should rule."

"Wet" Proves Conciliatory.

The attempt to muzzle Representative Black was the second effort to shut off a wet spokesman. Representative Sabath [Dem., Ill.] was called upon Saturday to apologize for an attack upon district attorneys defending prohibition killers.

Representative Cramton interceded while the New York representative was engaged in a semi-humorous attack on the drys in general and in particular on Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman, and Senator Brookhart [Rep., Ia.].

"I sympathize with the sincere drys like Mr. Hoover and Mr. Cooper of Ohio," Black said. "They want to see the laws enforced. But how can the dry law be enforced when it depends on Doran, Lowman, and Brookhart? They are so light they couldn't enforce the law of gravitation."

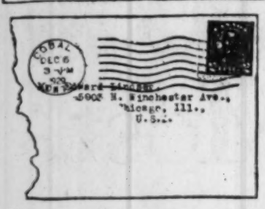
From Cobalt, Ontario



Letter received by Edward Lindsey, 5003 North Winchester avenue, Chicago.

Cobalt is the center of the great Ontario mining district, 850 miles from New York City and 330 miles northwest of Toronto. Since the original discoveries in 1902-'03, when the builders of the Temiskaming and Northern railway blasted a right of way through rocks bearing silver at the rate of $5,000 a ton, which they used for ballast, the district has produced minerals estimated upwards of $800,000,000. While silver is the leading product, nickel, gold, and copper also are produced. The town of Cobalt has a population of 5,000 or more, but is the center of perhaps the greatest mining district in North America. Fred La Rose, a pioneer Cobalt blacksmith, is credited as one of the original discoverers. He threw a hammer at a fox lurking near his shop. He missed the fox, went to retrieve the hammer, found where it had made a bright metallic streak in striking the rock, and was interested enough to have samples of the ore assayed. He became a millionaire.

LICENSE BUREAU SHOWS RECORDS TO GRAND JURY

The pay roll of the city license bureau was produced before the grand jury yesterday by Bernard Romin, superintendent of the bureau. With the permission of Assistant State's Attorney Homer Dodge, Romin was allowed to substitute photostatic copies for the originals when it was stated under oath that the copies were correct.

The prosecutor said that now the investigation into charges of pay roll padding can proceed.

NORMOYLE UNDER FIRE OF LOESCH IN GUNMAN CASE

Charges Judge's Error May Free Robber.

The Chicago crime commission yesterday charged another miscarriage of justice against Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle of the Criminal court.

A gunman accused of holding up druggists and sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge Normoyle is likely to escape serving his sentence, due to the illegal procedure followed by the court, it was stated.

Frank J. Loesch, president of the crime commission, said last night there was no intention by the commission unduly to criticize any judge.

"But it is a most important part of our duty to call the attention of the public to gross miscarriages of justice, of which this is another leading example," Mr. Loesch said.

Judge Normoyle in a previous case was criticized by the crime commission for permitting August Boldt, convicted for attempted rape, to escape with a short Bridewell sentence on a charge of petty larceny.

In the new case cited by the crime commission, Judge Normoyle accepted a plea of "nolle contendere" from Node Brown, indicted for robbery with a gun, and after holding a bench trial, without a jury, found Brown guilty, dismissed the gun count, and sentenced him to serve one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Although Judge Normoyle's order shows a plea of "nolle contendere," it was conceded that this was an error in spelling, for the correct term is "nolo contendere," which is a Latin phrase, meaning: "I will not contest it."

Can't Accept Plea.

Lawyers yesterday pointed out a specific statute and Supreme court ruling to show that a plea of "nolo contendere" cannot be accepted in criminal cases, and that unless a defendant pleads guilty, a jury must be called to pass upon the issues. If the defendant refuses to plead, or stands mute, the judge must enter a plea of not guilty and call in a jury to try the case.

Since Brown was not given a jury trial, he was illegally convicted, the lawyers stated. Should he be freed on a writ of habeas corpus, he could not be retried, it was stated, because of the constitutional guarantee against "double jeopardy." It was thought possible, however, that another case, which was stricken off by Judge Normoyle, might be reinstated.

The evidence showed that Brown and a Joseph Murphy, who pleaded guilty to the crims, on Nov. 11, 1929, held up Harold Roth at pistol points, in a drug store at 2459 Uorth Laramie avenue, and obtained $121.

What Statute Provides.

The procedure to be followed by the court when a defendant fails to plead guilty or not guilty is stated in section 733 of the Illinois criminal code as follows:

"In all cases where the party on being arraigned obstinately stands mute or refuses to plead, the court shall order the plea of not guilty to be entered on the minutes and the trial, judgment and execution shall proceed in the same manner as it would have done if the party had pleaded not guilty."

The Supreme court of Illinois has also ruled directly on the "nolo contendere" plea. In the case of the people against Miller the high court said:

"Under the criminal code the accused, upon being arraigned, may declare orally, by himself or his counsel, that he is not guilty, or he may enter a plea of not guilty, and if he stands mute, or refuses to plead, the court is required to order a plea of not guilty to be entered, but the plea of nolo contendere is not recognized by the criminal code."

JUDGE LECTURES BAR ASS'N HEAD FOR TRIAL DELAY

Lays Crowding of Court Calendars to Lawyers.

Attorney Francis X. Busch, president of the Chicago Bar association, was censured yesterday by Superior Judge Harry A. Lewis, before whom he appeared to demand a continuance of the separate maintenance suit brought by Mrs. Mildred King Archibald against her former husband, H. Teller Archibald, head of the Fannie May candy shops. Although the judge made no reference to the association, his reprimand was interpreted as a subtle jab at it repeated criticism of judges for failing to put in full time on the bench.

Attorney Busch represents Mrs. Archibald. She brought her suit on Oct. 10, 1928, charging desertion. The bill asked an accounting for the estimated $300,000 annual income from the candy business on the allegation that she financed the business at its inception and was largely responsible for its growth. The Archibalds were married on Dec. 5, 1901, and separated on Jan. 8, 1926.

Says Divorce Is Void.

While the wife's suit was pending Archibald secured a divorce in Florida for desertion in December, 1928, and was married to Miss Dorothy Wooden of Washington, D. C., within the month. His first wife continued to prosecute her suit, contending that the Florida decree is void on the ground that the Florida residence of her husband was illegal. She also brought a suit contesting the decree in Florida.

Attorney Busch came before Judge Lewis yesterday to ask a delay so that depositions might be taken in the separate maintenance and accounting actions.

"How long has the case been pending?" the judge asked.

"Since Oct. 10, 1928," was the reply.

Judge Raps Delay.

"This is a good example of how the court calendars become crowded and what makes for the slowness of justice," the judge declared.

"The courts are being charged with loafing on the job. The judges are being taxed with the responsibility for crowded calendars. In this instance the court is ready to proceed and you are not, so that the court must be idle since the court had set aside this particular time for the trial of this case."

After further discussion the case was continued indefinitely.

Be moderate AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the modern, alluringly-rounded figure.

AUBURN

MEN

Behind any executive or organization there must be men.

Men who design,
Men who build,
Men who buy,
Men who sell—

The strength of management lies in its ability to select the right kind of men. Auburn's ability to do this has been demonstrated through more than six years of Auburn's leadership.

Auburn has led in design—

—led in engineering development such as Straight Eight motors, lowchassis, Bijurchassis lubrication, convertible bodies, metal side quarters, long wheelbase, heavy frames, greater horsepower, light controls on steering column and front-drive.

And also led in a growing owner acceptance, a growing owner enthusiasm. This is reflected in the fact that the greatest Auburn sales increases are invariably found in the cities where there are already the most Auburn owners.

CITY OFFICIALLY CHOSEN FOR 1930 AIR RACE MEET

Association Approves of Tentative Award.

The National Aeronautical association announced yesterday that Chicago has been chosen as the site for the national air races of 1930 to be conducted under the auspices of the association next autumn. The national air meet had been promised to Chicago tentatively after the facilities of the Curtiss airport near Glenview had been offered to the association, but the decision was not official until the announcement made yesterday.

Eastern Cities Compete.

Chicago's bid for the air races was made last fall at the 1929 meet in Cleveland, when a group of prominent Chicagoans subscribed $150,000 to underwrite the expenses of holding the races here. Several other cities, mostly in the east, competed with Chicago for the event, and although Chicago is regarded as the center of air transportation in the United States, the city was not given favorable consideration until the Curtiss field facilities were offered to the association.

The races probably will be held during the early part of September and will attract the leading commercial, army, and navy pilots of the country here to compete. Several hundred thousands of spectators witnessed the 1929 event at the Cleveland airport, and even larger crowds are expected to be attracted to Chicago by the 1930 races.

Chicagoans Back Project.

The Chicago men who extended the invitation to Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautical association, to hold the air meet here and who subscribed to the fund to underwrite the event included William R. Abbott, Samuel Insull, B. A. Eckhart, S. L. Avery, Albin Brown, J. R. Thompson, William Wrigley Jr., B. J. Brundage, Charles G. Dawes, P. K. Wrigley, Col. R. R. McCormick, Harold McCormick, Homer Guck, J. J. Mitchell, James Simpson, Warren Wright, S. H. Rowson, E. H. Reynolds, C. A. McCulloch, William V. Kelly, L. Florsheim, and John Hertz.

They will be identified with the active management of the air races which are the outstanding aviation event of the year in America.

Delay Airport Action.

After months of delay a committee from the board of education yesterday took up its problem in connection with Chicago's municipal airport, but no progress was made. A resolution placed before the buildings and grounds committee recommending that the school's land at 63d street and Cicero avenue be leased to the city for 50 years was set aside when Mrs. Helen Hefferan, trustee, complained that "too much haste" was being displayed.

The resolution, introduced by Chairman Theophilus Schmid, provided that the 640 acres including and adjoining the present airport and excluding the Hale school property, be leased to the city for 50 years. The terms suggested were $20 an acre per year and 50 per cent of the net profits from subleases. The proposal stipulated that the city pay all special assessments and taxes.

Wolfe Suggests 99 Year Lease.

The move was the outcome of a conference last week between Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe and Trustees Schmid and James E. Hemingway. At that time Mr. Wolfe said the city probably would ask for a 99 year lease to assure permanency for the field.

Yesterday's resolution was set aside and by vote of the committee the chairman was instructed to place the matter in the hands of the board's attorneys with instructions to draw up a new proposal and set a date for a public hearing.

Demands "Regular Routine."

Mrs. Hefferan questioned the authority of Schmid and Hemingway to confer with Commissioner Wolfe without proper appointment from the board. She insisted that the matter be handled in the regular channels of the board's routine.

President Caldwell's contribution to the lengthy discussion that ended in postponment of action was an assurance that the door was not closed to the proposal of the Chicago Plan Commission that the airport site be traded to the city for its property at Clarendon Beach.

SALESMAN FOUND DEAD AT HAMMOND.

Paul H. Chester, 37 years old, an Indianapolis salesman, was found dead yesterday in a hotel at Hammond with his wrists slashed. A short time before hotel employes discovered the body Chester's wife received a telephone call at her home in Indianapolis, purporting to come from a doctor, telling her that her husband had pneumonia and would not be home for a few days.

CANDIDATE SAYS WORLD COURT IS LEAGUE SIDE DOOR

Mrs. McCormick Indorses Illinois Voters' Record.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The world court as a backdoor entrance to the league of nations was emphasized as a leading issue by Ruth Hanna McCormick tonight in the second week of her campaign for nomination for United States senator in the Republican primary in April.

Congressman McCormick went farther than she did last week in expounding her reasons for opposing adherence to the court.

Without mentioning names she pointed out that on Jan. 27, 1926, both Illinois senators, the late William B. McKinley and Charles S. Deneen, voted for the world court. Incidentally, Senator McKinley was beaten two months later by Frank L. Smith, and the world court vote was held most largely responsible.

Congressman McCormick said President Hoover had announced he would submit the new world court protocol to the senate for ratification.

Issue Can't Be Avoided.

"It has been said," she declared, "that the league court is not an issue in this campaign. But I want to say now I am making it an issue. I believe the people of Illinois are entitled to know how the candidates for the senatorship stand on this question.

"As an advocate of peace I oppose the league court because it is part of a league which was organized on a basis of preponderance of force. I am against the league court with or without reservations because I believe that adherence will inevitably draw us into league affairs.

"You all know how I have stood on the question of our joining the league of nations. I opposed joining the league because the league was organized to enforce the treaty of Versailles. That treaty, in which the covenant of the league of nations is incorporated, sought to enable the victors in the great war to maintain territorial lines and economic advantages obtained during the war.

Nation's Sentiments Shown.

"The United States not only declined to subscribe to the covenant of the league of nations, which plainly contemplated war as an instrument of enforcing its requirements, but the United States also refused to sign the treaty of Versailles and later made its own treaty of peace with Germany and the other central powers. In three national elections, the American people have overwhelmingly shown their opposition to joining the league of nations.

"Not being able to induce this country to join the league, an effort was begun seven years ago to get us to adhere to the permanent court of international justice of the league. It is not a world court to which we are asked to adhere because its members are limited to those nations which are members of the league. If we adhere to the court we shall be the only country represented in the court which is not a member of the league of nations.

Back Door Entrance to League.

"I am against the court now for the same reason that I was against it seven years ago.

"Nothing has been done to change the fact that the league court is a back door entrance into the league itself. The league created the court in article XIV of the covenant of the league. It not only created the court but it can terminate it.

"Statutes of the court cannot be changed without the official approval of the council and the assembly of the league of nations, as witnessed repeatedly in negotiations concerning our senate reservations. The league determines and pays the salaries of the judges of the court. The league elects the judges of the court. The league determines and pays the pensions of the judges of the court. The league can increase the number of judges of the court.

"If we were to adhere to the court we would have to sit with the council and with the assembly for the purpose of electing judges of the court and we would have only one vote, whereas the British empire would have six votes. A brief review of the history of the effort to induce us to adhere to the league court will show how the court is bound up with the league. Four years ago the United States senate passed a resolution consenting to our adherence to the world court, but with five reservations. This resolution was passed on Jan. 27, 1926. Among those senators who thus consented to our adherence to the court were the two senators from Illinois, one of whom was defeated at the primary two months later because of his vote for the world court, and the other of whom is our present senior senator for Illinois."

SENTENCED

[Associated Press Photo.]

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 20.—(AP)—John R. Dufty, former cashier of the Merrill State bank at Merrill, Mich., pleaded guilty in Circuit court this afternoon to a charge of embezzling $35,000 of the bank's funds and was sentenced to a term of from three to twenty years in state reformatory.

Dufty confessed in Detroit last week that he had faked a robbery of the bank in order to cover up loss of the bank's funds in stock market speculation.

MOVE TO BAR NORRIS FROM G. O. P. BALLOT

Protest Based on His Bolt to Al Smith.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20.—In a protest filed today against his candidacy for renomination, a challenge is thrown to Senator George W. Norris to prove his Republicanism and his right to a place on the Nebraska primary ballot as a member of that party.

The action comes as a result of Senator Norris' years of insurgency in congress, but more particularly because of his support of Al Smith for the presidency.

The protest was filed with Secretary of State Marsh by Willard Clapp of Elmwood. Mr. Clapp takes exceptions to the sworn statement of Senator Norris that he "affiliates with the Republican party and that party only." The senator when in Nebraska recently made a personal filing for renomination, and the blank deposited with the secretary of state contained the words quoted.

Mr. Clapp is a well known Republican, a farmer.

G. O. P. Leaders Against It.

Prominent Republicans, it is understood, are urging Mr. Clapp to withdraw his protest as they believe it may stir up unnecessary political rancor.

It was pointed out tonight that if Norris should be barred from the primary ballot he could run at the general election as a candidate by petition, without a party designation.

State Treasurer W. M. Stebbins, Republican candidate opposing Norris at the primary, said today he deplored the protest.

"I am asking all of those who are actively interested in my own candidacy that they take no part in any action that may be brought to compel Mr. Norris to offer proof that he is now, or rather is again, affiliating with the Republican party," Mr. Stebbins said. "Rather than to give the senator further opportunity to pose as a martyr, I prefer that he remain on the ticket and let the Republican voters in the Republican primary decide whether or not the senator affiliates with the Republican party or is still with Al Smith and the Democratic party.

Takes Fling at Norris.

"As it has been the practice of the senator to affiliate with the Republican party and come to live in Nebraska once every six years, I am one of those who believe that it will not be a burden on his conscience, or contrary to previous practice, for the senator to make affidavit that he this year affiliates with the Republican party."

Norris Welcomes Decision.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.] today issued this statement:

"I am not finding fault with Mr. Clapp for filing a protest. It's perfectly proper and I am anxious to have it decided.

"If officials of the state are going to decide that a man can't select his own political party then it's time I found it out.

"If my record in official life is such that on account of it I must be expelled from the Republican party, then not only I but millions of other people want to know it."

VETERAN LAWYER HANGS SELF IN ROOM OF HOTEL

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Attorney Cornelius See, who was found strangled to death in his home in the Colonial hotel, 6325 Kenwood avenue. Mr. See had been a practicing attorney in Chicago for more than fifty years. Police records show he attempted suicide twenty-one years ago when he cut his throat with a razor.

Yesterday morning a bell boy discovered his body with a cord from his bathrobe tied about his neck. See was born in New Brunswick, N. S., 84 years ago.

OIL-O-MATIC
burns fuel oil costing less per gallon and giving more heat

GOVERNMENT engineers report, "Tests show burners using low grades of oil attain greatest economy. Higher grade (lighter) oil may be 25% higher in price than lower (heavier) grades. In such cases, the saving in cost by burning low grade oil containing more heat units might be as high as 30%."

Thus the experience of Chicago's thousands upon thousands of Oil-O-Matic owners is officially confirmed. The heavy fuel oil perfectly utilized by a Williams Oil-O-Matic burner costs less per gallon and gives more heat! Many other burners, unable to use patented Williams improvements, are restricted to expensive grades of lighter oil.

Only Oil-O-Matic measures fuel drop by drop
This patented Oil-O-Matic metering pump is another exclusive Williams improvement. It helps reduce your oil bill by measuring fuel drop by drop, exactly as needed to maintain the temperature you select.

Ask the Factory Branch—or the suburban dealer nearest your home—for names of your neighbors who are already enjoying the care-free comfort of Williams warmth. Ask them how little Oil-O-Matic heating actually costs. Ask if they would give it up at twice the cost! Then tell us to equip your furnace with Williams Oil-O-Matic—the thermostatically controlled fuel oil burner which is heating far more Chicago homes than any other. Our factory trained engineers can determine whether to install a world famous Model J Oil-O-Matic or the smaller new Junior model Oil-O-Matic, which is even lower in price.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creasote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

PREDICT ORATORY BY 2 ENTRANTS IN COUNTY RACE

Ald. Albert and Lonnquist in G. O. P. Contest.

BY PARKE BROWN.

At last one contest for the Republican nomination for an important county office has begun to take shape. It became known yesterday that Ald. Arthur F. Albert has been definitely slated on the Deneen ticket for the presidency of the county board. And Axel Lonnquist, real estate man who started the Business Men's Republican organization, came out as a candidate for the same place.

There still is another major candidate to be announced. Chairman Snow and his associates who control the Republican county committee, continue to work in secret on their slate. But the entries of Albert and Lonnquist are considered sufficient to warrant confidence that there will be plenty of heated oratory in this battle.

Give Promise of Oratory.

Albert is called "the little giant" by some of his friends and "little spitfire" by some of his critics, and Lonnquist has demonstrated in his meetings for the formation of his ticket that he is no slouch at denunciation and even at invective.

It is predicted that both will sail into the present county board and particularly President Cermak, a Democrat, although Cermak has announced that he will not seek renomination and the Republican forces will not face the Democrats until the November election. But it is possible that Lonnquist, who has insisted that none but business men can straighten out the board, may jump on Ald. Albert as a professional politician and then it will be Republican fur that will fly during February and March.

Urge Cermak to Run.

President Cermak continues to say that he will not run again but the Democratic organization leaders insist that his withdrawal is too serious a loss to their ticket for them to cease hammering away at him to reconsider; and efforts to bring out a strong candidate for his place so far have been unsuccessful.

The latest name mentioned for the presidency is that of Michael J. Zimmer, former alderman now warden of the County hospital, but Democrats believe this proposal will not get much further than have others of the same sort. Coroner Bundesen was the first man proposed, but he declined to desert his present duties. Col. Albert A. Sprague was the next to reject overtures.

"My candidate is Cermak," said State Representative Michael L. Igoe, who also was mentioned as a possibility.

"I am not a candidate," said Francis X. Busch, president of the Chicago Bar association, who has just resigned as ward committeeman of the Forty-fourth ward, where he probably will be succeeded by Raymond W. Moore, a cigar dealer, indorsed by the organization.

Axel Lonnquist's candidacy was made known at a luncheon at the Chicago Athletic association at which the names of five more candidates on the "business men's slate" were announced. They were the following:

Albert O. Anderson, real estate man and former alderman.

B. J. Brumley, chief engineer of terminal development for the Illinois Central railroad; residence in Flossmoor.

J. Louis Guyon, owner of "Guyon's Paradise."

Louis M. Ferguson, head of L. M. Ferguson Coal company.

William J. Marsh, secretary of the South Central association.

The candidates on this ticket heretofore named are E. F. Mansure, Walter H. Schenck, T. T. Sullivan, Mrs. C. E. Lowenthal, Mrs. Gertrude C. Lieber, Charles Miller, and Noble W. Lee. There are two more, one from the city and one from the country towns, still to be named.

"We want to remain nonfactional," said Robert M. Adams in announcing the list, "but we believe the caliber of our candidates is so fine that the bulk of them will be accepted by the several leaders."

Justice of the Peace Ilo G. Ward of Blue Island was announced by the "People's Republican organization," as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the third district.

JOYCE WINS RIGHT TO QUIZ DIVORCE WITNESSES IN EAST

Depositions will be taken in New York Wednesday from witnesses for J. Stanley Joyce, wealthy lumberman and fourth ex-husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, in his effort to refute charges of cruelty advanced in the divorce bill of his second wife, Mrs. Nelle N. Joyce. Circuit Judge Lynch yesterday granted permission to Attorney Benson Landon, representing Joyce, to take the statements and also allowed Mrs. Joyce's attorney, John D. Black, $250 traveling expenses so that the might be present at the interrogations.

The divorce bill has been pending since August. Joyce has filed a cross-bill alleging that his wife was never divorced from her first husband and that she secured a decree from her second husband on perjured testimony. Attorney Landon declined to name the witnesses who will be questioned. Joyce is now paying $500 a month temporary alimony to his second wife.

TWO ACCUSED OF BIG INDIANA STOCK SWINDLE

Hoosier Dry Chief's Name Brought In.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—[Special.] — Arrest in Chicago today of Mark W. Bemis and C. E. Crump, promoters of the Indiana Real Estate Securities corporation, revealed that Frank E. Wright, Indiana dry leader and at present auditor of the Indiana Securities commission, which investigated the case, has been a trustee of the corporation since its formation last July.

Until the death of the Rev. E. S. Shumaker, veteran superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, Wright was paid by the league as a speaker. As a member of the state legislature he was Shumaker's floor general and was author of the Indiana bone dry law.

The Indianapolis Better Business bureau began investigating the securities corporation several months ago. The bureau finally notified Wright's commission of evidence and shortly afterward the promoters departed hurriedly.

Mark W. Rhoads, state securities commissioner, said today he was not aware of Wright's connection with the corporation until complaints were received several weeks ago. Although his office had not approved Wright's action in accepting a trusteeship with the corporation, he asserted no sales of preferred stock had been made and that Wright's trusteeship had been created only to provide custody of money received through sale of preferred stock.

HOUSEHOLD AIDS ON DISPLAY AT NATIONAL SHOW

Little things that represent big savings in time and effort for the housekeeper are on exhibit in the third annual National House Furnishings show at the Palmer house. Such a profusion of articles is included that the exhibit occupies the greater part of four floors. Everything from electric washing machines to stainless steel paring knives is represented at its newest and best.

Innovations recently placed on the market and on display, run the gamut from a motor driven electric mixer for eggs, cream, cake or waffle batter, down to sturdy little metal scoops measuring just one tablespoonful apiece. A cast aluminum grid is shown that fits snugly into the bottom of a skillet, making a broiler grid capable of preparing a good sized steak.

Stan L. Hansen of Chicago is president of the manufacturers' organization. The show will close Jan. 29.

PLEDGE BUDGET AID IN UNION CALL TO CLERKS

Clerks in the employ of the county and sanitary district have been called to a massmeeting Thursday night in the Capitol building to discuss joining the Office Employes' union, an organization of 1,200 city hall clerks. The call was issued yesterday by James Flynn, president of the city hall group.

"This meeting will be the opening gun in a battle to search out the 'temporary' clerks and members of other union crafts masquerading under the title of clerk and drawing pay as a plumber, carpenter, or some other classification," stated the notice sent out by the Office Employes' union. "Jobs of the city hall clerks were kept in the city budget through a threat to search out the 'temporaries' and to insist through the civil service commission that their posts be filled with regularly certified clerks."

John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Thomas Maloy will speak.

BRITISH VIEWS OF AMERICAN NEEDS.

Hector Bywater, leading British writer on naval affairs, discussing the London conference, says that the United States is "self-contained and economically autonomous," as well as "practically invulnerable to naval attack." He therefore concludes that we are best qualified to set an example in naval retrenchment. The syllogism is as sound as its major premise, which is untrue. The United States is not self-contained, is not economically autonomous, is not practically invulnerable to naval attack. We think Mr. Bywater knows better and we can only classify his remarks as a part of the persistent effort to induce the susceptible and sentimental American people to accept sacrifices they ought not to make and will not make if they know what their situation and their interests are.

We have commented before on this British formula which sets up a pathetic contrast between the British people starving in a blockade and the American people invulnerable to the attack of enemies. The formula has no reality. American prosperity is dependent more and more upon the protection of foreign trade and the defense of essential, long, and highly vulnerable communications. To shut these off would not bring us to starvation, but it would bring us to widespread destitution and impoverishment. The difference of theoretical evil represented by the conceivable consequences of war is not what the British would have us and world opinion assume, but is in practical fact very small indeed.

Mr. Bywater also asserts there is a moral obligation upon us to set an example in retrenchment because, he says, the resumption of competitive naval building after the war "was unquestionably due to American action." He proposes to convince us of this charge by the simple fact that between the war and the Washington conference we built sixteen capital ships, ten cruisers, seventy-seven destroyers, thirty submarines, while Great Britain was building four capital ships and one submarine. He says comment on these statistics would be superfluous. It would be superfluous only to an ignoramus or to a propagandist who does not wish his fallacy to be exploded. What Mr. Bywater wishes us to think superfluous is the fact that after the war the British navy was overwhelmingly the greatest power on the sea and our own navy far behind. Mr. Bywater seems to be one of the familiar sort of British commentators that assumes it is inherent in the human scheme of things that Britannia should rule the waves. Therefore the building up of an American navy commensurate with our far flung and rapidly expanding interests is inherently wrong. We suppose this building also was responsible for the rapid acceleration of foreign shipbuilding after we had renounced primacy on the sea at Washington and ceased building so long that Great Britain today is again far in the lead in types which she has shown she considers essential to her naval power.

Mr. Bywater foresees that it will be difficult to induce American public opinion to accept an informal pact of naval limitation for the remarkable reason that, he says, our opinion has been exposed for several years to a well organized, widespread and most ingenious campaign of propaganda, promoted by interests which from divers motives are antagonistic to an Anglo-American rapprochement on naval and other questions. This ought to have the immediate attention of the United States senate, which, in spite of all contrary evidence, seems to have been asleep on the ramparts. It cannot summon but it ought to beg Mr. Bywater to provide it with the alarming facts.

Meanwhile, the only propaganda we know of is the sort of which Mr. Bywater's article is an example. It makes it very difficult for Americans to hope that any fair consideration of America's naval needs is to be expected in British discussion.

CLEVELAND AND THE CITY MANAGER.

The city council of Cleveland has voted to expel City Manager Hopkins. Repudiation of the city manager plan in Cleveland is predicted. It would be a mistake to charge this type of municipal government for the collapse, just as it would be a mistake to charge the mayor-council arrangement for the breakdown in administration in Chicago. But the Cleveland experience is an answer to academic champions of the city manager plan who offer that setup as an infallible instrument for attaining perfection in municipal affairs.

Uncritical friends of the city manager idea ignore the character of the voters in their philosophy. Their fallacy is the belief that a new system of administration superimposed upon an irresponsible electorate will produce the millennium. The electorate of Cleveland is irresponsible. In the November elections only one-third of the voters exercised their franchise. Accordingly vicious men, you-deliver-to-me-and-I'll-deliver-to-you politicians, have inherited the Cleveland city hall just as they have inherited the Chicago city hall. The spirit of the citizenry is reflected just as surely in the city manager administration as it is in our system of government.

The reason for the early success and later weakness of the city manager setup is apparent. When the city manager plan is adopted the electorate is aroused. The voters are indignant at political abuses and they are in a mood for reform. A new system of administration is adopted because the citizens, united, are stronger than the machine. Usually an abler council is elected at the same time. The city manager is likely to be a stronger executive than the defeated mayor. At first the city is watchful of the administration and the vigilance is repaid. But if, as in Cleveland, the zeal of the citizens is not abiding, the city manager government becomes as degraded as the mayor-council government.

When the voters have the energy to adopt the city manager plan they have the energy to elect a good mayor. The keystone of successful municipal government is a competent executive, whether he is called city manager or mayor. By voting for a paper government instead of for strong men the voters are taking their eyes from the ball. They are conducting a futile hunt for a foolproof system instead of uniting behind responsible candidates against the operations of the corrupt machine. The machine will beat any system the voters set up if the voters relax the strength they employed when they first set it up.

REPEAL OR REPRESSION.

Senator Blaine of Wisconsin has introduced a joint resolution in the senate for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Senator Borah as a dry said it was an honest presenting of the issue and the senate should be glad to meet it and dispose of it finally and unmistakably. The opponents of federal prohibition would not delude themselves as to the chances of success. The control of congress by the Anti-Saloon league and associated political clerics and moralistic racketeers will probably be maintained, but the opposition should press for a vote.

This sane way out of the misguided experiment which has had such ignoble results is obstructed by innumerable difficulties. It is recognized that if even thirty-five states, including all the populous ones, wanted to close this episode in American history they could be held back by any thirteen of the small ones. When the state legislatures lost their heads in the hysteria of 1918 and 1919 they committed the supreme folly of putting an unproved theory and an untried method beyond the control of the people affected by it. That was a crime against representative democracy.

Even without chance of success the resolution for repeal is the only sensible proposal on this subject before congress. The others coming from the drys are only irritating futilities as they seek to enforce the law, but are more than irritating as they seek to destroy individual rights. The excited fanatics think in terms of more prisons and more felons. Their only object is to widen and quicken the stream of recalcitrant citizenship flowing through the courts and into the penitentiaries and jails with less regard for their legal rights and harder sentences for their offenses against Volsteadism.

Their desperate measures in themselves are indictments of the law they seek to enforce. No proper law needs these excesses of fury. No law that ought to be in the federal statutes requires the use of armed force against great masses of otherwise law abiding citizens. It does not need the extinction of the individual's rights in the trial court and the imposition of unusual punishments.

The drys are making the case out against themselves at every turn, proving that the only hope is in the repeal of their law and the restoration of democratic rights.

THE POST CARD HISTORY.

Prof. William E. Dodd of the University of Chicago history department says that if Mr. Coolidge can write a history of the United States in five hundred words, to be carved on the Mount Rushmore memorial, he is a miracle worker. Prof. Dodd himself is an authority, he having made the condensing of material almost a new art of the historian. Mr. Coolidge is not to be the only one to try the five hundred word history. THE TRIBUNE has offered prizes for the best efforts at it.

The contestants must respect Prof. Dodd's opinion, but they need not be discouraged by it. One notable history was written with such economy of words that it did not require many over the limit of five hundred set for Mr. Coolidge's task and for this competition. (Mr. Coolidge himself is not eligible.) The history above mentioned begins: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." There is some dispute as to the accuracy of the account, but none as to the magnitude of its content or the brevity of its composition.

Editorial of the Day

CITY MANAGERS.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The Cleveland city council has ousted City Manager William R. Hopkins, who had been in office ever since Cleveland adopted the city manager plan six years ago. This does not mean that this form of city government has been abandoned in the first large city in the United States to introduce it. Another city manager has already been picked.

The reasons offered for their action by the councilmen who voted to depose Hopkins were that there was lack of harmony and coöperation between his office and the council, that he usurped powers bestowed by the charter on the council, and that he played politics. Countercharges are made by friends of the city manager that Hopkins was ousted by a city council packed with henchmen of the Republican boss of Cuyahoga county because he would not submit to the latter's dictation in patronage matters. The old line politicians are alleged to be working indirectly to destroy the city manager plan or to control it by securing the appointment of a city manager selected at a partisan caucus.

The action of the Cleveland city council throws no new light on the theoretical merits or demerits of the city manager plan in an ideal community, with an enlightened and vigilant electorate determined to have good government. What it does emphasize is that neither the city manager plan nor any other form of municipal government can of itself bring honest and efficient administration to a community in which venial, crafty, and unscrupulous politicians are allowed to attain the power necessary to pack a nonpartisan city council with partisans and thus make it an instrument for defeating the very purpose for which governmental machinery is set up. The city manager plan is just another piece of administrative machinery. Whether it turns out good government or bad depends on the character of the man placed in charge of it. Cleveland's experience contains a lesson for reformers in other cities who talk as if by scrapping one type of machine for another they can endow civic government with virtues that repose only in the human heart and mind.

CLAUDICATION.

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

IT was midsummer, but on a wet and rather cool day, that a gentleman more than 70 years old, and previously in good health, developed an attack which some physicians called neuritis, and others called muscular rheumatism. The cramplike pains were in the legs. For several weeks both he and his physicians took the matter seriously. After a while the pain became more tolerable and the intervals of ease became longer.

By this time the disorder had taken on the characteristics of a bad case of night cramps. Both he and his physicians accepted that view and the man and his family proceded to adjust themselves accordingly. The cramps came on every night but there was no pain during the day. They soon learned that heat was the sovereign remedy. An extra blanket was added to the bed covers. The wife laid in a suppiy of woolen pajamas for her husband. He began wearing warm socks at night and an electric pad was kept on a table by the bed, all screwed up in the light socket and ready to work when it was placed in position and the switch was turned.

While this case has most of the earmarks of ordinary night leg cramps it is in all probability a case of intermittent claudication. It had an acute onset which was incorrectly ascribed to neuritis and muscular rheumatism, just as the aftermath has been called leg cramps. This disorder is one of a group which have to do with the circular muscles in the smaller blood vessels and with the sympathetic nervous system. Presiding over the small blood vessel muscles is one of the duties of the sympathetic nervous system. In this group there are many disorders—some mild and some severe. The very mildest is that condition which so many people call "being cold natured." It is responsible for a tendency to have cold hands and cold feet. At the other end of the lane are certain kinds of gangrene and some other disorders that rank with them. Physicians have known very little about the physiology and pathology of this group until lately, and, so far as practical relief of symptoms and cure is concerned, they do not know much now. In fact, I do not know what this gentleman could do other than what he is doing, considering all the factors in the case.

EATING LAUNDRY STARCH.

M. E. W. writes: In regard to eating laundry starch, some years ago two girls of my acquaintance acquired the starch habit, which becomes as pronounced as the cigaret or booze habit and as hard to quit. One became yellow, languid, and sickly, until her mother, fearing tuberculosis, consulted the family doctor. He put her on a milk, egg, meat, and potato diet and the mother saw that the starch was locked up. After this the girl recovered her usual buoyant spirits and clear complexion. The other girl became sallow and emaciated and suffered with numerous boils in succession, 17 of them to be exact. The doctor prescribed the milk, egg, vegetable, fruit diet with several bottles of tonic. This pulled her back to normal and the starch boxes were watched in that neighborhood thereafter.

REPLY.

There are people with whom any starch disagrees. Laundry starch is not as wholesome as the cooked variety. That does not mean that the average person cannot negotiate it.

LOOKS LIKE POISON.

Mrs. J. W. C. writes: Clusters of small blisters form between my fingers which first itch and then discharge a watery fluid. I have been troubled with this condition for six months. Can you tell me the cause and remedy?

REPLY:

This description suggests that your hands are being poisoned. Find the cause and avoid it.

Consider the following possibilities: Dyed gloves, furs or cloths, working with certain woods, handling certain plants, working in certain chemicals.

TONSILS MAY BE CAUSE.

A. J. I. writes: What causes the bleeding of the nose of my child almost weekly? He is one year and 8 months old.

REPLY:

Have you had his throat examined for enlarged tonsils and adenoids? This is the most frequent cause of repeated nosebleeds in young children.

CANNOT COLLECT.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I received a letter and statement from a collection agency for school tuition due over twelve years ago, for which they say they will take legal action. This is the first time I have received a statement regarding this tuition since my son left school, over twelve years ago, and I do not recall whether it was paid or not, as I have no bills to show. The amount is $67. Is it possible they can force collection? C. F.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—Several years ago I took out my first citizenship papers. In looking it over I find my age does not correspond with the date on the declaration owing to the fact that I made out the declaration before my birthday and did not have it sworn in until after. HOW TO GARNISHEE.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a judgment against a party employed in Oak Park by trustees located in Chicago. What procedure must be followed to serve a garnishment on this party's salary? G. D. Z.

The first step is to serve a garnishee demand notice on the debtor and his employer. You can secure forms from a stationer. Garnishment suit should then be instituted within the period named in the notice. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

You'll Have to Hand It to Cal—if he writes the history of the United States in 500 words so that it will please everybody. This history is going to be cut in big letters on the side of a rock mountain so that it can be seen for miles. Of course they'll have to watch out that the part of Cal's history that tells about the battle of Bunker Hill isn't covered up by a billboard that says Wash Your Dirty Face with Blusho Roseo and the chapter of ten words describing the battle of Gettysburg is liable to be blanketed by a big red and green billboard that says Smoke Smello Cigarettes and They'll Know You're Coming.

Cal will find that five hundred words is pretty short for a complete history of the United States. Why, if he names the 13 original states and the 35 we've got since, there's 48 words gone right there. And he's got to call it "Sunny California" when he comes to it, or he'd better not choose to run in 1932, as far as California is concerned. About all the words he can waste on the Revolutionary War will be: "Colonists sore, 1775 to 1783, give King George, Eng., kick in pants. G. Washington, gen. of Patriot Army, ably assisted by Gens. Putnam, Gates, Greene, La Fayette. On British side Gage, Howe, Burgoyne, Cornwallis, also ran." 35 more words gone.

Of course Cal can save on the war of 1812; the less said about that the better. Still he's got to say something about Jackson licking the British at New Orleans; that's all we salvaged out of that war; but Cal ought to do it in 10 words. Then he'll have to mention Tom Jefferson, or the Democrats will get sore. And the 18th amendment or the W. C. T. U. will give him the hollow hoot, and the Boston Tea Party or the D. A. R. will walk out on him. And Bishop Cannon or the Drys will have him indicted. And Governor Ritchie of Maryland or the Wets will pan him. And he'll have to say that War is a Creature of Hell's Midnight or the Pacifists will jump on him. But that makes the score right now 480 words, which leaves 10 words for the Civil War, 8 words for the World's War, and 2 words about Mrs. O'Leary's Cow Kicking Over the Lamp and Setting Fire to Chicago.

But look who's left out! Mr. Hoover, Barbara Frietchie, Charlie Dawes, Col. Lindbergh, Senator Borah, Babe Ruth, Paul Revere, John Paul Jones, Gene Tunney, Alexander Hamilton, and Cal himself. And what about Carrie Nation, Farm Relief, Mabel Willebrandt, Arthur the Great Shires, and Bill Thompson? Yessir, if Cal writes the history of these United States in 500 words he's going to have trouble.

Sketch a tango rhythm
On the border of a dream,
Color it with laughter
When the yellow lanterns gleam.

Catch a rose and hold it
Closely while the dance
Scatters tired petals
On the pattern of romance.

Watch the lazy languor
Through the amber in your glass,
Touch a hand in secret
When the Spanish dancers pass.

Reach not for mañana
When the careless night is gone.
Tomorrow's always waiting

COLORADO PETE.

PREMIER TARDIEU says that France will do nothing to wreck the naval disarmament conference in London. The French probably won't wreck it, but if they don't have a couple of crises in Paris and pull down the Vendome column three or four times and throw up a few barricades in the Rue St. Honoré before France agrees to what the conference decides on, then we'll miss our guess.

CHARLES FRANCIS POTTER, the leader of the First Humanist Society of New York, says that because prohibition enforcement officers have gone beyond the limit the country is on the verge of civil war. The bootleggers, hijackers, and rum runners will, of course, go into the dry trenches because their money comes from keeping the Volstead law and the 18th amendment going strong, and so our bootlegger will probably try to stick us with his bayonet. Well, if he does, the poor fish, he won't get that twelve bucks we owe him.

Oh, Say, Can You See—

Yesterday's thrilling news from the London parley said that the beautiful lady stenographers with the American delegation had bowed to British criticism and were using less rouge on their fair young faces. What! Is it thus we surrender before the battle fairly starts? No! Up, one hundred per centers, and make these coward stenographers come home. If we want to paint our faces rich colors, yea, though we pile it on until we look like warriors of the Pawnees or Sioux on a scalping expedition, that's our business, and the British have no right to tell us we can't. Let us stand by our inalienable rights. Put on your paint, girls, an inch thick if you want to. Forward to the fray, and keep your powder dry. And likewise keep it on!

IT LOOKED like a London Particular in Chicago yesterday, even in the middle of the day. You know what a London Particular (pahticulah, they call it over there) is, of course. It's a thick pea soup fog; it seems to be night instead of daytime. Well, like yesterday. Imagine what you will about the cause of it. But it's probably nothing more nor less than a British plot. Watch old Vox Pop for the ghastly details.

And What Hollywood Will Do to G. O. Tck! Tck!

Galli-Curci, who is again quitting the grand opera stage for concert work, stirs up the animals by saying G. O. is old-fashioned. Wonder if that's what? Some carping critics likened our grand new Civic Opera House to the Messrs. Balaban & Katz rococo cinema palaces, but maybe Sam Insull was right after all. The movie-talkies are rushing along like a tornado grabbing drama, Shakespeare, Shaw, melodrama, comedy, old plays, modern plays, light opera, everything in its path. The reproduction of the human voice in the talkies is getting better every day. Why shouldn't it sweep up grand opera, too, in its remorseless maw? And when it does a grand opera house with boxes on the side, where nobody would want to sit because the pictures would be distorted, would be as much out of date as Shakespeare's old Globe theater in London. Maybe Sam knows what he's about. He usually does.

WERE YOU UP at 4:30 this morning to hear the King of England broadcast his address to the naval conference? We hope we were. We wanted to hear the king and we were curious if the announcer would say, "Well, folks, you gotta real treat this morning. A genuine king is going to talk to you. There he is; he's a nice lookin' bird with wind-teasers on his chin. Expected he'd be wearing his crown, but he's got on a silk hat. Too bad! Well, the queen'll probably crown him if he don't shoot his speech mighty quick and get back to the royal palace. This is George V., folks! All right, king, let's go!" H. H. L.

THE VOICE OF COMMON SENSE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—It was confirmed by Montgomery Blair that his father, Francis P. Blair, left Washington in a boat furnished by the navy department to go to Richmond and resume informal peace negotiations with Jeff Davis in person.

RENSSELAER, Ind.—The large courthouse in this city was destroyed by fire this morning. All the court records and those of county officers were burned.

WASHINGTON. — The Richmond Sentinel of Jan. 18 says: "There is not a line of war news from any quarter. On both sides of the James the armies of Gen. Lee and Gen. Grant remain inactive and will probably remain in their present state of repose for many weeks to come."

BALTIMORE.—Reports by the Fortress Monroe boat say that an arrival off Wilmington brings the intelligence that the rebels have blown up Fort Caswell, and Wilmington was said to have been evacuated by them.

WASHINGTON.—The rumor about the capture of Wilmington is at least premature. At this writing the navy department has no dispatches warranting the statement. Rear Admiral D. D. Porter reported to the navy department that Wilmington is sealed against blockade runners as a result of the capture of Fort Fisher. He says: "The world never saw such fighting as our soldiers did at Fort Fisher."

NEW YORK.—The Observer calls attention to the advertisement of the California Petroleum company, of which almost half the reserved stock has been taken. From information the company has received it is believed this oil territory is superior in wealth to the whole oil region of Oil Creek, Pennsylvania.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1900.

FORT SCOTT, Kas.—"Ed" and George Smith, alias Weeks, half brothers, were hanged by a mob led by prominent and wealthy men of the city. The men died game, one of them putting the noose around his own neck. They had been convicted of the murder of a German farmer and sentenced to life imprisonment.

LONDON.—The war office posted this dispatch from Gen. Buller, dated Spearman's Camp, Jan. 20: "Gen. Clery, with a part of Gen. Warren's force, has been in action from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. today. By a judicious use of his artillery he has fought his way up, capturing ridge after ridge for about three miles. The casualties were not heavy." Another dispatch showed that the besieged garrison at Ladysmith was in communication with Gen. Buller's army.

LONDON.—The death of John Ruskin at Brentwood, of influenza and old age, was announced in London. The great artist, art critic, poet, master of English style and rhetoric, social and political philosopher, and thunderer against shams of every kind was 81 years old, having been born in London in 1819. The great tragedy of his life came to him when his beautiful wife and his artist friend, Millais, became enamored of each other. He talked it over with them and agreed to relinquish his wife to his friend. Divorce was granted and at the altar Ruskin gave the wife over to the man whom he had known and loved.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1920.

CHICAGO.—THE TRIBUNE'S income tax bureau was the only place in Chicago yesterday able to supply the public with the return blanks "Form 1040-A"—used for incomes of less than $5,000. This was accomplished by reproducing the form and printing the blanks in its own plant and at its own expense when the promised official blanks failed to arrive from Washington.

PARIS.—Georges Clemenceau retired from the supreme council of the league of nations after more than a year in the presidency of the peace council.

PARIS.—It is understood that the allied premiers plan to send a force of 200,000 men to oppose the bolsheviki in the Caucasus and form a barrier from the Black sea to the Caspian sea. British troops, ships, arms and ammunition will be dispatched, according to reports.

COMPENSATING AND REGULATING WORKS.

Dayton, O., Jan. 17.—I inclose a letter from a major in the regular army who is intimately acquainted with conditions on the St. Clair river. I am withholding the author's name. The letter follows:

"John R. Freeman, an engineer of high standing, has published a report for the Chicago sanitary district on the subject of improvement and use of waters of the great lakes and their connecting and outflow rivers. In this report he advocates building a dam in the St. Clair river at about the middle of its length. A novel feature of his plan is an open chute through which he claims steamers could at all times pass downward and most of the time upward, the maximum current having been figured at a little over 7 miles per hour. The main theme of his scheme is to raise the levels of Michigan and Huron 2 or more feet and Lake Erie also a considerable amount by regulation works (dams, locks, and gates).

"Now, there have been two or more reports rendered by army engineers covering pretty well the same field. Both of these reports differ from the report of Mr. Freeman in that they do not admit it to be a safe step to raise the level of Lakes Michigan and Huron more than about 1 foot and have set about ¾ foot as the limit for raising Lake Erie. They favor compensating works rather than regulation works to effect raising of the levels. It is explained that by compensating works they mean weirs or levees or dikes, which differ from regulation works in that the former are fixed, having no gates, while the latter have gates of one form or another to be manipulated.

"The argument in favor of compensating works is that they are cheaper than regulation works and may be readily changed to alter their effects; weirs, dikes, etc., usually being nothing more than loose stones dumped in place. For example, it is proposed to place 30 or more submerged weirs in the St. Clair river, leaving a depth of 30 feet of water over them so that they would nowhere obstruct navigation in the least. In principle they accept the argument of mariners and shipping interests that nowhere should the rivers and used channels of the lakes be reduced in width and depth to check the free passage of ships.

"You have picked out a much mooted item in the scheme for lake and waterway improvement. The key question is how much can lake levels be safely raised? Those in responsible charge of government projects say the levels cannot be raised above the natural stages, else claims for damages during times of high water will pile in to give trouble. And it should be kept in mind that an extra foot of water at Chicago or any large city can cause millions of damage in a few hours. It is not safe to construct any work which will aggravate natural storm ravages.

"The Canadians constructed a dam at Kenora on Lake of the Woods which has brought on them a deluge of damage suits. I am inclined to accept the policy of the engineers as distinctly sound, and that their reports, which are based on studies with extensive experience and knowledge of conditions, are mightier than reports of engineers, as matter of how high standing, who lack the acquaintance with actual conditions.

"Unfortunately, all of the reports I have mentioned are scarce. We have only one copy of each. Mr. Freeman's report is finer in its arrangement, appearance and clarity than the others, but I can't say his plan is so sound nor his conclusions in every instance justified by the facts." J. D. ARTZ.

ATLANTIC CABLE MEMORIES.

Park Ridge, Ill., Jan. 15.—Several weeks ago you published a letter written by James Hutton. Mr. Hutton is a survivor of that great enterprise, the laying of the first Atlantic cable. He comments on the fact that, through your paper, he met Capt. Napper of Lake Geneva, Wis., another survivor.

This is all of particular interest to me because I am a grandson of Assistant Engineer Officer Richard Williamson. I have in my possession a letter written by the office of the chamber of commerce, New York, dated Aug. 25, 1858, addressed to my grandfather presenting him with a medal for his part in the undertaking. The medal itself is in the possession of another grandson, my cousin, Stuart Craig, Rutherford, N. J.

My grandfather served 28 years and 96 days in the British navy and after his retirement as commodore he served for a short while as captain of the port of Hull, England.

I have written to Capt. Napper, Lake Geneva, and I am anxious to get into communication with Mr. James Hutton.

FRED B. HUNT,
Ex-Lieut. [J. G.] U. S. N.

SLANDER.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—It was with righteous patriotic indignation that I read "Ex-Soldier's" slanderous charge in today's Voice of the People that 90 per cent of the American Legion are traitors, implying the majority of members of that organization are scofflaws.

As a charter member of the Legion department of Illinois, familiar with every one of its 70,000 members, please permit me to say that since the enactment of the eighteenth amendment I have never known a single Legionnaire to touch, taste nor handle alcoholic liquor in any way excepting such time as when he is either alone or with some one, attending post or district meetings, state or national conventions, out with prohibition officers or campaigning for some candidate seeking office on the dry ticket.

I shall certainly sick our Americanization committee on "Ex-Soldier."

POOR VISIBILITY IS BLAMED FOR PLANE TRAGEDY

Motor Trouble Is Another Theory in 16 Deaths.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Two theories were advanced today on the cause of the tri-motored plane crash near San Clementi last evening which cost sixteen lives and was the worst tragedy in the history of aviation. One was that Pilot Basil Russell was blinded by rain and fog and was unable to judge accurately his nearness to the ground when attempting to turn back to San Diego. The other was that motor trouble forced a hurried emergency landing.

The first theory was expressed by Inspector J. G. Nall of the aviation inspection branch, federal department of commerce. This explanation also was cited in official bulletins of the Maddux Transcontinental Air Transport airline, which operated the smashed plane.

On the other hand, belief that one or more of the plane's powerful motors was missing was expressed by automobilists, by residents of Oceanside, Cal., and by other laymen who said they noticed the plane begin to lose altitude as it came down and plunged into the ocean fogs after dusk.

Revised List of Killed.

Following is a complete revised list of those killed:

BOWEN, EDWARD J., 51, banker and president of the Union Tank and Pipe company, Los Angeles.

BOWEN, MRS. E. J., his wife.

BROWN, CEDRIC, 32, assistant to president of the Maddux-T. A. T. Air lines; home in Los Angeles.

BROWN, MRS. CEDRIC, 26, his wife.

CANTILLON, MRS. RICHARD, 26, wife of a Los Angeles attorney.

COLLISTON, MRS. HANNAH BOTTSTEIN, dancing instructress, Fair Hope, Ala.

GLOVER, MRS. ADDIE, 47, Los Angeles.

JAMIESON, MISS FRANCES, 28, registrar in private school, Pasadena.

MILLER, BEN M., insurance broker, Berkeley, Cal.

MILLER, MRS. B. M., his wife.

PADEN, W. W., real estate operator, Pasadena.

RABOLD, CHARLES, 33, singer and dancer, Fair Hope, Fla.

RUSSELL, BASIL, 28, pilot of plane; home, Los Angeles.

SMALL, EDWARD J., 44, president of a Los Angeles delivery service.

SQUIBB, MISS ELIZABETH, instructress in West Ridge school, in Pasadena.

WALKER, FRED, 30, Glendale, Cal.; assistant pilot on plane.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was in San Diego making glider tests when his corporation's ill fated passenger liner took off from Agua Caliente, Mexico, and soared northward to its fate, joined with Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, flying executive of the line, in the Maddux-T. A. T. corporation's own probe of the disaster.

Identification Difficult.

Federal and state agencies began other inquiries which will return official reports.

Clothes had been burned off the bodies, and jewelry had been melted into little lumps of metal in the fierce fire which raged inside the locked cabin after the plane's wing ripped off, and the cracked fuel tanks doused pilots and passengers alike with 200 gallons of flaming gasoline.

RESCUE PARTIES IN BOATS REACH MAROONED FOLK

Food and Fuel Taken to Them.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Relief parties in motorboats today fought their way through the ice to flood marooned families in Decker township who had been isolated in the second stories of village and farm homes for days, and found them virtually out of food and fuel. There has been no loss of life, so far as can be learned, but many families have suffered extreme hardships.

The Wabash, which had been receding, suddenly rose two feet today when an ice jam above Palestine, Ill., broke, and additional water roared out ever flooded land in the environs of Vincennes and surrounding territory. The jam broke while preparations were under way to dynamite it from an airplane.

James Reel, commander of the Vincennes American Legion post, led the motorboat rescue crews, which included B. H. Anglin, vice president of the Indiana refinery.

Homes Visited.

"It was like landing again in France," Reel declared, in describing the reactions of the marooned farmers and their families. "Some of the people shouted for joy. They crowded to second story windows and cheered and waved pieces of clothing. We visited eleven homes, leaving fuel and food supplies."

Ten persons were living on the second floor of the Decker Chapel schoolhouse, Friday night, when the temperature was 14 degrees below zero, they had only an oil stove to keep them warm. The next day men in the party walked across the ice to a nearby house and brought back a wood stove.

Thirteen families, comprising thirty-seven persons, were in one house and entirely out of food. Efforts had been made to reach this house Saturday night, but ice floes stopped the boat.

Other Boats Set Out.

Four motorboats set out from Princeton, Ind., today with food and medical supplies for twenty-five marooned families in Gibson county. The relief crews expected to proceed as far as possible by boat and then continue on over the ice. Another boat left Decker for Orrville with provisions and medicine for sick children there.

Two government airplanes surveyed the flooded district near here today for the Red Cross. The flyers reported that many houses apparently had been abandoned as there were no signs of life.

Six government engineers have arrived to inspect the Wabash and White river levees.

Ask Hoover for Relief.

Business men have sent telegrams to President Hoover, urging that the Wabash be included in the waterways development program. "We want permanent flood relief," telegraphed Mayor Joseph M. Kimmell. "The only way we can get it is by deepening and straightening the Wabash."

The Wabash was falling slowly tonight, the back water of the levees, locked by the ice, was virtually stationary.

In Knox, Gibson, and Posey counties of Indiana, and Lawrence, Wabash, and White of Illinois, 150,000 acres of rich farmland is still under water.

Medical Facilities Bus to Be Installed on Lines

A bus equipped with modern medical facilities, with a doctor in attendance, will be introduced during the year by Illinois motor bus lines, Dr. Hart Fisher told the Illinois Motor Transport association at its annual meeting at the Stevens hotel yesterday. The association voted to change its name to the Illinois Bus association and elected Chester G. Moore president; G. T. Seeley, vice president; and Miss Altoe Nelson, secretary.

ANOTHER CARRIER CUTS AIR FARES TO RAIL BASIS

Another general reduction in air travel rates was made yesterday. James F. Hamilton, operating vice president of the Aviation corporation, announced that air passenger fares on his company's lines, which fly 20,000 miles in daily scheduled service will be cut to a level comparable to railroad and Pullman rates. The rate cut follows similar reduction by other air lines.

The lines affected are those of Universal Aviation corporation, Colonial Air Transport, Inc., Embry-Riddle Aviation corporation, and Southern Air Transport. Robert J. Smith, general traffic manager, said the general reductions allowed experiments with low fares on certain portions of the lines which resulted in a heavy increase in passengers carried.

By the new rates $67 is cut from fare of Universal's 60 hour train-plane service from New York to Los Angeles. The new fare from Chicago to Cleveland is $17.60, as compared with the old rate of $37.50. Other fares for lines out of Chicago are: Chicago to St. Louis, $14.74; Chicago to Kansas City, $23.60; Chicago to Cincinnati, $14.85.

FINED FOR GIRL'S DELINQUENCY.

Ervin McDonald, 22 years old, 112 North Kedzie avenue, was fined $50, yesterday by Judge Theodore Ehler in the Domestic Relations court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor after he had been arrested in the company of Elizabeth Williams, 17 years old, who was attired in boy's clothing.

DAIRYMEN TO CUT BUTTER OUTPUT AS PRICE SLUMPS

Campaign to Be Planned Here Tomorrow.

Butter prices have returned from their skyward flight made during 1929 and dropped to the lowest levels in several years. Surplus production of dairy products indicates that the farmers will be the losers for several months to come.

This is the answer given to THE TRIBUNE in its survey to ascertain why good butter is selling in some Chicago stores for as low as two pounds for 78 cents, and in other stores for as high as 65 to 75 cents a pound. Stocks are now the largest ever seen in butter history, it was said by dairy products dealers yesterday. Meetings of dairymen are being held throughout the central states to plan drastic measures for curtailing production and increasing consumption. Representatives of butter interests will meet in Chicago tomorrow to direct a campaign along these lines, it was announced last night by R. W. Balderston director of the National Dairy council.

Large Reserves Built Up.

Large reserves of dairy products have been accumulating for several years in regions producing city milk supplies. This was especially true during the summer and fall of 1929, so that immense holdings of frozen sweet cream were piling up in cold storage houses. The federal department of agriculture reported 272,644 ten gallon cans of 40 per cent cream, the equivalent of 11,000,000 pounds of butter, in storage on Jan. 1. Makers of condensed and evaporated milk, with a surplus of about 2,500,000 cases on Jan. 1 were among the hundreds of dairy plants that immediately turned their output into butter. This is the first big surplus of dairy products ever known by the American dairyman.

Under London Price.

Last week, with the drop of 12 cents in butter prices, on which all dairy prices are based, hit the bottom at 2 cents under the London world market, another record for this industry, in spite of a 12 cent tariff.

P. L. Betts, Chicago member of the federal farm board's dairy advisory committee, stated yesterday that the worst is now over, and that stabilization action by the board now seems unnecessary.

An official of the American Association of Creamery Butter manufacturers said yesterday:

"Retailers in the city in many cases have not passed along the drop in prices to their customers. There is no reason why any one should have to pay as high as 60 to 70 cents a pound for butter with the wholesale prices around 36 cents for the best grade of butter in Chicago today."

HOLDS UP APARTMENT OFFICE.

Mrs. B. E. Smedes, manager of the Jackson apartments, 3441 Jackson boulevard, was robbed of $45 yesterday by an armed bandit who held her up in the office of the building.

COALITION WINS TWICE IN SENATE TARIFF BATTLE

O. K.'s Cut on Paper; Bars Raise on Maps.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The coalition of Democrats and radicals won twice today on roll calls in the senate tariff fight. In one case a finance committee amendment increasing the duty on maps and charts was rejected by a vote of 22 to 29. In the other a committee amendment restoring the present duty on paper used for sensitizing for photographic purposes, which was cut in the house, was rejected by a vote of 30 to 34.

The increase in duty on maps and charts was designed to benefit Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago, whose representatives had told the senate finance committee that a duty of more than 100 per cent would be required to equalize labor costs in Chicago and London. The finance committee amendment increased the present 25 per cent duty on maps and charts to 40 per cent.

Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], who was chairman of the finance subcommittee on the paper and book schedule, was instrumental in obtaining the increased duty, which was rejected by the senate.

The Eastman Kodak company was the particular target of attack in connection with the action on the committee amendment relating to paper for sensitizing for photographic purposes. The committee amendment, which met with defeat, restored the existing duty of 3 cents a pound and 15 per cent in place of a duty of 5 per cent, to which the rate was cut in the house bill.

The senate completed action on the paper schedule and disposed of all noncontroversial items in the sundries schedule. Among amendments in the sundries schedule which were approved were those placing rough diamonds on the free list.

OIL 'CRACKING' COMBINE IS HELD AGAIN ILLEGAL

U. S. Court of Appeals Rules with Lower Bench.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana and forty-nine other defendants were held guilty of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law through illegal monopoly of patents on the so-called "oil cracking" process in a decree handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here yesterday. The decree was signed by Federal Judges Evans and Page.

The ruling, which affects most of the country's largest oil companies, including Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Texas company, grants an injunction to the government permanently restraining the defendants from further violation of the law. The decision against the oil companies was returned several months ago, but the decree was not handed down until yesterday in order to give the defendants time to arrange for dissolving their agreements.

Stay of Execution Granted.

A stay of execution of the decree was granted pending an appeal to the United States Supreme court. The suit has involved nearly five years' litigation, during which time it was once recommended dropped by an Indianapolis master in chancery, Charles Martindale.

The original suit, started in 1925, charged the defendants with conspiracy to restrain trade and create a monopoly of gasoline production by refusing concerns not in the combine the privilege of using the "oil cracking" process in refining gasoline except by payment of royalties. It further charged that the patents controlling the process were no longer valid.

Last June Judges Evans and Page concurred in an opinion ruling that "these various agreements step outside the limits of lawful monopolies which arose from the issuance of the patents. The patent monopoly itself is a property right and agreements in respect thereto must be subject to the same anti-monopoly tests as any other property rights."

All Agreements Held Void.

Yesterday's decree ordered that all agreements concerning the patents be declared null and void, and enjoined against further agreements.

Judge A. B. Anderson, who sat with Evans and Page on the case, and who dissented from their opinion, has since retired from the bench.

WIDOW GIVEN $75,000 ESTATE OF PROF. COX

The will of Prof. Henry J. Cox, meteorologist in charge of the Chicago weather bureau since 1894, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It leaves an estate estimated at $75,000 to his widow, Mrs. Mary J. Cox, 5320 Blackstone avenue.

At her death the estate is to be divided between a son, Arthur C. Cox and three grandchildren, Donald, Terry, and John, sons of Harry P. Cox, another son, who received his share of the estate before his father's death. The professor's library, which contains many books on exploration, Geography, and climatology, are left to the Geographical Society of Chicago.

The will was drawn jointly by Prof. Cox and his wife last April 23.

Have You Started Writing Your 500-WORD HISTORY of the United States ?

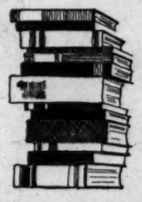
IN CASH PRIZES FOR BEATING THE HISTORIANS AT THEIR OWN GAME

THOUSANDS of volumes have been written about the exciting history of the United States of America. Millions of words have been devoted to the subject by historians and scholars. Can you beat them at their own game? Can you condense all this material into 500 words or less? Can you select from all the facts and data at your disposal not more than 500 well-chosen words which will tell a comprehensive, concise history of our country?



Former President Calvin Coolidge is reported to be trying his hand at it. His 500-word history, when completed, is to be carved into the side of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The letters will be large enough to be read miles away and cut deep enough into solid rock to withstand the weather of 5,000 centuries.

Just Follow These Simple Rules:

Why don't you try your hand at this job? For the best histories of the United States of America told in not more than 500 words the Chicago Tribune will pay $2,100.00 in cash prizes. First prize: $1,000.00; second prize: $500.00; third prize: $250.00; next seven prizes: $50.00 each.

This competition is open to all—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. No entries will be considered which exceed 500 words in length. All entries must be received in the office of the Tribune not later than midnight February 15, 1930.

Entries should be mailed to "HISTORY EDITOR," the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Illinois. No entries will be returned. The Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject. Write on one side of the paper only. Typewritten manuscripts will be welcomed, but will not be given preference over handwritten manuscripts. Judges will be appointed by the Tribune and their decisions will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to tying contestants. First announcement of winners will be made Sunday, March 2, 1930.

ASSAIL HEALTH CLAIMS FOR FOOD BEFORE CANNERS

Frown on Advocates of Curative Powers.

Food is something to eat whether it comes in the natural state or in a can, and no good end is served in trying to convince the public that its victuals ought to be medicine as well.

This view was expounded yesterday in speeches to the delegates attending the annual convention of the National Canners' association at the Stevens hotel. Besides the canners, the Canning Machinery and Supplies association, the National Wholesale Grocers' association, the Fruit and Vegetable Brokers' association, the National Food Brokers' association, and the National Pickle Packers' association are all meeting in Chicago this week.

Altogether, estimates place the number of visitors attending at more than 10,000, of whom some five thousand are registered at the canners' meeting.

Tells Stand of U. S.

The attitude of the government toward health claims for foodstuffs was explained by Paul B. Dunbar, assistant chief of the federal department administering the food and drugs act.

"The American public," said Mr. Dunbar, "today has an obsession on the question of health, health foods, health fads, health exercises. In its ignorance of the present limitations of scientific knowledge it has been disposed to accept without reservation the most extreme and in some cases ridiculous claims for the health giving qualities of various products."

Sick people, he added, were gullible and easily influenced to spend for pleasant foods which bore the claims of curative properties, and the public has "fallen an easy victim" to advertising technique which seeks first to scare and then to reassure.

Told to Beware.

A quotation from a governmental bulletin was placed in his address. It follows:

"The American public should beware of health foods, 'life grains,' and other food products for which the makers claim curative or health-giving properties. The food and drug administration believes the use of the word health in connection with foods constitutes a misbranding under the food and drugs act. The use of this word implies that these products have health-giving or curative properties, when in general they merely possess some of the nutritive qualities to be expected in any wholesome food product."

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, called attention to the need for research in food products before they are placed on the market. He pointed likewise to the harm done by a "preposterous claim" advanced by a grapefruit dealer to the effect that his product had value in the treatment of diabetes. The result, he said, was harm to the grapefruit growers and the risking of their lives by sufferers from diabetes.

Both speakers attested the wholesome qualities of canned foods. A third speaker, Walter H. Eddy, took a slightly different line. His researches as professor of physiological chemistry at the Teachers' college, Columbia university, have convinced him that no advertising copy writer has ever made as enthusiastic a description of spinach as can be heard in any class on nutrition. His view was that truth is always permissible, and that while claims for curative power are illegal, it is right to point out real food values.

Business for the canners has been good during the last year and is expected to go along at an even pace in 1930. Officials of the association explained that their products are not subject to great sales fluctuations, and that the only difficulties that may be encountered will be due to overexpansion.

Italy Falls in Line.

The assertion is made that no cases of food poisoning have been traced in years to American canning plants. Last year, it is said, the association called the attention of the government to illness growing out of consumption of canned onions brought in from Italy. As the result of a diplomatic protest Premier Mussolini is reported to have ordered that American canning methods be used in his country.

Later in the week it is expected there will be some discussion concerning the attitude to be taken by several of the food organizations toward the federal farm board's program. It was regarded as likely that resolutions adopted would suggest noninterference with the distributive functions of organizations now in existence. Many of the canners and the fruit and vegetable shippers of the country themselves operate extensive farms.

Rescues Children from Fire

At Fireman's Home

Chicago firemen yesterday rescued several children from a thirty apartment building at Addison street and Lawndale avenue when fire broke out in the basement of the structure and forced the occupants of the building to flee. The flames were discovered by William J. Mein, a city fireman who lives in the building and was off duty at the time. After turning in an alarm Mein rushed to the second floor of the building and carried Michaline and Junior Kerstein to the street.

Chief John O'Malley of the 22d battalion estimated the damage at $10,000. The flames were confined to a tier of six flats, but the remaining apartments were filled with smoke.

Oberta's Suit to Clean His Name Dismissed by Judge

Judge Joseph B. David yesterday dismissed the $25,000 slander suit brought by John (Dingbat) Oberta against Hugh Norris. The men were opponents for Republican ward committeeman of the Thirteenth ward in April, 1928. Judge David's action follows several failures of Oberta to appear in court to pursue his claim that his reputation had been sullied by Norris' charges that Oberta, Joe Saltis, and the latter's henchmen terrorized the ward on that election day.

SPRINKLER BURSTS; DAMAGE $10,000.

A frozen water pipe in the sprinkler system of the Petrushka club at 165 North Michigan avenue yesterday caused $10,000 damage when it burst and sent water seeping through a vacant storeroom on the first floor into the basement where costumes and scenery are stored.

Policeman Who Shot Self Accidentally Dies

Arthur Kunstman, 31 years old, a policeman attached to the Chicago Lawn station, died yesterday at the Evangelical Deaconess hospital of a bullet wound inflicted accidently on Dec. 4. Kunstman discharged his pistol while putting it in his pocket in an apartment at 6315 South Hamilton avenue. He had been a member of the police force for nine months.

BOLIVIA BLAMES PARAGUAY AFTER BORDER BATTLE

Claims 15 Cavalrymen Put 60 to Rout.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The Bolivian foreign office today issued a communique blaming Paraguayan soldiers for the sanguinary clash Thursday on the Bolivian-Paraguayan border. It declared that fifteen Bolivian cavalrymen repulsed a force four times as large, losing one man. The communique says in part:

"Just at the moment negotiations were under way in Montevideo for the execution of the Washington protocol with a plan acceptable to both Bolivia and Paraguay 60 Paraguayan soldiers, armed with machine guns, attacked on Thursday, Jan. 16, an observation post near Fort Boqueron.

"The position was held successfully by fifteen Bolivian cavalrymen. The attackers were dispersed, but one of our soldiers, Private Fernandez, was killed."

Bolivia Backs Washington Pact.

Shortly before, the ministry of war also had issued a communique stating that Bolivia is eager for the success of the Washington protocol for peaceful settlement of the Bolivian-Paraguayan boundary dispute.

"Despite the break in diplomatic relations with Paraguay, it is the wish of this government to do its utmost for the success of the Washington protocol," the war minister said. "However, it is obliged to send a note to Uruguay frankly contrasting this with the attitude of Paraguay."

Uruguay, one of the five countries that drew up the Washington protocol, has offered Bolivia and Paraguay its help in settling the Chaco-Boreal incidents.

Paraguay to Notify League.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The council of ministers after a long meeting with President José P. Guggiari tonight resolved to send to the league of nations and to neutrals signatory to the Washington protocol a complete account of the Paraguayan version of the clash at Isla Poi between Bolivian and Paraguayan forces.

Ministers of the United States, Brazil, Peru, Uruguay and Chile called at the foreign office to discuss the international aspects of the case. It was reported today from Isla Poi that the Paraguayans held the body of the Bolivian who was killed in the skirmish. A Paraguayan also died.

The exchange of shots lasted several hours but it was believed there were no other casualties.

The ministry of war issued the following statement, in part:

Paraguayans Hold Fort.

The attackers were repulsed and dispersed. The Paraguayans continue in possession of Fort Isla Poi. The same report states that the Bolivians continue frequently patrolling this sector but otherwise there have been no new developments.

The negotiations for settlement recently reached a stage where the Bolivians were to agree to return Fort Boqueron, which they took as a counter measure, and the Paraguayans to return Fort Vanguardia. Neither were willing to be first in complying with the terms of the agreement, however, and matters hung there while public sentiment in both countries against the other became warmer.

The Household Finance Corporation offers immediate loans to any family keeping house. Here you may secure $100 to $300 without delay—and take from one to twenty months to repay. You get the entire amount.

By limiting our service to loans from $100 to $300, Household is able to reduce the interest rate to 2½% per month—a saving of nearly one-third. Thus the interest charge on a $200 loan for one month only is $5.00. If loans are made for more than one month, interest is charged only on unpaid principal balance.

When you need $100 to $300, see Household first and save money.

A Statement About Small Loans by Household Finance Corporation

WE MAKE LOANS OF $100 TO $300 AT 2½% PER MONTH

There are classes of loans which require the rate of 3½% per month

The Household Finance Corporation wishes to impress upon the public that any licensee who makes loans of less than $100, and a certain class of loans of larger amounts is, in our opinion, entitled to and is justified in charging the maximum rate of 3½% per month. If we could not afford to make loans of less than $100 at less than 3½%. The 3½% rate is not the fixed rate that licensees must charge, but is simply the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law on loans up to $300.

If you need $100 to $300 you owe it to yourself to see us first.

FARM AND LABOR AID PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE

Spokesmen Appear Before Senate Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Agriculture and labor, through spokesmen who appeared before the senate insular affairs committee, united today to advocate immediate independence for the Philippine islands, while the industries, apparently anxious to prevent any disturbance of the market for American manufactured articles, and to maintain the present status, under which raw materials from the islands enter the United States duty free, registered their protest against the King independence resolution in scores of letters and telegrams read into the committee's record.

Senator Bingham [Rep., Conn.], chairman of the committee, who opposes independence for the islands and is sponsoring a proposal to have the whole subject studied at a conference in Manila next September, clashed heatedly with Senator Hawes [Dem., Mo.] when the latter accused him of playing politics with the problem.

Hawes' ire was aroused when Bingham questioned the wisdom of the Jones act which promised independence, and observed that the measure, "passed by a Democratic congress, apparently does not reflect the majority sentiment of the country."

Chester Gray, Washington lobbyist for the American Farm Bureau federation; A. M. Loomis, lobbyist for the National Dairy union, and Fred Brenchman, representing the National Grange, made it plain in their testimony, that agriculture generally favors immediate Philippine independence in order to end the competition which the American farmer faces in duty free vegetable oils and other farm products from the islands.

W. C. Hushing, a legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, told the committee that until recently, when fears of competition for American labor were raised, labor had favored independence, "for humanitarian reasons."

WIFE OF THREAD KING IS GRANTED DIVORCE IN RENO

Reno, Nev., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Teresa Fabbri Clark was divorced here today from James Cameron Clark, president of the American Linen Thread company of New York and heir to the fortune left by the founder of the Clark Thread company. Mrs. Clark is the daughter of Edith Fabbri, niece of Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Clark charged her husband was cruel to her and that their life together was not happy. She asked no alimony and there was no financial settlement, Mrs. Clark herself being twenty-five times a millionaire in her own right.

The only division of property entered into by the Clarks was the dividing of the furniture in their home at Farhills, N. J., the furniture alone said to be worth half a million. The property was retained by Clark.

MAN KILLED FOR PLAYING RADIO AFTER 10:30 P. M.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Playing his radio after 10:30 last night led to the killing of Peter Yurcheck of Primrose, near here. Michael Sliss, who occupied half the double house, surrendered and was sent to jail on a murder charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Yurcheck and friends were dancing to phonograph music when Sliss pounded on the walls and shouted to turn off the record. The Yurchecks thereupon substituted the radio for the phonograph.

When some one knocked at the door a few minutes later Miss Jenny Yurcheck responded and saw Sliss with a gun on his shoulder. When she fled screaming her father walked to the doorway and was shot.

WISCONSIN DEFEATS MAROON CAGERS, 33-23

BUSH OUTLINES PLANS FOR SOX SPRING TRAINING

Mike Kelly Signed as Head Coach.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Donie Bush, new manager of the White Sox, came to town yesterday and made a number of announcements, including the following:

MIKE KELLY.

Mike Barnes Kelly, for nine years manager of the Spartanburg, S. C., team in the South Atlantic league, and a boyhood friend of Bush on Indianapolis sand lots, has been appointed head coach of the White Sox.

White Sox players will be required to eat at the club hotel on the road. Under the meal allowance plan, players frequently eat in one arm establishments, thus pinching down much of the allowance. This weakens the boys.

Golf and baseball do not mix. The White Sox are no more eager to develop golfers than they are to develop prizefighters. In spring training and off days, golf is O. K., but on the mornings of games—ixnay. It tires the boys.

Jolley to Play Left Field.

Smead Jolley, slugging big man from San Francisco, probably will play left field for the Sox instead of right, the position he's always played. Right field is the sun field in most American league parks and the sun makes Smead squint, just like Hack Wilson.

In addition to the foregoing Donie mentioned many other details of his plans, which will be launched when he leads his new charges to San Antonio three weeks from next Saturday noon. He has his routine definitely mapped out and some of the lazy fellows on the Sox are destined to change their ways or catch a lot of hell, although Donie refrained from putting it just that way.

And speaking of refraining, reminds us of the Great Shires. Mr. Bush refrained from extensive comment on the young man and his future, apparently choosing to let Charles A. Comiskey handle C. Arthur's case.

Mr. Comiskey is reported to be calm in his contemplation of the process of signing Mr. Shires. While admitting that Arthur attracted much attention as a boxer, he still is listed in the White Sox files as a first baseman who batted .312 and twice was under suspension during the last championship season of the American baseball league.

Arthur Due for Raise.

Arthur probably will get a good raise, for even .312 is not to be sniffed at, but he's not down for the kind of salary figures he has been mentioning. He will not get a nickel on the strength of his crushed raspberry ring robe or his black and scarlet prize fight pants. Mr. Comiskey will suggest, politely but firmly, that Arthur check this raiment outside before he enters the salary conference.

The appointment of Barney Kelly as coach came as a complete surprise to those who have been speculating as to the choice. His long record in developing young players, however, caused observers to characterize the selection as a wise one.

Kelly moved up from Indianapolis semi-pros when he joined the St. Louis Cardinals in the spring of 1916. In 1917 he caught for the Evansville club in the Central league, then went to Toledo for three seasons.

In the spring of 1921 Kelly, then only 24, became manager of Spartanburg, and since has held the job continuously.

Lou Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox, who has been a hospital patient for 10 weeks yesterday ducked his doc and attended a luncheon at the Congress hotel at which Manager Bush was the guest of honor. He ate a light meal, then went back to the hospital. Mr. Comiskey has lost 65 pounds during his hospital stay and expects to make it 80 before he leaves.

CHARLEY ROOT SIGNS 2 YEAR CUB CONTRACT

Charley Root, star right handed pitcher of the majors in 1927, who suffered a relapse in 1928, then came back in a big way last season, will not be listed among the Cub holdouts, if any.

Charley yesterday signed up for two years, according to an announcement made yesterday by William Veeck, Cub president, who now is at Avalon, Catalina Islands.

Root, his wife, and two youngsters are in Los Angeles, where Charley owns a home.

The amount of Root's contract was not announced, but the young business man is known to be one of the highest salaried players in the National league.

DUDLEY'S PAR 71 LEADS GOLFERS AT AGUA CALIENTE

Mac Smith Second for First 18 Holes.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Blazing a trail through the first round of the world's richest golf tournament, Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., professional, today shot par 71 golf to place himself in a one stroke lead over the field of 115 starters in the Agua Caliente $25,000 open tournament.

While Dudley was mixing brilliant golf with some rather mediocre play, to match his prowess against the treacherous course, MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., exponent of the great Scottish pastime, settled to the tedious and nerve wracking grind to shoot a steady 72 for second place.

Only two strokes behind the leader came Harold Long, Denver, Colo., a dark horse entrant, and Al Watrous, Detroit, with 73s to their credit.

Nine Tie for Fifth.

Nine others, including a pair of amateurs, climbed into fifth position by putting behind them the eighteen holes of play over the course made heavy by rains last night, with cards of 74. Among them was Al Espinosa of Chicago.

Dudley, in turning in his surprise score, displayed a dazzling brand of golf on the trying home nine to come in with a 34, two under standard figures, after covering the out nine in 37, two over par. He collected five birdies in his parade to the top, but had six bogies to counteract these best efforts.

50 and Ties Continue Tomorrow.

The course, coupled with the strain of the contest, which holds a $10,000 stake for first prize at the conclusion of 72 holes play, forced many to score well up in the eighties.

The fifty low scorers and ties during the first two days will qualify to continue play through the last 36 holes Wednesday and Thursday in the 72 hole four day competition.

WHY NOT LIST BABE'S RAISE AS BACK PAY?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—It is a pleasure to be generous with Col. Jake Ruppert's money, and, therefore, I am strongly in favor of paying Babe Ruth his price of $255,000 for three seasons.

BABE RUTH.

It seems to me that Mr. Ruth has a large amount of arrears coming to him not only from the Yankee firm but from the stockholders of the other fifteen major league concerns. It must be conceded that, more than Judge K. M. Landis, more than all the virtuous pronouncements of the magnates, in their trouble and doubt, the Babe saved the baseball industry by diverting the press and customers from their suspicious meditations in the delicate time just following the corruption of the White Sox.

It always has been an idea of mine that the chaps who took the wage of infamy in that case were condemned a little too thoroughly because they were not intelligent people, and, unlike the baseball magnates, did not have free and continuous access to the papers for the presentation of their grievances.

Up to that time in the baseball industry the players were the most thoroughly peonized set of industrial employés in the United States. In all dealings with their employers they were compelled to take precisely what the magnates were pleased to offer and submit to fines and vindictive whimsies in the guise of discipline without recourse to any court of appeal.

The players never were allowed to forget that even though their pictures looked out at them from a hundred sport pages, topped by terse encomiums, and heroizing customers were eager to buy them beers at the corner saloons of mellow memory, they were just employés working for a business firm and subject to dismissal on ten days' notice, without cause.

These conditions still prevail but in considerably modified form. A sort of court has been established, Judge Landis sitting, to which an athlete may appeal for relief from the more spiteful impositions, and they have been emboldened to talk back, as Ruth has been doing lately.

There never has been any real doubt that the magnates stimulated the official baseball about the time that Ruth came along and began to revive the industry by poling long hits out of bounds. But even so, it was the Babe who was hitting his 29 and 45 and, finally, 60 home runs a year, and creating such a rumpus in print throughout the land that the late unpleasantness soon became a mere reminiscence.

I do not know by just what clause in the very legalistic agreements which govern this department of the sport industry the proprietors of the other major league firms could be held to owe Mr. Ruth some money for reviving their business and drawing customers by the thousands to their ball parks over a number of years. Probably there is no such clause. He was working for the Yankees and it was up to the Yankees to pay him, but in working for the Yankees he went around and around the American league year after year, packing mobs of customers into other ball parks by his own, individual appeal to their imagination who otherwise would have continued to dwell on the regrettable fraud of 1919.

During the early years of this service, when the service was most important, the Babe probably was worth $100,000 a year and could have been paid that much without loss on the basis of a pro rata assessment.

All of which forensic clamor about a rich man's dues undoubtedly will be worth something at the American league boxoffices next summer as one more voice in the rather mechanical ballyhoo which Colonel Jake is now inciting on the pretext of a serious disagreement with his man Babe. In time Ruth will get his price, conceding a few thousand dollars a year, the ball club will fall in at the training resort, and such publicity as this will pay off the difference between the price bid and the compromise figure.

STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION TO BAR WRESTLING

Clinnin Talks on Trust System, East and West.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, addressing the Marine post of the American Legion at the Auditorium hotel last night stated that heavyweight wrestling will be barred from Illinois after the meeting of the Illinois boxing commission today.

"The boxing commission has no desire to be employed as the tool of any professional athletic combine," said Gen. Clinnin, "and while it does not claim that heavyweight wrestling matches are fixed, it regards it as strange that they always come out in a way beneficial to the manager."

Keep It "In the Family."

Gen. Clinnin explained that there are wrestling trusts whose object is to keep the title "in the family" by refusing to meet wrestlers from outside.

"The largest of these trusts is controlled by a group of managers under Sandow," General Clinnin said. "This can be called the western trust, with Sonnenberg and Lewis as their wrestlers. The other main group, or the eastern trust, is managed by Ed. White. Shikat, recognized as the world's heavyweight wrestling champion by New York and Pennsylvania, is their star."

General Clinnin told of the efforts of the Illinois boxing commission to clear up the difficulties in the heavyweight class by announcing that a championship elimination contest, with Jan. 15 the last day for entries. On Jan. 16 the commission learned that Shikat had refused to enter into any competition with Sonnenberg because the latter was barred from wrestling in New York and Pennsylvania, the states which recognized Shiket as champion.

Sonnenberg Not in Prelims.

"Moreover many of the wrestlers who expected to enter the contest stated that they would take part only on the condition that Sonnenberg be entered in the elimination rounds," said General Clinnin, "The commission understood that Sonnenberg had entered the eliminations, but this evening they received a telegram from his manager declaring that Sonnenberg was willing to meet the winner of the contest but that he had no intention of taking part in the elimination."

The commission chairman said that, due to the futility of trying to conduct a heavyweight contest that would provide a fair and honest championship for the public, the boxing commission has called a meeting for today to call off the championship matches. The $2,500 bonds put up by the contestants, will be refunded, and wrestling will be banned from Illinois until they agree to work unconditionally, he concluded.

W. G. A. EXPECTED TO RAISE LIMIT ON CADDIES' AGES

Increase in the age limit of caddies is forecast in the report of a Western Golf association committee. The committee recommended that the age limit on caddies be raised from 16 to 18 years

Formerly, a boy who caddied after he had passed 16 years of age automatically became a professional. The committee's report said that the ruling prevented many boys from continuing in golf in the two years when they were most likely to become proficient. The committee was made up of Joshua D'Esposito, H. H. Bishop, and Charles Evans Jr.

8 Amateurs Win Titles in Gary Tourney

Gary, Ind., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Tonight, amid the cheers of fans who packed the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, eight boys won their way to victory in the Gary Post-Tribune Golden Gloves boxing tournament. The victors will represent the Steel City in the Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves tournament.

Fifty-nine boys participated in the tournament. Norman Werry, sports editor of the Post-Tribune, sponsoring the local meet, says that he believes he has a bunch of lads who will make things hum when they reach Chicago in the new uniforms the paper will buy for them.

Among those who helped make the tournament a big success tonight were Mike Dudak, Harry Simmons, Johnny Beale, Leslie R. Bain, chairman of the boxing committee of the "Y"; Homer Osborne, physical director of the "Y"; Jack Gilroy, supervisor of physical education in the Gary public schools, who was announcer, and Judges Vern Hardenbrook and his brother, Harry Hardenbrook, Clarence Bader, William D. Egan, and Ray Dwyer.

The winners are:

FEATHERWEIGHT—John Nies, 21 years old. Johnny, who weighs 126 pounds and has been fighting for three years, operates a cross roll in a steel mill. Sponsor—Gary Alerding Settlement house.

LIGHTWEIGHT—Jack Jolvy, 18 years old, 135 pounds, is a truck driver by trade but a boxer by avocation. Sponsor—Alerding Settlement house.

BANTAMWEIGHT—Joie "Yope" Kish, 18 years old. "Yope," as he is known by his fight friends, pounds meat at the Superior Meat Products company, while he isn't pounding somebody around a ring. He weighs 118 pounds. Sponsor—Gary "Y."

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT—Jack Kranz, 20 years old, 175 pounder, won unopposed. Jack is a steel loader, but he says it is not a hard job, as he works in the office. "I am proud of this Golden Gloves ring the Post Tribune gave me but I would have rather won it fighting instead of just looking on," Kranz said. Sponsor—Gary "Y."

HEAVYWEIGHT—Buck Everett, 19, who tips the scale at 180 pounds and measures six feet one and one-half inches, is a painter at a steel mill here, and he too, won unopposed. Sponsor—Gary "Y."

FLYWEIGHT—Ray "Kayo" Mullins, 20, who really has a brother whom they call "Moon," is an apprentice sheet metal worker and has been fighting only a year. Sponsor—Gary "Y."

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Johnny Heudak, 19, has been fighting for only six months. Weighs 160 pounds. Trained two months for the tournament. He is a plate mill operator.

WELTERWEIGHT—Anthony Zale, 16 years old, a junior at Froeble High school, one of a family of five brothers, all fighters, is a track star in school and one of the most popular boxers in Gary. His brother, John, was a runner-up in the 135 pound class in the National A. A. U. at Boston two years ago. Sponsor—Polish National Alliance.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY DON MAXWELL.

The search for the 16 cleverest and gamest boxers in Chicagoland began last night in the spacious gymnasium of the Gary Y. M. C. A. Big lads with a penchant for punching, wiry lads with agility, little fellows who duck and hit, sidestep, and attack—sturdy, clean cut kids, began the great quest for Golden Gloves.

The battle began in Gary. The start was fine. Sixty-two boys entered the lists and 51 actually boxed. That was a high percentage and indicative of the sincerity and interest aroused by the tournament. During the next two weeks the battle lines spread to a wide front. Before the end of the month, the finest boys of twenty communities will be competing for the right to meet the young knights of Chicago.

Eight boys to a team, they'll come eagerly and earnestly to the Coliseum on Feb. 25. Two rings will be the battleground. Ten thousand folks, on each of four nights, will be their spectators; courage and boxing skill their weapons. Chicago's finest will be their foes.

Why, the Tournament of Roses would only be a side show to this battle for the Golden Gloves.

Gary fans started for the Y as soon as supper (the evening meal is supper down in Hoosierland) was finished last night. Promptly at 6:30 the bouts began. The little fellows, feathers and bantams, fought first. Then came the larger fellows on up to the heavyweight class, where Buck Everett's reputation was sufficient to limit the entries to one opponent. And he didn't appear. [You'll remember Buck as THE TRIBUNE'S light heavyweight runnerup last winter. He's a worker in the steel mills, huskier than ever, and determined to represent Chicago against New York's heavyweight champion.]

Some of the boys weren't very fancy boxers. Many of them were awkward. None of them seemed nervous or fearful. They grinned when they socked, and they grunted when they got socked, but none quit under fire.

One bout stands out in recollection. A handsome young chap in home made trunks, his hair carefully parted in the middle, freckles on his face, was introduced as Bob so and so. Gravely he stood and with clasped gloves bowed to the 800 fans. "And in this corner Jim So-and-So of the Gary steel mills." Jim didn't take the trouble to bow. He glared ferociously at Bob.

The referee called them to the center of the ring, they touched mitts, and the bout was on. Bob began waving his right up and down like a pump handle, fanning the steel worker's face. Jim glared. Suddenly he whipped a corker to Bob's chin. Bob spun around like a top. He spun so fast the breeze filled out his trunks. They ballooned and broke the fall. Solemnly the referee counted ten. He might have counted twenty. Bob's second rushed in and pulled. Painfully, Bob got up and manfully patted the steel worker on the back.

"I knew it," soliloquized Bob's younger brother. "The kid thinks he's Sammy Mandell. I told him he wasn't. Now I guess he won't be so cocky around home." He stepped up to help his brother to the dressing room.

Bob needn't feel ashamed. He tried.

Sport editors, young fellows with enthusiasm, watched the Gary bouts. Today they'll continue preparations for their tournaments. In a few weeks the sectional battles will be over. Then comes the training period for the invasion of Chicago.

An office boy in a South Bend newspaper has quit smoking to better his wind; a young behemoth weighing 247 ringside is running five miles each morning and cutting down on his menu to get in shape. Y. M. C. A. boxing instructors are polishing right hooks. Old-time boxers are enlisting as coaches for their city's team.

In twenty communities boys are talking and dreaming of the time when they'll march on Chicago and show the sheiks and soda fountain loafers how to fight.

And maybe they will, if Chicago's champs aren't careful.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—A speedy Chicago team led by Capt. Changnon threatened Wisconsin's Western conference basketball hopes for ten minutes tonight, but after the middle of the first half the Badgers swung into their stride and pounded out a 33 to 23 victory.

Indiana's overwhelming defeat by Michigan left Wisconsin alone in second place behind the pacemaking Purdue outfit, with three victories and one defeat, as compared to the two straight wins registered by the Boilermakers.

Chagnon Halts Stalling.

There was none of the stalling that entertained fans at the Badger-Illinois game Saturday in tonight's tussle. From the first whistle Changnon played far up the court, and when Wisconsin attempted to stall in the closing minutes he called on his teammate, Red Fish, to break it up.

Fish scored for Chicago after the first tipoff, but Eddie Chmielewski, the Badgers' all-western guard of last year, tied it up. Ashley dribbled in for a short goal, but Paul again evened it up. He was fouled by Ashley on the play and netted both free throws, putting Wisconsin ahead, 6 to 4. Boesel, Maroon center, was left all alone under the hoop to make it 6 to 6.

The score again was knotted at 8 to 8 before Wisconsin stepped out to take a lead that it maintained the rest of the game. At half time the score was 18 to 9 for Dr. Meanwell's team.

Badgers Lead, 22-11.

The Badgers ran the count to 22 to 11 before Chicago made its last stand early in the last half.

Capt. Bud Foster of Wisconsin contributed 10 points to run his total to 41 for four conference games. The floor work of Chmielewski, Foster, and Matthusen, who was ruled out of the game on fouls, marked the contest.

Chagnon, Fish, and Ashley were the principal reasons why Wisconsin found Coach Nels Norgren's team hard to handle.

Wisconsin made 11 out of 35 shots at the basket and Chicago 7 out of 22. Score:

MICHIGAN, 45; INDIANA, 26

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Rising out of the slump which has enveloped it during the last two weeks, Michigan's basketball team found its basket eye tonight and submerged the hitherto undefeated Indiana five, 45 to 26.

The defeat, the first for Indiana in the Big Nine race, dropped the Hoosiers out of a tie with Purdue for the conference leadership. Purdue has won both of its games, while Indiana has lost one of three.

After the first six minutes, when the score was 4 to 4, the Hoosiers never were within striking distance of the Maize and Blue.

Truskowski Leads Scoring.

Joe Truskowski led the scoring with five baskets and a like number of free throws. Michigan's defense allowed Indiana only seven baskets, four of these coming on shots by Strickland, who led the Hoosiers with nine points. Three of his baskets were long shots.

The score was 21 to 9 at the close of the first half, during which Orwig dominated play from the floor guard position. Twenty-five personal fouls were called, Blagrave and Veller of Indiana and Chapman of Michigan departing by this route.

INDOOR SOCCER TOURNEY UNDER WAY TONIGHT

Chicago's first "big league" indoor soccer tournament will open at the Stadium tonight. The German All-Stars will play the Jewish All-Stars in the first game at 8 o'clock. The second game will be between the Norwegians and the Swedish Americans and the third between the Carpenters and Jugo Slavs. The windup will bring together two old rivals—the Spartas and Bricklayers.

SHAKEUP OF N. U. FIVE MAY LEAVE WALTER ON BENCH

Lonborg Dissatisfied with Wildcats' Showing.

DUTCH LONBORG.

A complete shakeup of Northwestern university's basketball team, which carries with it the possible benching of Capt. Rut Walter, was indicated by Coach Dutch Lonborg yesterday as he started preparation for the game with Chicago at Bartlett gym Saturday night.

The sorry showing of the Wildcats against Purdue and Indiana has prompted the Purple leader to take steps which will inject more drive and speed into his offense. Poor passing and inability to hit the basket have been the weak points, and Lonborg feels that a few new men in the lineup will bring a reversal of form.

Capt. Walter is leading the team in scoring, but his play has not been impressive. Lonborg contemplates keeping Bergherm at center and switching Bob Lockhart from guard to forward. This sophomore is one of the fastest players on the squad, and he is expected to prove more valuable at forward, a position he played in high school.

In the event Lockhart goes to a forward position, Bert Riel will take over the running guard assignment. Either John Whelan or Joe Schwartz, two substitutes, will get the call for the other forward job. Both are small but are shifty. Bob McCarnes probably will continue at the other guard position.

Hawks Strive for 2nd Place in Tilt Tonight

The game of cross tag for second and third places the Chicago Blackhawks have been playing with the New York Rangers continues tonight when the Hawks play Boston on the Bruins' home ice. Having taken second place from the Rangers by beating them and Boston at the Stadium last week, the Hawks dropped behind the Rangers by losing to them, 4 to 1, in New York Sunday. Tonight they can displace the Rangers again by beating Boston.

The Hawks are the only team in the league which has an edge over Boston this year, having won two games from the Bruins and lost one. The Montreal Maroons and New York Americans are the only other teams to have beaten the Bruins this year, but they've been able to win only one each, while Boston has licked the Americans and Maroons twice and the Rangers three times.

RISKO WHIPS BERTAZZOLO IN CLEVELAND RING

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Johnny Risko, the rubbery baker boy of Cleveland, whipped Ricardo Bertazzolo, the Italian heavyweight champion, decisively in their 10 round slugfest here tonight. Risko clubbed the big Italian all over the ring. Bertazzolo was down twice in the seventh round, once for a count of nine and once for no count.

BOYS' JUVENILE LARGEST ENTRY FOR ICE DERBIES

Trib Meet Draws Banner List of Nominations.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The boys' juvenile Derby, open to skaters under 14 years of age, has attracted the largest entry for THE TRIBUNE'S fourteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park Saturday and Sunday. The boys' intermediate has a larger entry than usual and more names were received for the girls' junior than ever before.

This large entry is highly gratifying, as it is THE TRIBUNE'S aim to encourage the youth of the central states to take part in a healthy outdoor sport.

The entry is one of the most representative in the carnival's history. There are skaters from parks, playgrounds, universities, colleges, and high schools.

Berz Checks Entries.

All entires have been turned over to Harry Berz, chairman of the registration committee of the Western Skating association, under whose auspices the races will be decided. Berz will place the entrants in their classes and check the ages of boys and girls in the junior and juvenile races.

It has been decided to shorten the distance of the girls' junior. All qualifying and semi-final heats will be 220 yards and the final 440. Formerly the trial heats were 440 yards and the final one-half mile. The boys' juvenile also has been shortened. Trials will be 110 yards and the final 220 yards.

Fast Tracks Expected.

Two tracks will be laid out for the Sunday finals. There will be an eight lap circuit for the shorter races and a six lap track for the longer events. This should insure a fast course for all races.

Trial heats in the boys' juvenile and junior Derbies will start at 2 o'clock Saturday. All contestants must report for their numbers half an hour earlier. Sunday's program will open promptly at 2 o'clock with trial heats in the boys' intermediate Derby. Entries for the boys' juvenile and junior Derbies will appear in Saturday's issue of THE TRIBUNE and those for all other events on Sunday.

Michigan's Representative in Big 9 Flays Bulletin 23

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Prof. Ralph W. Aigler of the University of Michigan law school tonight told the university senate that bulletin 23 of the Carnegie Foundation was "wild, disappointing, and disheartening, and almost vicious."

RALPH AIGLER.

The statements were contained in Prof. Aigler's annual report to the university faculty as chairman of the board in control of athletics. Prof. Aigler also is a member of the faculty committee of the Western conference.

He charged the investigator for the foundation had employed "the methods of a prosecutor" rather than "an investigator," and that certain letters were removed from the files at the university by the investigator and not returned.

Answers Writer Charges.

Direct charges against the University of Michigan were answered by Prof. Aigler. "The charge that athletes are subsidized at Michigan in the guise of 'writers' indicates that possibly there were a great many such cases," he said, "at least a plurality of them. Yet word from Dr. Howard Savage, author of bulletin 23, is that this charge is based upon the fact that Bennie Friedman wrote an article or articles for a magazine and for a newspaper syndicate. Thus we find that the sweeping charge of subsidizing 'writers' is based upon what was done by one boy in his senior year."

Prof. Aigler said there was no charge that any alumnus or any one connected with the university had any part in procuring Friedman's contract to write the articles. Writing under present conference rules would make Friedman ineligible.

"One of the almost vicious things about the Carnegie bulletin," Prof. Aigler said, "is that in its indiscriminate use of the terms 'recruiting' and 'subsidizing' and its wild charges, all the weight of supposedly impartial scientific study has been put behind what heretofore has been merely the sensationalism of space writers.

Fail to Differentiate Charges.

"Apparently it was not the intention of the investigator to do anything other than make out a case. Instead of manifesting the attitude of an impartial and scientific investigator searching for the truth, it seems to have been his intention to try to find something as if he were a prosecutor or one engaged in writing a series of muckraking articles, upon which to hang a series of charges."

"Recruiting," he said, "covers anything from a coach making a speech to high school athletes to practices ordinarily associated with fraternity or sorority rushing or simple kidnaping.

"One of the disappointing and disheartening things about the bulletin is this failure to discriminate between the various types of help and persuasion."

Discussing the severing of athletic relations with University of Iowa by other members of the Western conference, Prof. Aigler said the faculty committee of the conference found conditions at Iowa "almost shocking," whereas Dr. Savage "found very little to complain about." He declared this was "an interesting sidelight on the accuracy of the Carnegie report."

Michigan's athletic department handled almost $1,000,000 during the twelve months ending Aug. 31, 1929, the report shows. It had a deficit of approximately $43,500. Total receipts were $945,213.68, while expenses amounted to $988,740.45. Football and hockey showed financial profits. Other sports showed losses. Total football receipts were $618,885.41.

Bezdek Steps Out as Coach at Penn State

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Retirement of Hugo Bezdek from active coaching of Penn State's football and baseball teams to assume directorship of a new school of education and athletics at the college was approved today by the college board of trustees.

HUGO BEZDEK.

Bezdek's dropping out of the coaching position was voluntary, the board announced. The grizzled veteran, with two more years to his coaching contract, stepped out in order to be better able to perform his new duties. Both changes are effective July 1.

In the Wake of the News

OUT IN IOWAY.

THE Wake was in Iowa City over the week-end to present to Capt. Willis Glassgow of Iowa the CHICAGO TRIBUNE silver football for the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team during 1929. Naturally, we talked athletics and tried to analyze the feeling toward the Big Nine which has severed athletic relations with the Hawkeyes, effective Jan. 1 last.

This feeling, as we interpreted it, was like that of the melodramas of a couple of decades ago—"Our gel has been done wrong by." Just why "our gel" was selected to be "done wrong by" is not clearly understood in Iowa City. Indignation which followed the first action by the conference, belligerency following the refusal of reinstatement, have been succeeded by bewilderment. This came after Iowa's athletic council suspended fourteen athletes as beneficiaries of a loan fund. The undergraduate mind is confused. Well, so is ours—unless Iowa considers everything else subordinate to reinstatement.

There also is a movement to raise the scholarship standard of eligibility from a passing grade, which brings a diploma, to an average requirement higher than a passing grade. This is said to have been a conference suggestion.

Meantime we are informed confidentially that the latest committee to visit Iowa City will recommend a new vote on readmission. While confused by the many issues, The Wake feels common justice demands that if Iowa IS reinstated, the athletes who benefitted by piffling amounts from an "unofficial" loan fund also should be reinstated. It is obvious their culpability, if any, was unknown to them.

We found the coaching staff asking "Where do we get off?" Athletics are disorganized because of the uncertainties. The coaches fear its influence on the incoming freshmen class of 1930. They question how long it will take to effect reorganization. This Iowa matter should be settled, one way or the other, in jig time for the direct benefit of Iowa and the indirect benefit of the conference.

The Milk Bottle's Lament.

"The world's a wonderful place to see,"
A bottle of milk once said to me.
"But I'm pushed 'neath a paper cap—
It hurts me, but who cares a rap."

"I feel myself grow strong and tall,
Expand within my prison wall,
I push myself up easily
And watch the great world greedily.

"Ah, my joy is very fleeting,
By noon, Old Sol, sends his warm greeting;
My neck grows short, I'll be, 'tis plain,
Under that paper cap again."

Do You Remember Way Back When:

The black bottle of "Rock and rye" was brought down from the top shelf of the cupboard and mother squeezed the juice from some lemons, adding sugar, plenty of hot water and a tablespoonful of rye whisky, which we were induced to drink without reluctance, then we were tucked in bed, under blankets, to "sweat out" that cold?—C. Mullen Gives Out Thursday Boxing Card

Promoter James C. Mullen has announced his complete card of boxing for his show at the Rainbo fronton Thursday night. The bill includes three eight rounders, two sixes and a four rounder.

Chuck Heffner will meet Chip Freeman; King Levinsky will contend with Johnny Freeman and Danny Delmont will box with Buster Brown in the three eight round affairs.

The two six round preliminaries will bring together Al Jerome and Jackie Stewart in the 122 pound class and Charles Retzlaff and Art Malay, heavies. Bud Hodge and Joe Lunette will open the show.

Champion Jackie Fields and Vince Dundee, who will fight in the windup at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, yesterday passed into the verbal stage of their preparations for the encounter.

Jackie also said that a victory over Vince is a definite part of his program in preparation for a trip to England where he expects to acquire the British middleweight title before midsummer.

Coon Is Dumb Like a Fox, Bob Discovers

BY BOB ECKER.

The raccoon, eagerly sought because of its valuable pelt, is generally considered a smart animal, and as soon as you put a couple of hounds on his trail in heavy timber he is apt to show that his brain is even better than you originally figured.

Our recent coon and possum hunt near Talullah, La., emphasized this characteristic. One smart old timer, that the dogs chased through the timber went into his bag of tricks and drew out the stunt of "tapping" to fool the hounds.

The Hunt Starts.

The dogs struck a cold scent in the lowlands, and after a few minutes bayed the information that they had worked it out and were getting "hotter." The hunting party sat on a log resting while the hounds sprayed the moonlit forest with their music. One minute they were fairly close and the baying and barking was louder. Then the chase would lead away from us and the dog broadcasting would become faint. Finally, we heard the racket which meant that the coon was treed.

We rushed pell mell through the forest to our excited hounds. They were under a 40-foot tree with several holes in it. Eight feet from it rose a big and very high oak. Looking at the cavities in the small tree, we were sure Mr. Coon had holed up.

Mr. Coon Disappears.

A darkey climbed the tree, ramming sticks in every hole and in general explored every possible hiding place. No coon could be found. It was baffling. We tried taking the dogs in a circle to see if they could pick up the scent. They came back to the tree.

Apparently our coon had only "tapped" it. He had jumped on it [they call it tapping in the south] and then leaped to the big tree eight feet away. He was successfully hidden far above our heads or had circled around in a maze of runs and made his getaway. In any case the dogs were completely fooled and so were the hunters.

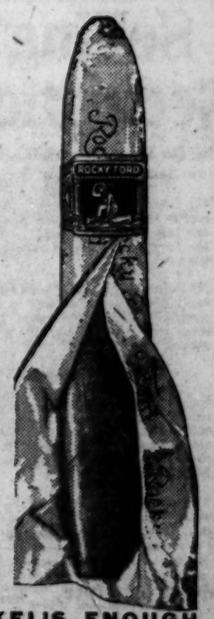
don't let the bogey man bother you Mr. Cigar Smoker

We haven't any patience with the insidious propaganda about "spit-tipped" cigars. Nor need you have . . . All modern, popular-priced cigars—like modern cigarettes—are made by scientific machinery, in clean and sanitary factories . . . The old way of sealing cigars by human saliva has not been used by reputable cigar manufacturers for twenty years . . . So you may choose any one of many good 5¢ cigars and get a clean, pure smoke . . . But may we suggest that you try ROCKY FORD? It's a mighty good cigar.



Rocky Ford

ROCKY FORD is clean as a modern loaf of baker's bread. Made in a sunlight factory . . . pride and show place of Richmond, Va. Sanitary machines cut and roll the long filler . . . and place and seal the fine Sumatra wrapper. Sanitary machines even fold ROCKY FORD in its humidor-foil . . . The first hands to touch it are yours!

S. N. Johnson & Co., manufacturers of wax prepartions for floor polishing, announce that construction is under way on two buildings at their Racine, Wis., plant which will double their manufacturing capacity. It is stated that the buildings will cost $200,000 exclusive of equipment.

One of the buildings will be a two story structure, with a four story tower which will be used for the manufacture of wax products. The other will be used for manufacturing varnish products. A feature of the latter building will be a fume recovering device which will prevent objectionable odors from getting out of the building. The Johnson company, established more than forty years ago, has plants in a number of foreign countries and branches in fourteen American cities.

Selling Securities

Why Do Some Men Sell More Securities Than Others?

(1) Salesmen differ in their Knowledge of Investment Facts. Hence some can talk more intelligently and gain the investor's confidence better than others.

(2) Salesmen differ in their ability to capitalize their knowledge so as to forcefully present their issues. Hence some can close much better than others.

More Sales

Babson Institute Training in Security Selling contains the facts so absolutely essential to success in selling securities and shows how to use these facts in a way which means—More Sales.

SAYS MORGAN IS GERMANY'S FINANCIAL RULER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 20.—"J. P. Morgan has become the financial and political dictator of Germany," opines a leading Dutch weekly, Haagsche Post, in connection with the second Hague conference now in session in the Dutch capital.

"Dr. Hilferding is dead; Dillon, Read & Co., defeated; long live Morgan!" this conservative Dutch periodical puts it. "Such is the situation we find Germany in these days. Such is the result of the long political-financial-ministerial tragedy whose last act we now are witnessing at The Hague.

"To explain more accurately: Hilferding is the ousted German minister of finance; J. P. Morgan is the big New York banker who has friendly relations in Berlin with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, and with the American reparations agent, Mr. Parker Gilbert. Dillon, Read & Co. is the less huge, but nevertheless big, New York banking firm which is a great competitor of Morgan's. Herr Hilferding needed two months ago some hundred millions as a short term loan for urgent expenses; he might have got them via Dillon, Read & Co. at 7¼ per cent.

"Dr. Schacht prevented this and forced the German government to borrow the money from German bankers, backed by the Morgan firm, at around 8 8-10 per cent. This was probably a patriotic transaction. But, whether patriotic or not, the result is: Hilferding is politically dead; the competitors are defeated, and Mr. Morgan is up on top. According to the initiated, this American thus has become the financial and political dictator of Germany."

CHAIN STORES REPORT 1930 SALES SO FAR SHOW GOOD INCREASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—Sales of chain stores in the opening weeks of January show increases over the corresponding period of 1929, according to reports received by Merrill Lynch & Co., from eleven organizations in which the company is interested. In some instances sales increases are shown by old stores alone as well as by the total stores now in operation.

McCrory stores reports an increase of 11 per cent sales of old stores in the first ten days of January, 1930, as compared with 1929. Daniel Reeves, Inc. [grocery chain], reports an increase of 11 per cent in sales of old stores for the two weeks period ended Jan. 11, 1930, over 1929. Other companies reporting are: MacMarr stores, which reports an increase in sales per store for the first week of January of about 3 per cent over 1929, and Larner stores, which reports an increase in sales of old stores of 2.1 per cent.

Dominion Stores, Ltd., reports that sales for the first week of 1930 were $451,623 with 517 stores operating compared with sales of $407,336 with 541 stores in the first week of 1929. This indicates an increase of sales per store of over 16 per cent.

Safeway stores states that business for the first ten days of 1930 was fully as good as last year on a comparative basis and National Tea reports that for the same period a good increase in business was shown.

Melville Shoe reports that sales are holding up well above a year ago.

MARKET VALUE OF STOCKS UP OVER BILLION

But Total Is Still Far Below Peak.

BY O. A. MATHER.

More than a billion dollars was added to the aggregate market values of stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange during the December rally. But even this accretion left total values nearly 25 billion dollars below the peak established on Sept. 1, 1929. These facts are shown in the monthly report issued by the New York Stock exchange yesterday.

On Jan. 2 there were 1,297 separate stock issues, with an aggregate of 1,127,632,468 shares, listed on the exchange. Their total market value was $64,707,878,131. On Dec. 2, 1929, there were 1,292 issues and 1,117,126,726 shares with a total value of $63,589,538,825. Therefore, the appreciation in value was $1,118,539,308 during December. But on Sept. 1 last year, before the market collapsed, the aggregate value of all listed stocks was $89,497,276,854, which was $24,960,398,723 below the total on Jan. 2. The average price of all listed shares was $57.38 on Jan. 2.

Total of Borrowings.

Total borrowings against stock collateral by New York exchange members stood at $8,989,510,273 on Jan. 2, which marked a decline of $27,088,496 from Dec. 2. These borrowings amounted to 6.16 per cent of the aggregate market value of all listed stocks, which compared with 6.32 per cent on Dec. 2 and 9.54 per cent on Jan. 2, 1929.

Liquidation of marketable securities and reinvestment in government obligations appeared to be going on among the banks of the country. The weekly report of the federal reserve board on the position of reporting member banks, issued yesterday, shows that the banks bought $32,000,000 of government obligations and sold $37,000,000 of other securities. Investments in government securities now stand $386,000,000 below a year ago, while holdings of other securities have declined $154,000,000.

Loans on securities receded $52,000,000 during the week ended Jan. 15 and

Charge Fox Used Film Corp. Funds in Stock Speculation

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Charges that William Fox speculated in the stock market with funds of the Fox Film corporation in a fruitless effort to raise money to meet obligations of the company and its affiliates were contained in a suit filed in federal court today for an equity receivership for the corporation. It was the second such suit to be filed in the last three days.

The plaintiff in today's suit was Mrs. Susie Dryden Kuser of Somerset county, N. J., widow of Anthony R. Kuser, one of the original Fox backers, who died last November.

Unlike Ira M. Gast of Rutherford, N. J., who filed a similar action Saturday on behalf of class A nonvoting stockholders, Mrs. Kuger owns 11,150 shares of class B, or voting, stock in her own right and controls 8,000 more as executrix of her husband's estate. She is said to control approximately a fifth interest in the corporation.

Carried Accounts, Is Claim.

She charged that until the end of last October Fox carried a number of speculative accounts both in his own name and in those of his wife and relatives and that in connection with them he employed funds of the corporation.

From July until November, she asserted, he devoted practically all of his time to the market, neglecting the Fox Film and allied companies, and when the market slump came the accounts sustained "gigantic losses." The funds were used "without the authority or due legal action of the board of directors" of either the Fox Film or Fox Theaters corporations, she said.

"In that manner," the complaint alleged, "the said William Fox has foisted upon the corporation a loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Mrs. Kuser further charged that Fox contracted to purchase English properties for twenty-five times their yearly earnings, without any personal investigation and relying solely on the seller's representations. Also, she alleged, 440,000 shares of Loew's, Inc., were purchased at $125 when the stock was selling on the open market at $70 —an overpayment of $25,000,000.

Cites Alleged Salaries.

In November, 1927, Mrs. Kuser's complaint continued, through the action of "dummy and rubber stamp directors," Fox was voted an annual salary of $150,000 by Fox Theaters corporation, his salary in the case of the Fox Film corporation was declared to be "the same amount as was received by one Zukor, the president of the Paramount Pictures corporation"—$200,000.

The petition cited the report of accountants who prepared an audit of the Fox Film corporation which showed quick assets of $6,806,000, current liabilities of $12,699,000, additional liabilities of $52,297,000, and contingent obligations of $18,000,000. The complaint also alleged on information and belief that there are outstanding liabilities of $50,000,000 maturing next April as to which no provision for payment has been made.

Issues Open Letter.

Meanwhile, in an open letter to stockholders, Mr. Fox told at length of how he had conceived a development plan which called for the expenditure of $100,000,000 and of how he afterward was injured in an automobile accident which kept him from his office until five days before the stock market crash. The bears raided the Fox securities, he said, and he became the victim of a "cleverly concocted scheme" presented to him in the form of a "friendly gesture."

Then, he continued, came a "whispering campaign of the most vicious nature," and Wall street was filled with ugly rumors. Banker friends, he said, told him privately they wanted to help him, but dared not, as it would bring upon them the enmity and resentment of the most powerful Wall street forces.

"Every sort of proposition has been made to me by every type of and kind of financial organization—first, they must make millions; second, I must put my head on the block. I am determined that I shall present my case to the square shooting people of this country, having an abiding faith that when they know the facts, they will stand by me and fight with me."

RUBBER MERGER APPROVED BY MILLER FIRM

Akron, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The board of directors of the Miller Rubber company late today, approved the offer of the B. F. Goodrich company to purchase the Miller assets for approximately $10,000,000. Both firms are in Akron.

The offer was accepted subject to necessary approval of the stockholders at a meeting called for Feb. 17.

The merger of the Goodrich and Miller interests will elevate Goodrich to second place among the rubber companies of the world, and will give Akron the two largest rubber corporations. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, is the largest firm in the industry, officials of the Goodrich company said.

Grocers Told That Chains Near Saturation Point

BY SCRUTATOR.

The chain store movement in the last dozen years has provoked a great deal of comment, most of it to the effect that the independent was being crushed, or would be within a short time.

So far as the grocery trade is concerned, it seems to be admitted that chain store groups expanded their sales faster from 1918 until the beginning of 1929 than did the independents. But 1929 told a different story, in the opinion of Carl W. Dipman, New York editor, who addressed the National Wholesale Grocers association in Chicago yesterday.

Bringing an elaborate statistical display to the subject, Mr. Dipman reaches the conclusion that chains are rapidly reaching the saturation point and are discontinuing many units such as serve small neighborhoods. The result has been that independents now are free to take over the locations the chains had. Between 7,000 and 10,000 such cases occurred last year, according to this authority.

Contrasts Expansion.

His estimate is that the independent grocers of the county expanded their business by 300 million dollars and that the chains gained a little less in dollar volume.

In percentage of volume, the chains would be going ahead a little faster on the basis of these figures than independents, but not so rapidly as in former years. Individual groceries are estimated to sell seven billion dollars' worth a year and the chains $2,900,000,000. The figures are Mr. Dipman's. The total provision bill is placed at twenty-one billions. Restaurants, confectioneries, bakeries and drug stores, etc., sell more than seven billions of this total, and markets not under other classifications three and a half billions.

It is logical to suppose that the chains will not in future be able to overcome independents as easily as they did in the past. Those who have survived so far are better able to carry on. They have become better merchandisers. That fact has been repeatedly brought up.

Moreover, some of the chains may have become so great that they will run up against the old law of diminishing returns. They may have become too large for efficient handling.

Finds Fears Subsiding.

At any rate, the one store business man is not shaking in his boots as much as he used to. He has made his own trade associations that accomplish many of the benefits of chain management. He has formed alliances with wholesalers that seem to have strengthened him.

No view that the chain store is on the down grade is correct. In fact, personal observation convinces that it is strongly entrenched. It has begun to take on some of the characteristics of single stores, just as the independent took on some of the chain's best.

New York, Jan. 20.—All was quiet on the stock exchange front today extremely so. The turnover fell below 1,700,000 shares and price changes were very largely fractional.

It was about the same dull market in every particular the street has been witnessing daily for the last fortnight or so and the close found traders in as much of a quandary as they have ever been as to the future trend of affairs. A traders' market, out and out, with the general public definitely remaining on the outside. Professionals seem inclined to wait for the

WHEAT PRICES ARE ERRATIC; CLOSE IS LOWER

Export Sales Total Over Million Bushels.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat prices fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday within a range of 1¼@1⅝c, the feature being the selling of futures here by a house that was a free buyer on Friday's break and took advantage of an early bulge in order to secure profits.

A good part of the trade otherwise was of a local character, with professionals operating to some extent through commission houses. The finish was ⅛@⅝c lower.

March wheat on the Board of Trade closed at $1.23¼, May $1.27⅛, and July $1.28⅞.

Winnipeg wheat showed strength and closed ⅛@½c higher as compared with the early close on Saturday. Liverpool gained 1@1¼d for the day with short covering the main influence, while Buenos Aires was 1½c higher and Rosario ⅝c higher.

The decline in wheat futures was in the face of exports sales of over 1,000,000 bu in all positions, including 400,000 bu hard winter taken by Portugal late Saturday, but there was no material buying of futures for seaboard accounts, and the trade as a whole was inclined to the bear side and are not inclined to follow upturns with buying orders. The reported failure of a Winnipeg house was regarded as explaining to some extent the heavy selling of futures in that market late last week.

Gulf Wheat Firm.

Sufficient demand prevailed for cash wheat at the gulf to keep the basis on hard winter there firm, but the buying was said to be largely to cover shorts. No change was shown in the basis in the leading spot markets of the west and northwest with No. 1 northern at Minneapolis holding at $1.25; the farm board loan figures the board was out with a statement suggesting that if the coöperatives desired to trade in futures, the board would probably sanction it, as they have already done so for the cotton coöperatives.

Further complications in the European wheat situation are making their appearance. Belgium is expected to permit imports of wheat only on license and will probably bar grain from countries that pay an export bounty, which may have some affect on exports from France and Germany. Italy is also considering the possibility of exporting wheat early in the season and replacing the grain later from North America. Imports by Italy so far are about half of what they were during the previous year, reflecting the record crop secured in that country in 1929.

Corn Market Narrow.

Trading in corn was largely of a local character with prices having a range of around ⅝c, the finish being easy in sympathy with wheat with net losses of ¾c. Country offerings of cash grain to arrive were small, and a canvass of the leading states made by a local house indicated that farmers would not sell unless they secured a better price.

Argentine countinues to offer corn freely abroad, and there was some talk of offerings to this country. Shipping demand was slow, and it was claimed that No. 4 yellow at Buffalo was obtainable below a parity with the same grade at Chicago. Visible supply increased 1,053,000 bu for the week, and is 13,296,000 bu, against 22,156,000 bu a year ago.

Houses with eastern connections were on the selling side of oats early, with shorts and locals the best buyers, but the finish was ¼c lower. A decrease of 564,000 bu was shown in the visible supply.

May rye showed strength, due to concentrated buying, while other futures were dull. The finish was unchanged to ⅝c lower with March showing the most decline.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Foreign demand for cash wheat was much more active with sales in all positions, including late Saturday, estimated at 1,000,000 bu or more. Portgual took 400,000 bu hard winters, while the United Kingdom and the Orient bought Manitobas. No. 3 Manitobas quoted about same price as No. 2 hard winter aboard. Local handlers sold 18,000 bu wheat, 57,000 bu corn and 68,000 bu oats to the domestic trade.

Basis on cash wheat here was firm, and better prices might be secured than the nominal quotations for choice country run grain. No. 2 red was 1@1½c under; No. 2 hard, 5@6c under and No. 1 northern, 5½@6c under May.

Choice cash corn was in demand with the basis steady to 1c higher, white showing the most strength, while poor quality light weight grain was as much as 2c lower compared with the future. Discounts as compared with May follow: No. 3 mixed, 8@9½c; yellow, 7⅞@8c; white, 4½@5c; No. 4 mixed,11@12c; yellow, 8½@11½c; white, 7@8c; No. 5 mixed,13@14½c; yellow, 10½@14½c; white, 8@10½c; No. 6 mixed, 15½@19½c; yellow, 13½@16½c; white, 12½@18½c. Cash oats basis was steady to ⅛c lower with No. 2 white, 1⅜@2c under and No. 3 white, 2½@3½c under May.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Monday: Wheat, 11 cars; corn, 372 cars; oats, 39 cars; rye, 7 cars; barley, 13 cars.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The Chicago Board of Trade will close at 1 o'clock today, out of respect for the late Reuben G. Chandler of Hulburd, Warren & Chandler, who died Jan. 19 and will be buried today. Mr. Chandler was president of the Board of Trade in 1903. He joined the Board in 1879, being one of the oldest members. He was 77 years old.

A large percentage of wheat traders are bearish, but the volume of business is largely professional and the market has no decided trend. A few specialists who have been bearish express themselves as indisposed to press the short side of all grains on breaks below the present levels and, with the uncertainty regarding what the farm board and the coöperatives will do, the disposition is to go slow. A large line of May wheat bought on Friday's break is said to have been unloaded during the day for a house with eastern and foreign connections. Until there is something new to trade on and the speculative atmosphere is clarified, sharp fluctuations in a comparitively moderate range, are expected.

A decrease of 3,624,000 bu in the visible supply of wheat is around the largest of the season so far. It compared with a loss of 3,519,000 bu last year, bringing the total down to 168,588,000 bu, or practically 38,000,000 bu more than last year.

"The more aggressive attitude of the farm board is encouraging the holders of wheat to the extent that present commercial stocks will not meet selling competition through farm marketing around the present level of prices," says Thomson & McKinnon. "At the same time, the recent break in Winnipeg has brought Canadian No. 3 northern down to a parity with our No. 2 hard and consequently may get the preference in what export business may be doing. This situation promises a continuance in what export business may be doing. This situation promises a continuance of a two-sided trading market, but we feel that the rallying tendency developed at the end of the week will extend further."

Estimated receipts at Chicago today 7,500 cattle, 34,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep.

Hog receipts yesterday at 54,000 were below normal for Monday at this season of the year, and with shipping demand brisk lightweights advanced 35@50c to the highest price levels since last September.

The extreme top for 141 lb averages soared to $10.65, highest for January in three years and $1.50 above the corresponding day in 1929. Medium and weighty hogs were slower to sell, but with larger houses entering the market in midsession with fair sized orders for butchers at the advance, there was a good clearance for 250@350 lb averages also at 10@15c higher prices. Only 4,000 remained at the close.

Cattle Irregular.

There was a flashy early market for cattle at 25@50c higher prices when yesterday's receipts were posted at 11,000, the smallest Monday run since last August.

Top yearlings reached $16.00, while $14.75 was paid for cattle averaging 1,332 lbs soon after the opening. However trading slowed down considerably as soon as urgent orders had been filled, and larger operators waited until practically all of the gain had been erased before placing orders on the market.

The finish was barely steady with the close of last week. Cows and heifers scored gains of 25c at the opening, but closed steady. Calves advanced 25@50c. Stockers and feeders were scarce and stronger.

Lambs Recover Loss.

The lamb market scored a comeback on yesterday's disappointingly small supply of 15,000, which compares with 25,693 the previous Monday and with 22,741 a year ago.

Prices ruled strong to 25c higher, some top sales uncovering gains of as much as 35c late in the day. The extreme top jumped 35c at $14.25, while bulk of handy weights sold to packers at $13.75@13.90, with a few of the best at $14.00. Yearlings were firm and prime handy weights sold at $12.00. Texas aged wethers were bought at $7.85 and fed western aged ewes at $7.25.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,500 cattle, 34,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep, against 7,412 cattle, 27,268 hogs and 14,026 sheep the previous Tuesday and 6,932 cattle, 44,909 hogs and 14,875 sheep a year ago.

CHICAGO STOCK TRADING QUIET; PRICES ARE FIRM

Auburn Reports Net Income of $3,603,200.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Chicago stocks dozed peacefully yesterday, reviving at intervals to some particular bit of news but settling back into a drowsy state when the effect had worn off. Total transactions amounted to 138,600 shares and prices, although firm, were confined within a narrow margin.

Corporation Securities moved ahead 2 points though it had no news stimulant to help it along. The rest of the investment issues stayed in the fraction class.

The Houdaille Hershey issues were the center of what interest there was shown in the automotive stocks. The B stocks advanced an even point, while the A issue had 1⅜ to its credit at the end of the session.

Equals $21.23 a Share.

Auburn dropped two points, recovered the loss and finished unchanged. The formal report of the Auburn company released last night shows net income for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30 amounted to $3,603,200, equal to $21.23 a share on the 169,686 shares of capital stock outstanding. Income in the previous year totaled $1,523,290 or $10.77 on the 141,450 shares then outstanding.

The balance sheet of the company as of Nov. 30 shows current assets of $13,326,865 against current liabilities of $3,295,922. In a letter accompanying the report, President E. L. Cord states that last year was the best in the history of the firm by a wide margin and points with particular approval to improvements in the dealer and distributing organization of the company.

Grigsby was the most active stock on the board, but did not succeed in recovering any of the loss suffered last week. On a turnover of nearly 29,000 shares the stock rose to 15, dipped below 14 and closed unchanged at 14¼. News of additional testimony before the senate committee by a Grigsby official on the patent situation in the radio industry seemed to have little influence on the action of the stock. Atlas Stores on light trade closed up 1¼.

Du Pont Pipe Line Interest.

In the general list Winton Engine and Missouri Kansas Pipe Line showed small gains while North American Car slipped a point to 38¾. Swift & Co. dropped three points on sales of less than 300 shares.

Entrance of the Du Pont interests of Delaware into the Missouri Kansas Pipe Line company was revealed yesterday with the announcement that Francis I. du Pont had been elected a director of the firm. In announcing the election, Frank P. Parish, president of the company, stated that an important expansion program is being planned by the firm details of which will be made public shortly. The company distributes natural gas in four middle western states and recently revealed plans for entrance into the Indiana field.

BUYS INDEX FIRM.

Remington Rand, Inc., has bought Aluminum Index company, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America.

New England Power Association

(A Massachusetts Voluntary Association)

5½% Gold Debentures

Due December 1, 1954

Price 95 and Interest, Yielding 5.88 Per Cent

The Association agrees to pay interest without deduction for any Federal Income Tax up to 2%

The following information is taken from official sources:

New England Power Association is the holding and financing vehicle for the properties comprising the New England Power System located in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut. These properties constitute the largest power system in the New England States. Either directly or through contracts with local distributing companies, the System serves over 250 communities having a population in excess of 2,500,000. Electric energy is, also, sold by the System in large blocks under long term contracts to many prominent industrial concerns.

Power is generated in eleven hydro-electric plants and eight steam plants and, in addition, is purchased from other companies in southern New England and New York State. Artificial gas is produced and distributed by the System, and electric railway and bus transportation is furnished to Providence and nearby communities in Rhode Island.

As officially reported for the twelve months ended November 30, 1929, consolidated earnings of the Association and its subsidiaries computed as provided in the Indenture (all on a twelve months' basis with deductions to exclude net earnings of subsidiaries accrued prior to acquisition) without reflecting benefits to be derived from the proceeds of this financing, were: gross earnings, including other income, $40,164,072; consolidated net earnings, $18,149,799 or over 2.4 times the combined total ($7,385,824) of interest on the debentures (including this issue) and annual interest and dividends on subsidiaries' bonds and preferred stocks.

The subsidiaries have bonds and shares held by the public amounting to about $99,000,000 (as explained in the circular). The $50,000,000 of debentures, including this issue, are followed by preferred and common shares which according to quotations at January 16, 1930 have a market value of over $143,000,000.

We recommend these debentures for investment and shall be pleased to send circulars describing the issue in detail market to assume a more positive position.

Such news as came to hand over the week-end recess was ignored by both factions. Money continued in ample supply, with the call rate dropping again to 4 per cent after renewing half a point higher and as usual funds were available on the outside at even easier rates.

Small Gains Predominate.

What bullish activity the day brought forth were confined to the tobacco shares, amusements, a few food stocks and specialties with a promising outlook in face of the current uncertainty over business. The bear party made its customary attempts to dislodge stocks through pressing down some of the leaders, notably Steel, but did not allow zeal to cost them any great sums and their activities mainly came to naught. Small gains predominated in the final figures.

Buying in the tobacco stocks was quite lively at times and served to lift the leaders of the group 1 to 2 points. Wall street is looking for a general increase in the wholesale price of cigarets in the near future and naturally companies having the largest cigaret production are bound to feel the benefits of the restoration of prices for their wares. Lending added incentive to the buying side so far as American Tobacco is concerned is the professed intention of the board of that corporation to split the stock and say the equivalent of a higher dividend on the new shares some time this year.

Neglect Rail Issues.

Rails were neglected. There was little incentive to push the group pending the December earnings reports which are expected to reflect the business recession at the year end.

Another statement attributed to the lawyer for the stockholders' committee on the Fox receivership had the usual effect of pressing the price of this stock down. These alleged statements of opinion by the committee have come frequently of late, now affirming, now denying, this or that action on receivership matters until the trading element is beginning to wonder what it's all about, anyhow. Other amusement shares were mostly higher, Warner Brothers spurting more than a point.

Disappointed in Market.

Wall street is frank in expressing its keen disappointment with the action of the market thus far during the month. Turning into the new year it had been confidently expected that a higher market would develop, particularly in view of the heavy reinvestment demand which was looked for to assert itself in consequence of the record breaking corporate disbursements sent out over the year end.

Thus far the stock market has received little or no impetus from that direction. On the contrary, it appears that the bond market has derived whatever benefits has developed from the procedure of reinvestment of funds so received. Naturally the street would like to be bullish but the action of the market is not such as would encourage any broad attempt at bullish speculation for the present.

JEWEL TEA CO. WILL MANAGE CLUB ALUMINUM

Jewel Tea company has entered into a contract with the Club Aluminum Utensil company to provide executive management to the company for a period of three years.

The Club Aluminum got into difficulties last June when the pool which was operating the stock on the Chicago stock exchange was forced to liquidate hurriedly and the stock of the company experienced a drastic slump.

Under the new arrangement, Herbert J. Taylor, vice president of Jewel Tea, becomes president of the utensil company, and William A. Burnette, formerly president, becomes chairman of the board. The stock exchange committee, which was appointed after the collapse of the stock, in which trading was temporarily suspended, is understood to have options on 100,000 shares of the stock to Jewel Tea under the contract. While assuming no debt obligations of the company, Jewel will be in a position to control the company by exercise of the option.

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thornton to marry him. She agrees but not very graciously. When she hears that he has just lost his job she scolds him and calls him a playboy. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him that he will never inherit the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that since he has lost one job after another he will have to double five thousand dollars in thirty days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this to Barbara and she offers to give him five thousand to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells her he is going out to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Blake, who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying good-by in Utah John Andrew tells Anne that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

Arrived in San Francisco, John Andrew meets an old school friend, Peter Merriam, on the street. Pete is selling Mercury cars and tries to sell one to John Andrew. They go for a trial spin and with John Andrew at the wheel have a slight smashup. In order to keep Pete from losing his job John Andrew buys the custom built roadster for $4,980. He also gives all but a hundred dollars of his expense money to an old man with an invention without asking what the machine is. He drives to Los Angeles in the Mercury and sees Anne at the Consolidated Studio where she is being tried out. He makes an appointment to take her to dinner. Before starting out he looks at the old man's plans and learns they are for a noiseless camera. He sells the patent rights to Consolidated for forty-five thousand, the money to be turned over to him on the receipt of the signature of Blake, the inventor.

In the meantime the hotel people become suspicious of John Andrew and ask him to pay his bill. He decides to pawn some belongings. He receives a telegram from the Mercury attorney asking for five hundred additional or lose the contract. He tries to sell the Mercury and offers it for two thousand dollars. Before the deal is completed he is arrested by order of the Mercury motors of San Francisco. Their attorney calls on him at the jail.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII.

A PAINFUL MATTER.

John Andrew ceased being the inmate of cell 214, headed for the state penitentiary at San Quentin; he said shortly to the attorney, "Leave out how you feel. What is it that you wish to say?"

"This is a very painful matter, I admit," the attorney stated.

"I've found it so," Kellogg agreed.

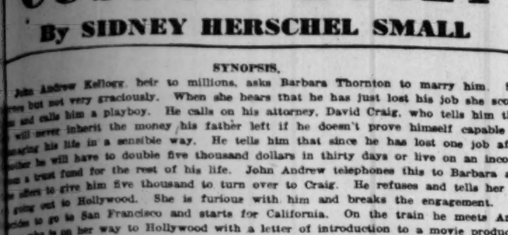
"Yes, I feared you might feel that way, sir; I so informed my client over the long distance telephone. But there have been no bones broken ——"

"What's it all about?" Fitzgerald put in. "Kellogg's right; say what you're going to say, and get it over with."

The Mercury Motors attorney cleared his throat; Anne, eyes wide, watched the charm dangling across his chest as it rose and fell; Fitzgerald leaned forward in his chair; only John Andrew and Blue Serge [one knowing what would come, and the other not caring] were at all at ease. "Let me state the case," Brockhurst said. "If I err, Mr. Kellogg, you must correct me. A few days ago you selected a Mercury roadster in San Francisco, and purchased it from my clients, tendering your check for the entire price in settlement. The check was on a New York bank. My client, before the machine was turned over to you, telegraphed the bank, and were informed that you had sufficient funds available to meet the check. Am I correct?"

John Andrew nodded.

"Very well. You took possession of the automobile, and drove immediately here. This morning you went to another automobile company and offered to sell the Mercury for considerably less than you paid for it. Naturally, this company got in touch with my client, lest there be any reason why they should not avail themselves of the opportunity to secure a bargain. Now—I am frank with you, sir, since there is nothing else to do, as I have already explained to my client; I am serving them best by stating the matter without evasion; now, Mercury Motors became alarmed. They felt that something was wrong. No one buys a car for five thousand and sells it a day or so later for two, unless [they thought] fraud has been committed. After a conference in San Francisco—hurried, I fear, and without consulting an attorney—it was decided that, while the money was in the bank when the wire was sent, an accomplice of yours drew it out before the check could be presented for payment, a common enough performance. Why, just last week, in a case ——"



"Hersing deputy sheriffs is no crime." Kellogg stopped him.

"Stick to this one," Kellogg advised; he again tried to catch Anne's eye.

"Summing up, the Mercury management—and you must admit the circumstances were at least suspicious, and especially so since I understand that some salesman in their organization, who was supposed to have known you in the east, left their employ immediately after the sale—summing up, they believed they had been defrauded of an expensive machine, and so swore a complaint in San Francisco, which was wired here for service, and ——"

"I went to jail," John Andrew said.

"We got orders to let you go," Blue Serge said; "but we also got orders to send your stuff back t' th' Poinsettia, where you got a bill waitin'."

"Might I suggest, sir, that Mercury Motors, through myself, will gladly—arrange that this hotel account be paid? You see ——"

"He's afraid you'll sue for false arrest," Fitzgerald interrupted. "You've got 'im in a hole, old man."

"I will not beat about the bush," Brockhurst agreed. "Mercury Motors is in a serious position——"

"Nothing like mine was," John Andrew told him thoughtfully.

"And we only hope, sir, that you will accept our sincere apologies, and ——"

"Not one for fifty thousand," the engineer said, pulling a cigaret from his pocket, and, finding that it was broken, asking Kellogg for one.

"They stripped me here," John Andrew grinned. "If it hadn't been for little Mexican in my cell—Mr. Brockhurst, let's get's this clear. I suppose you could sue you; probably. it would teach the Mercury people one of these things they call lessons. But I don't believe in lessons; I never did." He stopped, and found that Anne was watching him; continuing in the same dry tone, he said, "I've a Japanese valet"—eyes holding the girl's—"who says that we worry a great deal about what we ought to do, but in the end we do what we are compelled, and that we cannot keep our silly fingers out of the pot the gods cook for us."

The attorney said, "I'm afraid I don't quite catch your meaning, sir."

"Just a hazy notion of mine. For the last week things have happened. I've tried to make 'em work out one way, they took pleasure in rising and smiting me—hard. So I'm not going to make any decision about it, although possibly—say, Fitz, does that offer of five hundred still stand? Can sell the car now, you know, or I can get the five hundred from Mr. Brockhurst if I release his client from any further obligations."

"I offered it, didn't I?"

"That's what I thought. If it's any satisfaction to you"—talking to the engineer, but trying for Anne's eyes again—"you're the first man I ever received money from, so far as I can remember; it's usually been the other way." He paused, and then went on, facing the attorney, "There's a little Mexican in cell 214. I don't know if he's innocent or guilty, but right here and now your firm is appointed his counsel. See that he gets a square deal, and charge it to Mercury Motors. Let him have money for cigarets and things like that. I'm not going to sue, but you can let your client sweat."

There was silence; the flush on Anne's face had deepened, but she said nothing; Blue Serge spoke first.

"We treated Kellogg good," he said. "If we had got tough with him, we'd have it in for you, Mr. Brockhurst. But I always says ——"

"Still casting rays of sunshine around, aren't you?" John Andrew asked. "I'll never forget you—throw back your coat, and let the lady see what a pretty badge you wear."

"Say ——"

"Hersing deputy sheriffs is no crime," Kellogg stopped him. "Show us the way out of here, James."

"It's th' other dep'ty who's called Jim ——"

John Andrew grinned maliciously, but said nothing more. As they left the room Kellogg tried to take Anne's arm, but she drew it tightly against her side, and walked rapidly ahead of him.

"I'll just telephone the Poinsettia, Mr. Kellogg," Brockhurst said, "and have your bill sent to us——"

"Just tell them that if I don't pay it, you will," Kellogg requested. "And—where's Miss Ames going?"

"She had us telephone for a cab," an attendant, who had taken Kellogg's weight for everything John Andrew had earlier been deprived of; "I guess she's where she went to take it, huh?"

John Andrew ran along the corridor, took a wrong turn, asked the way, and reached the entrance; Anne was stepping into a gaily painted taxi. If she heard his shout she gave no sign, but, the door closing behind her and the driver jumping to his seat, stared straight ahead.

"I'll go along with you," John Andrew said. "Don't blame you for not wanting to hang around a jail any longer, but ——"

"Drive to the address I gave you," Anne Ames said distinctly; the cab, starting with a jerk, left Kellogg standing on the curb.

Fitzgerald had followed John Andrew to the street: "It's getting along in the day," the engineer said, as if he had seen nothing; "how about you and me hoisting one or two before dinner? I know a pretty good place; it's rough gin, but it only cripples and doesn't kill outright ——"

"Did you see what happened?" John Andrew demanded. "Me with a hot iron in my hand, and—off she went, just like that! What'd I do now? I expected her to bow her head in shame for havin' suspected me, but instead ——"

"That's why I'm single," said the engineer.

Good morning!

This, I imagine, would come under the head of "sophisticated drawing room drama." It details the case of the proud and scornful Mrs. Hector Lee, who, because of circumstantial evidence, finds herself in a peck of trouble—and laughs.

The picture, adapted from the play by Alfred Sutro, is entertaining, elegantly staged and dressed, and quite suspenseful. But it is not entirely convincing. The lady's sense of humor is a bit baffling. One can understand her getting a chuckle out of the hefty life guard whose rescue of her fair self from drowning starts the ball of c. e. rolling. One understands her ironic mirth over her subjugation of her husband's attorney. But her cachinnations in the courtroom strike a false note and cause you to turn upon her the eyes of a physician. You are quite certain at the moment that her laughter is a disease—like St. Vitus' dance, or rickets. If so, cruel and tragic indeed that it should be held against her. Save your sympathy.

Then, the conduct of Mrs. Lee's best friend with a reporter from a tabloid causes a mental question mark to loom large. The actions of the reporter also come under the head—Terrible If True. As for the last scenes in the picture—you just don't believe a word of them.

Otherwise, the film has been thoughtfully directed and runs smoothly. The supporting cast satisfies, excepting the lady who plays the best friend and Mr. Raymond Walburn, who impersonates Hector Lee. The latter makes his character too much of a sap, even for the purposes of satire.

Mr. Brook is very fine as the legal light who sees the error of his ways and mends them. Stern, upright, relentless, handsome—tender and true. Ah, what a man! When he makes amends he MAKES AMENDS! Herbert Druce is splendid as a certain Mr. Playgate.

"The Laughing Lady" has plenty of action and some decidedly humorous situations. It is so good that it SHOULD have been better.

KIND—Serio-comic mystery drama.
QUALITY—Better than some.
DIRECTION—Pretty good.
PHOTOGRAPHY—Good.
SUSPENSE—Some.
SYNCHRONIZATION—Satisfactory.
STORY—Killings occur in a mysterious old house full of antiques and occupied by a father and daughter. Enter the police, a newspaper reporter, etc., etc. A weird butler and dumb officer of the law are prominent in the complications that ensue.
REMARKS—The intent to baffle is too apparent. You can almost hear the director think, "NOW what shall I do to make 'em guess?" The presence of one lean, dark gentleman is not satisfactorily explained to you. Or, maybe I missed something. I refer to the first outsider who comes dashing in shortly after Mr. James Godfrey has received his valuable cabinet. See if YOU think he's properly accounted for at the roll call. The piece is full of action and a bit scary in spots.

See you tomorrow.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Vella Beard, Kalamazoo, Mich., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What was your ambition as a child and how near have you come to realizing it?

The Answers.

George Lunter, 4506 South Fairfield avenue, accountant—I wanted to be a bookkeeper. I became one. Then I became an accountant, which is a step higher. And now I am studying public accounting and in about two years I hope to be both an authorized and a competent C. P. A.

Mrs. Walter Seyffert, 7828 South Winchester avenue, housewife — My ambition was to get married and have a family. I got married and I have a wonderful family. Needless to say, I am perfectly contented. Some women may find professional life alluring, and it may be; but a perfectly happy home is beyond professionalism, beyond price.

Elbert Oliver, 2615 Cortland street, switchman—My ambition was to be a transportation manager on a railroad. When I was 2½ years old I began hanging around railroad tracks watching the trains go by. I always wanted to be more than a railroad conductor; I wanted to be an overseer of others.

Miss Mary Dibbell, 701 North Michigan avenue, stenographer—I don't know what my ambitions were as a child; I don't believe I had any. Looking at it analytically, as a child I must have lived entirely in the present, finding each moment sufficient unto itself. Later on I had ambitions, which were not realized.

David Schwartz, 3019 Logan boulevard, printer—My one ambition was to be a physician. I am very far from being a physician. My parents died when I was a baby and I never was able to stand the expense of a college and medical course. And I still think I should be a physician.

U. S. History in 500 Words Stirs Experts

Wonder Even if Coolidge Can Do It.

Historians, stirred to comment by THE TRIBUNE'S contest to produce a comprehensive history of the United States in 500 words, continued yesterday to challenge, by their varying degrees of skepticism, the ability of TRIBUNE readers to write such a history.

Not only did they regard with doubt that any TRIBUNE reader could write the story of America in 500 words, but they were equally skeptical of ex-President Coolidge's ability to perform the task satisfactorily. It was the report that Mr. Coolidge is preparing the history, to be engraved on the Mount Rushmore memorial, which prompted THE TRIBUNE to offer its readers an opportunity to attempt the project and compete for prizes totaling $2,100 for the ten best histories.

Two Northwestern university historians, both well known in the field of American history and authors of several historical works, yesterday gave their opinions of the feasibility of the project which Mr. Coolidge has undertaken and which you, too, are invited to undertake.

James A. James, dean of the graduate school and professor of United States history at the university, expressed his opinion of the feasibility of the 500 word history and the proper method of approach as follows:

"I don't think it is possible. I do not know how Mr. Coolidge is going about the task. I thought it over and cannot see how American history, as we know it, could be boiled down to 500 words. One might, in that number of words, treat of some such subject as America's contribution to civilization or some other special phase, but a history of the United States, in a broader sense, I am convinced, will demand more than 500 words."

Isaace J. Cox, professor of history and the author of several histories dealing with Latin-America and with early exploration in America, was a little more favorable to the idea of a 500 word history. He gave his opinion of how it might be done.

"That is an extremely difficult task but I wish Mr. Coolidge luck," Prof. Cox said. "Of course, one man's interpretation of a series of particular events might fit into the 500 word limit. He might, for instance, write about a series of outstanding men in American history from John Winthrop to Calvin Coolidge, or treat of the economic development of the United States in 500 words."

The opinions of Prof. James and Prof. Cox coincided with those of Prof. William Edward Dodd and Prof. Marcus W. Jernegan of the University of Chicago, expressed on Sunday. Two of them say that you can't write a history of the United States in 500 words; two of them say that you may, but they doubt it. What do you think? If you can write it, here's your chance to win $1,000.

The contest is open to all readers of THE TRIBUNE except employés and members of their families. The only requirement is that you tell in some manner, to be determined by yourself, the history of the United States. Whether it is an interpretative essay, a commentary on some phase of history, a recital of important events, or a portrayal of American men from colonial days to the present, is left to the contestant, so long as he keeps his history within 500 words. All entries must be in the Tribune office by midnight of Feb. 15, 1930. Address manuscripts to History Editor, THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Square, Chicago.

Song-and-dance farce, in two acts, based by William Anthony McGuire on Owen Davis' comic piece named "The Nervous Wreck": rimes by Gus Kahn, and tunes by Walter Donaldson: made known in Chicago (by F. Ziegfeld) January 20, 1930, in the Illinois Theater, with this cast:

MR. ZIEGFELD and his associates in prose, poetry, music, pigmentations, and choreography have taken "The Nervous Wreck," which was Chicago fun just six years ago, and have made it over so that you wouldn't know the old thing. It wasn't a bad farce when new, although its fun was largely that of the hypochondriac in "A Trip to Chinatown"; and what is left of it is, perhaps, just as funny as the whole piece was in 1924, and possesses the additional and desirable quality of being a good conveyance for Mr. Cantor. It is called "Whoopee" for no better reason than the title-word was popular slang a year ago.

As to Eddie the Cantor, he is about as always—alert, eager, fleet, expert, and really funny. He says what he pleases and does what he pleases; and neither what he says nor what he does is invariably marked by propriety. No other jester in our theaters is so bold and so reckless with words and gestures as he is. Hearing and seeing him again in "Whoopee," my mind went back some months to a jest in Life. "Is he broad-minded," asked one girl of another, who replied: "Yes, indeed! He thinks of nothing else." Nor does Mr. Cantor, seemingly. Expostulation would, doubtless, bring the retort that not only does he get away with it, but that also he is become rich. At least, he was, until the recent flurry in stocks and bonds, said to be rich. Hear him talk about it, and you get the idea that all the wiped-out values belonged to him before the Bears made their raids. Indeed Mr. Cantor talks so much about the stock-market that I'm about convinced he didn't lose a dollar.

Other topics engage him, however. Thus, he interprets Mr. Hoover's recent utterances and writings to mean that, "after ten years, Prohibition should have a trial." He quotes from his little volume called "Caught Short"—or, maybe, "Caught Short" quotes from "Whoopee"; but the jests still have a measure of topical appeal. He sings at intervals; and it is late in the day to tell that Mr. Cantor has the trick of putting a song through to the audience.

All the persons named above and many more are used in telling the tale or in decorating its progress; and the whole dido is a good Ziegfeld show. Of the star's assistants, the most ingratiating is Miss Reade; and she is at her best when, with a quartet of men, she sings "Come West, Little Girl—Come West!" 'Tis a good song. There are other good songs; and there is an abundance of good and fresh dancing. The girls of the line-ups glorify Mr. Ziegfeld; and Mr. Urban has contributed some of his loveliest paintings to make a spectacle of elegance.

News-Notes of the Stage.

Mr. Leiber revived "King Lear" last night, taking up the title-rôle, it is said, the first time. The tragedy is the last of the ten plays in his program of revivals for this season.

Miss Constance Collier and her English associates will tonight give the American premiere of "The Matriarch" in the Princess. They devoted last night to a dress-rehearsal under Frank Vernon, who, the Dramatic League of Chicago explains, helped G. B. Stern to arrange material from her famous novel into the scenario for the play.

High Schools' Singers Give Spirited Contest

With Honors for Senn, Roosevelt and Others.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Comparing high school singing of last night with what it used to be not so many years ago, there would seem to have been a marked improvement. The senior high school glee clubs held their final competitive contest at Orchestra hall last night, with groups of various sizes, boys' clubs, girls' clubs, mixed clubs all appearing under the batons of some fifteen directors, and with generally heightened artistic average.

Sometimes there was a tone indicating more practice in the cheering section than in the music studio, but more often it had been refined down to mellowness, at times even of exquisite beauty. Wherefore results appeared to be up to the directors quite as much as to the singers.

Each group sang two songs, a contest number according to the classification of the club and a chosen song. When Herman Devries, Vittorio Trevisan and Frank Waller, the judges, had finished marking and adding up the marks, the results were thus announced:

Mixed chorus of over 100 singers: Senn with 400 singers tied with Roosevelt with 200. Both will be awarded shields as trophies.

Mixed chorus of less than 100: Morgan Park was awarded first place, Harrison and Austin being tied for second.

Girls' glee clubs of over thirty-six: Here two clubs were entered from Lindblom. That directed by LeRoy Wetzel took first place and that by Esther Goetz second. Phillips and Marshall tied for third.

Boys' glee clubs of more than thirty-six: Again two Lindblom entries were at the top, directed by Catherine M. Taheny and LeRoy Wetzel respectively. Lane was third.

Girls' glee clubs of less than thirty-six: Calumet, first; Waller, second.; and boys' glee clubs of less than thirty-six: Morgan Park, first; Marshall, second, and Harrison, third.

Alexander Tansman, composer, conductor, and pianist, returned to present another program of his own compositions last night, this time appearing at the Cordon club under the auspices of Pro-Musica, Inc. Having presented orchestral music on his other appearances with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, his program last night was partly piano music played by himself, partly chamber music in which he had the assistance of the Amy Neill String quartet, and partly songs sung by Nita Obrassova, soprano.

His idiom is much the same, whether for a few instruments or many. He is a modernist, and seemingly deliberately so. A number of his effects sound like the result of study rather than inspiration. There were pleasant passages here and there, not always strikingly original, there were original passages elsewhere, not always strikingly pleasant. In any event, any composer must be judged by what actual music he can release. The fact of being old school or modernist is purely a matter of the technic of expression. Musical inspiration is far more important.

The committee advising with Mr. Stock in the selection of a pianist to appear with the Chicago Symphony orchestra March 21-22 has established the following set of rules:

1. Applicants must live within fifty miles of Orchestra hall.
2. They must have had at least three public appearances, one of which must have been with orchestra.
3. They must be between the ages of eighteen and thirty years.
4. They must have prepared at least one American composition with orchestra, any modern work with orchestra, and any of the classics with orchestra.

This is not a contest, and Mr. Stock will make the final decision, reserving, however, the right to reject all entrants if a sufficiently high standard of performance is not shown. Application blanks may be had upon application to Henry E. Voegeli, the manager of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, at Orchestra hall.

Van Veen Paintings on Show Here at the Roullier Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Stuyvesant Van Veen, who probably is youngest painter to be admitted by jury to the Carnegie international exhibition, is now showing a group of drawings at the Roullier galleries. Van Veen is just 19 years old and last fall having accomplished two paintings on a commission and discovering one too large for the space it was to fill, shipped the white elephant [really a magnificent painting of New York] to Pittsburgh. It was accepted, a not at all usual result of similar action on the part of other aspirants.

The drawings are few in number, but important as showing the range of the versatile Mr. Van Veen's genius. There is a delicate and fine [if a little thin] transcription of the Thorndike Hilton chapel of the University of Chicago. There is delicacy and gentle feeling in "St. Mark's of the Bowery" and "The Church of Heavenly Rest," a name which in itself brings peace.

Far different in substance and emphasis are the clever character sketches, "North Shore" [the colored washerwoman sleep will be a familiar figure to many of us] and "Subway Conversation," in which a girl and man converse by touch, foot and hand, substituting for vocal chords. "Blackie" is a figure study, a back, very well done and "Peggy" is another nude of good modeling and well muscled. Van Veen does not forget that bones underlie the flesh.

"The Round Table" is a clever scene in Greenwich village where young men and girls converse in smoky atmosphere of all the wonders of the world and reduce them to "blah" at will. A street scene in New York is a pattern of shapes and another pattern drawing is the modernism of planes and surfaces; the view of skyscrapers and harbor is again New York, aspiring, big, towering.

The exhibit will remain on view until Feb. 1. Only once has the young artist made a false move. Those who sit behind Stock from Friday to Friday will never admit a grain of truth in the caricature Van Veen submits. Neither players nor leader are so wild in their manners; a jazz band is more in keeping with the energy he has bestowed upon Stock's and his confreres' arms.

ENGAGED

MISS NORMA J. BETTCHER.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Bettcher of 6252 Lakewood avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Norma Jane, to Gordon Bamberger, son of Mrs. Edith Bamberger of 1039 Hollywood avenue.

The Hoosier Salon jury met yesterday to judge the pictures for the Sixth Annual Hoosier Salon that will open next Saturday in the Marshall Field galleries. Rolf Stoll, a member of the faculty of the Cleveland museum and a well known artist, substituted for Henry G. Keller, who was unable to be present. Mrs. Lucy Perkins Ripley replaced Miss Brenda Putnam, ill in New York.

Mrs. Ripley was well fitted for the part she played in the judging, as she has had long experience in stone carving; particularly does she know Indiana limestone, in which medium a number of pieces of sculpture for the exhibit were executed.

The other members of the jury included Claude Buck, Otto Hake, Mrs. Bertha E. Jaques, and James Topping; the lay members were Alexander F. Banks, Hoyt King, and Mrs. James L. Sayler.

Mrs. Estella M. King is chairman of the Hoosier Salon Patrons' association.

Feminine Darling Still Outranks Her Sophisticated Sister

BY DORIS BLAKE.

For girls may come and girls may go—but there's one type that goes on forever with men. We had our flapper exhibits and we had our "pep" exhibitionists [and still have them] and we had and still have the girls who are referred to as awfully good sports, and there are the independents, the strong willed and the strong minded, the athletic girls, and so on and so on.

But the one whose appeal is never lost to men is the one hundred per cent feminine darling, who may be scorned by her sisters of the independent school and laughed at for her kindergarten wiles by the girls who play a straight-from-the-shoulder method of attack with men.

This one hundred per cent feminine darling is made up of brains—and don't forget it—brains enough to be all femme to all men, which is brains enough for any woman to have. To begin with, her person is described by that word that has no synonym of stronger appeal—dainty. You know instinctively that every small detail of hygiene is meticulously attended to; that no soiled shoulder straps, say, would ever mar her picture.

A taunting bit of perfume helps register her case with the other sex. She is, in a manner of speaking, a yes-man. Not servilely so, but the spotlight she can generously subscribe to the gentleman whose interest is her concern. She does not know too much about sex. It is not one of her favorite topics. She does not know too much about the ugly side of life. Sophisticated remarks are discarded as unbecoming. Sophisticated stories are not her forte.

She does not smoke like a chimney. No man can go whispering among his fellow men that she carries her liquor badly or well. Married men belong to their wives, so far as she is concerned. Whether she is as innocent as she acts is not so important as that she permits men to go on believing there are sweet, innocent dears still left in the world. Also, that man is still a pretty important being.

She is no nit-wit, this aim-to-please young lady. In fact, she is just one of the brightest little girls the sex may boast.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Boy Friend Banned.

"Dear Miss Blake: What would you do if you loved a boy who loved you and your parents objected to you seeing him? Boots."

I'd find out why my parents objected and then try to overcome that objection.

Fiance's Answer.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm engaged. If people ask my fiancé when he is to be married, his answer is, 'I haven't any money.' But he told me he has enough, and I'm sure, 'cause I saw his bankbook. ANNA."

He's evading the issue, but he should use some other argument, as a young man doesn't become engaged until he has money saved toward a home.

Always tasty always pure always good GULDEN'S Mustard

Again?

Periodically she suffered; expected to; was virtually an invalid certain days of every month. Then a trained nurse told her the story of Midol. A most marvelous medicine—not a narcotic—that actually ends such pain. Today the woman who has learned the use of Midol regards it all merely an incident! A harmless little tablet acting directly on the organs affected; in five to seven minutes not a twinge of pain remains! Midol is fifty cents, metal case.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

"Mothers Should Try to Seem Youthful as Their Daughters"

Kansas City, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The well-coiffeured mother and daughter of 1930 were presented at the convention of the National Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' association here tonight.

Both had bobbed hair, the mother's rather long on the sides and close at the back, making it difficult to ascertain from a front view whether the hair was long or short.

Daughter's hair was shoulder-length, soft-waved with ringlets curling here and there and a coil at the nape of the neck caught up in little puffs—one of several styles with which youth can experiment.

"Older women are keeping their hair short in the hope of retaining the illusion of youth," observed one coiffeur, "but youth is daring and can afford to be picturesque, coy, quaint, or any other mood which it chooses to express."

The youthful sleekly bobbed hair of 1930 may be parted any way—diagonally, zig-zag, right or left or middle.

Church Group Plans International Session to Boost Good Will

Congregational leaders from every section of the country meeting in executive sessions yesterday at the Hotel Sherman laid plans for their international conclave at Bournemouth, England, July 1 to 13. Such meetings of the members of the denomination are held every ten years. It is estimated by leaders that 1,200 American members of the church will attend. Moderator Fred B. Smith of the national council stated that the emphasis of the meeting in July will be international good will. He stated that he hoped it would help to bring about international coöperation in political and religious subjects among Congregationalists.

It was urged that Congregational churches throughout the United States observe the 300th anniversary of the coming of the first Puritans to America, and the founding of Massachusetts Bay colony in 1630.

"The Puritans of Massachusetts Bay and Pilgrims of Plymouth together laid the foundation for a God fearing civic life," said a resolution adopted.

Last night, speaking before the Chicago Congregational club at a dinner in the Union League club, Dr. Smith said:

"I believe that church is an outlaw which will make its year of activities without first of all seeking earnestly a conference with all other churches of that community in the hope of a unified coöperative advance all along the line. The real true church of tomorrow must coöperate with every other church or religious organization which is working for the cause of God and human welfare."

Elders Push Campaign for the Boy Scouts' $1,250,000 Fund Here

Preliminary steps toward the $1,250,000 campaign of the Chicago Boy Scout council to permit expansion in scouting during the next four years, were taken yesterday. At a special meeting in the Palmer house presided over by George Rossetter, forty-five representatives of business and professional groups discussed the plans for the campaign which opens Feb. 6.

That the Boy Scout movement is not philanthropic, but "a part of the duty of citizens toward producing the future good citizens of the city," was the declaration of Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the executive committee. Walter W. Head, national president, declared scouting to be an opportunity to develop better boys.

At 4 weeks ... at 6 weeks your baby should have Bottled Sunshine every day!

The breast-fed baby has many advantages over the bottle-fed. But even the breast-fed baby may not always be able to build strong, straight bones and sound, unspotted teeth.

A certain protective substance (Vitamin D) must be supplied if bones and teeth are to develop properly.

There are two common sources of this protective factor. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil! Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe if he could get enough on his bare body. But clothing, clouds, fog and smoke make this impossible. Even ordinary window glass strains out the protecting rays—the ultra-violet rays.

Physicians urge the use of Bottled Sunshine—cod-liver oil—as the dependable way to assure correct formation of your baby's bones and teeth.

And thousands of them insist upon one particular kind—Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because laboratory tests show it to be very rich in two essentials.

In Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which is necessary to build strong bones and sound teeth, and in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to infections.

Your physician knows he can depend on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected. Insist on Squibb's. All reliable drug stores have both Plain and Mint-flavored.

R. C. A. CRIPPLES POLICE ALARMS, SENATORS TOLD

Expert Cites Chicago's Experience.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Members of the senate's interstate commerce committee were told today by Police Lieutenant Kenneth R. Cox of Detroit, who first perfected a police radio alarm system, that the Radio Corporation of America is hampering use of radio to catch criminals. As a result of the corporation's alleged extortion, the Chicago police radio system will cost $116,000, when, according to Cox, it should not cost more than $48,000.

Cox was loaned to Chicago to install a system similar to that now in use in his home city. He declared that many cities, anxious to adopt radio in their police departments, have been threatened by the Radio corporation with patent suits or compelled to pay extortionate prices for the equipment.

Two Cities' Experiences.

Cox cited the conditions imposed upon Chicago and St. Louis. The necessary apparatus for the St. Louis system will be purchased from companies affiliated with the Radio corporation and Cox estimated a much better system could be built for about one-third of what the St. Louis system will cost. To build the cheaper system, however, would subject the city to involved patent litigation and in addition, he said, the corporation could prevent the city from obtaining some of the parts necessary for successful operation.

Detroit, Cox continued, defied the corporation and built a system of its own, with the result that the corporation flatly refused to sell the city vitally important transmitting tubes. The city is now compelled to "beg" tubes from local broadcasting stations or purchase from so-called "tube bootleggers," Cox said.

"And this is the corporation which we were told was organized for patriotic reasons," observed Senator B. K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.].

What Happened in Chicago.

"It is possible to build a good 500 watt transmitter for less than $10,000 each, declared Cox, telling the senators of Chicago's experience with the Radio corporation. "And it costs about $80 to equip each police car with a receiver. My plan for Chicago proposed the construction of 3 transmitters, at a total cost of $28,000, and the equipment of 250 automobiles with receivers, at a total cost of $20,000."

The Chicago city council appropriated $103,000 to build the system and provide for its operation during 1929, but, according to Cox, just as the work was begun, Police Commissioner Russell was notified by Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the Radio corporation, that it was very probable that the Chicago installation would infringe on patents owned or controlled by the corporation.

The city's legal department advised Russell that the city might be subject to suits if it proceeded. In the face of the threat, price quotations on the needed equipment were asked of the Radio-Victor corporation and the Graybar Electric corporation, a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and one of the R. C. A. patent combination.

Prices Prove Prohibitive.

The Radio-Victor corporation offered to supply transmitters for $26,712 each, while the Graybar Electric price was $24,980, and the Radio-Victor corporation asked $280 each for the receivers, on which it claimed a monopoly.

"Of course, such prices were far beyond the scope of the appropriation," said Cox. "Police radio was at a standstill in Chicago and Chicago needed it. Since the Chicago project was the most elaborate and complete that had been undertaken, police departments all over the country were watching it. The prices quoted were prohibitive and the result was to stop the development of police radio, not only in Chicago, but throughout the nation."

Finally, in order to secure any equipment at all, Chicago modified its specifications to accept inferior equipment and ultimately purchased three transmitters from the Graybar company for $30,000 and receivers for the police automobiles will be purchased from the Radio corporation for $150 each.

"The result," said Cox, "is Chicago will pay $116,000 for a system that will be poorer than the one we would have built at a cost of $48,000."

INSISTS ON FINE TO ASSURE PAY FOR COPS; GETS IT

Bernard Fitzgerald, 22 years old, 8247 South Green street, was fined $5 by Judge John J. Lupe in the Grand Crossing court yesterday because of his love for his Irish compatriots. Fitzgerald was sitting in a theater at 78th and Halsted streets on Sunday night when Policeman Tim Dwyer entered and decided that Fitzgerald was enjoying himself too much for the comfort of other theater patrons. He took Fitzgerald outside and suggested that he go home.

"I don't wanna go home," said Fitzgerald. "I'm drunk and it's your duty to arrest me."

"But we're both Irish and I don't want to lock you up," Dwyer replied.

"That's why you have to arrest me," rejoined Fitzgerald. "I got money and you ain't because the city can't pay you. You arrest me and I'll pay a fine. Then you'll get paid."

Dwyer locked him up at the Gresham station on a charge of disorderly conduct and yesterday Fitzgerald persuaded Judge Lupe to fine him by the same logic. Fitzgerald telephoned his father to pay the fine.

Elmer Gives King a Tip on Broadcasting

George V. Could Pick Better Hour, He Opines.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

If King George of England would be more thoughtful of his American audience and do his speechmaking at a reasonable hour it would be more appreciated. But this thing of broadcasting a speech so that it reaches Chicagoans at 5 a. m. takes the life out of this morning's comment about last evening's programs.

Anyhow, radio's good friend, Allen McQuahae, tenor, was soloist on the New York, orchestral program broadcast over W-G-N from 8:30 to 9 o'clock last night. Allen McQuahae sings delightfully.

An excellent piccolo solo was played on a first rate symphonic band program over WLS, from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

And from 8:30 to 9, there was a company of singers and fiddlers at WLS. The fiddlers played "breakdowns" which in my ignorance I take to be old time dances; anyhow, every so often a fiddler called out: "Swing your pardner," ladies to the right," and so on. A very entertaining half hour.

With the solemnity of a Sunday Symphony orchestra took the air over Symphony orchestra too kthe air over KYW from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. It was a first rate program.

REPORT ROCKOLA WILL NOT TESTIFY AGAINST O'BRIEN

David C. Rockola indicated yesterday that he will refuse to testify against James (High Pockets) O'Brien in the bribery trial scheduled to start tomorrow in Judge John P. McGoorty's Criminal court. The trial of O'Brien was scheduled for yesterday, but because of several technical motions to quash the indictment filed by Attorneys Michael Ahern and Timothy Fell the case was continued so that the prosecution may look up the law applicable to the points raised.

Rockola, who refused to testify against Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader, and six police captains charged with conspiracy in the so-called slot machine syndicate trial, recently testified against William Beran, former police custodian. It was at first reported that he would also testify against O'Brien, alleged brains of the syndicate.

Attorney Louis Picquett was in court with Rockola yesterday and the attorney said his client had indicated he would not testify at the forthcoming trial. At the captains' trial Rockola's refusal resulted in a six months' contempt sentence.

John P. Lundell Will Be Buried Tomorrow

GLADYS TRIES TO DEFEAT PRISON TERM BY SUICIDE

Camden, N. J., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Gladys May Parks, convicted of second degree murder in one case and manslaughter in another, in connection with the deaths of Timothy, 2, and Dorothy, 4, children of Alan Rogers of Woodbury, was sentenced in Camden county Supreme court today to serve twenty-five and ten years at hard labor in state prison. The sentences are to run concurrently, so that with good behavior, Miss Parks is likely to be a free woman again by the time she is 55.

Stoical in court, the "iron woman" quickly lost her poise in her cell and attempted to slash her wrists with an electric light bulb she shattered in an emotional tirade.

"I'll never serve twenty-five years," she screamed in a voice tinged with terror as the iron door clanged behind her. "They'll carry me out in a box first."

As she stormed around in the cell she seized an electric light bulb and attempted to cut her wrist, after breaking it into fragments. An under sheriff rushed into her cell and pinioned her hands to her side.

She later attempted to smash the small chair and table in her cell.

When news of the woman's fury was sent to the warden that official issued orders that she be kept strictly under guard every minute until she is removed to state prison.

Dr. Henry S. Feix, 'The Kid' of Custer's Army, Buried

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A little band of men with whom Dr. Henry S. Feix, 74 "the kid" of Custer's regiment, fought Indians in frontier days, attended his funeral here today. Dr. Feix had been pastor two decades of St. Mark's Lutheran church here. He held a congressional medal of merit for having saved the life of his friend, William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody. He was national chaplain of the Veterans of Indian Wars, and grand chaplain of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

DAVID A. BOODY, IN WALL STREET 65 YEARS, IS DEAD

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—David Augustus Boody, for 65 years active in Wall street and known as its "grand old man" besides being the last Democratic mayor of Brooklyn, died at his home in Brooklyn. He was 93 years old and had been in failing health for several months.

Mr. Boody was born in Jackson, Me., on Aug. 13, 1837. His wife, who was the former Alice M. Treat of Frankfort, Me., died several years ago.

In 1861 Mr. Boody came to New York, as secretary to his uncle, Henry H. Boody. He had passed the bar examination and intended to embark upon a legal career. His uncle was heavily interested in Wall street, however, and young Boody contracted the fever which never left him until 1927, when he retired from the stock exchange.

Mr. Boody was a member of the brokerage firm of Boody, McLellan & Co., and represented the firm on the floor of the stock exchange for many years. He paid $1,000 for the seat on the big board and sold it about three years ago for $185,000. He served in congress from 1889 to 1892 and was mayor of Brooklyn from 1892 to 1894.

WILL COBB, 53, AUTHOR OF MANY SONG HITS, DIES

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Will Cobb, 53 years old, author of many song hits in the "rag time days," died today in the Metropolitan State hospital on Ward's island.

Born in Philadelphia, he attended public schools there and at an early age began writing song "lyrics." Among his works were "I'll Be With You When the Roses Bloom Again," "Goodbye, Dolly Gray," "School Days," "Sunbonnet Sue," "Goodbye, Little Girl, Goodbye," "Waltz Me Around Again Willie," and "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave."

The last named song he wrote for the late Anna Held.

Surviving him are his mother and a brother. Burial will be at Philadelphia.

Child Labor Sunday is [illegible] and for us. Just a cursory glance toward gives us reason for thankfulness for the future.

Twenty-five years ago, when a conference of the National Child Labor committee met, it was [illegible] children under 14 to work. Children 7 years old were employed in places without danger or [illegible] by the authorities.

Probably everybody is familiar with shocking stories and pictures of child labor in the textile mills of the South—the "breaker" boy and the driver in the mines of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and of children working in glass factories and in the shrimp canneries.

Then many parents and employers saved in and extolled the [illegible] virtue of work for children even in their teens.

There have been two ways to bring about abolition of child labor [illegible] worked for. One is by legislation, the other is by the creation of a strong public sentiment through which young people and keeping children [illegible] of conditions. Of the two, the child labor committee has [illegible] the latter.

Today practically all states [illegible] laws of work, some 46 years some do not permit a child under 16 to be employed, many the majority of them an eight hour day for children under 16, and the restriction of night work is general. Education [illegible] requirements are taken [illegible] consideration.

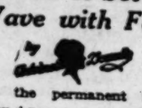
Antoinette Tells You How to Set Your Wave with Facility



How's the permanent behaving? Wish you knew a good wave setter? Subscribing to the latter cause are many good wave setting lotions, or you may try making one yourself with quince seed. Take a tablespoonful of the seed, add a pint of water and let boil for one-half hour. Strain; when cold add a couple of spoonfuls of your favorite perfumed toilet water.

Personally, it does seem silly nowadays to go messing around with home brewed concoctions when the trade is so eager for patronage that it does put stuff up most attractively and at nominal prices, too. In choosing a waving lotion, of course, it is just as well to be careful and not choose for dry hair a wave setting lotion with high alcoholic content, since alcohol is drying.

But if the wave does not seem to be justifying its ten, fifteen or twent' expenditure, and sometimes one does reach that state of doubt, maybe the hair needs a few hot oil treatments. A certain amount of drying happens with the best kind of wave, and it isn't a bad idea to take a hot oil treatment any way. Give yourself one by warming olive oil and rubbing it well into the scalp, letting it saturate the hair, too, if you plan to take a shampoo shortly after.

Sometimes, after the wave has been all set and you've looked perfectly handsome for a few days, the hair begins to look not so wavy. Now, if you happen to have one of those wide meshed covers that they put on your hair before you go under the dryer, use it for this little trick, or your regular overnight net with the large mesh.

Don't tie it down too tightly. Only half tight is best. Then, if you have a spray for your toilet water, spray some of it over the netted head, wetting the hair lightly, not soaking it, understand. Or, if not toilet water, dip your hairbrush in water and sprinkle water over the head. When it is damp, with your fingers press, squeeze and work the hair into little turns and twists to suit your own taste.

You may have to practice a few times before you get what you want. But when your hair is dry and the net is removed, after a bit of shaping the threatened straightness will have disappeared, any way.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Pot Roasting for Gravy.

It seems absurd, in a way, to cook a piece of meat in order that you can have a supreme gravy, and yet it is done, and justifiably. Sometimes we cut the meat fine, pour some water over it and cook it for an hour, then strain it (this was formerly called beef tea), and we are ready to thicken it and make a quick gravy that may be excellent; but the most wonderful beef gravy we can get is by pot roasting a piece of meat without any seasoning other than salt.

This statement is not quite exact, for the reason that we do have the seasoning that comes from searing the piece of meat on all sides, giving it a fire browned aroma to flavor the gravy. The flavor of a good gravy is half aroma, anyway, and we can always quote the famous cook who said that no sauce nor gravy could equal the fine flavor of the outside of roasted meat when it first leaves the fire. We can get almost the same effect by searing meat in a hot pan or kettle.

First, the meat to be used must be made immaculately clean, and a pot roast needs to be made as compact as possible with steel skewers. Then rub it all over with a mixture of a heaping teaspoon of flour for each pound of meat—you can use as little as one pound of solid chuck meat—a level teaspoon of salt, and an eighth of a teaspoon of freshly ground pepper. Have in the kettle a little tried out suet and salt pork fat. Remember, these must never get scorched first nor last. The fat must be exceedingly hot, but not hot enough to burn; then sear the prepared meat all over in it.

Cover the kettle and cook the meat over a low fire, basting it now and then with the fat in the kettle. A tiny bit of water can be added to this at the start, but it is better not to use any, because the cooking must be slow to get the best effects, and in this case the water is not needed, or no more than will steam out of the meat. In preparing the meat every effort must be made not to wet it, but to clean it by trimmings and scrapings, and any ends of bone must be made clean by scraping.

A gravy made in this fashion may be thin or thicker, to be used while hot, or used for heating up slices of meat.

Burgundy Appears on the Paris Streets

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS. — [Special.] — Paris streets are turning red. Communists are quiet and blood is coursing peacefully inside of veins. The red in the rues of the French capital is that of wine and it is dyeing smart ensembles, not gurgling out of pre-war bottles. For the fashionable wine red of the coming style season Paris has chosen Burgundy, a color that, as any wine expert knows, is different and not to be confused with Bordeaux.

Burgundy has brown in it and is altogether richer and more subdued than the wine red we have seen in other seasons. Lots of the smartest winter and advance spring ensembles from the greatest dressmakers are made in this color and it looks enchanting. More than that, the Paris style mongers tell me that American clients adore the shade and have chosen quantities of clothes in this color, so it is sure to liven the streets and houses of fashionable America in the near future.

Burgundy red, while many of the Paris couturiers use it for street clothes, is not forgotten for evening and is having a considerable success in the evening as well as daylight.

The Lucile Paray ensemble sketched here has a coat and skirt of Burgundy red broadcloth and revives the color combination of red and blue, for the extravagant cuffs of the coat sleeves of this model are stitched with blue thread in checkered pattern, and this stitching makes a yoke at the back of the knee length coat. The skirt has a deep yoke edged by blue stitching.

The sweater blouse of the ensemble is made of blue, red, and beige yarn knitted in the bouclé stitch Paris prefers, a stitch that gives the surface a velvety pile, because of tiny all-over loops. This sweater is a long pull-over with a red leather belt at the high waist line and a scarf that is sewed into the front of the left armhole, from which point it is draped across the front and around the neck. The red broadcloth beret and the dark blue strap slippers are important details of this chic ensemble.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

We were having a reading lesson in a first grade room. My hair is red and I wore a black satin dress with white pointed collar.

One little chap who evidently had been giving my hair, collar, and dress some thought, interrupted the lesson to say, "Teacher, you look like a flower with your collar and yellow hair."

This brought giggles from the other children and I surmised that he meant I looked like a sunflower. D. Z.

Don't let SORE THROAT get the best of you . . .

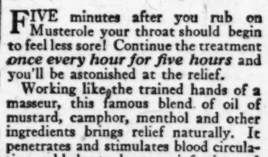
FIVE minutes after you rub on Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore! Continue the treatment once every hour for five hours and you'll be astonished at the relief.

Working like the trained hands of a masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

MUSTEROLE
BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PLASTER

Your skin will be clear and Healthy



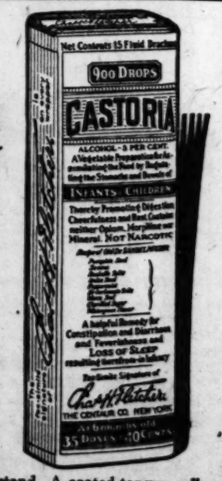
If you take good care of it. Make a habit of using CUTICURA SOAP regularly for every day use. Apply CUTICURA OINTMENT occasionally if you are troubled with blemishes, rashes and pimples. Regular use of these well known CUTICURA PREPARATIONS does much to keep the skin in good condition.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c. and 50c. Talcum 25c. Proprietors: Potter Drug & Chemical Corporation, Malden, Mass.

Pertussin For Coughs

PRESCRIBED by physicians because it is free from harmful drugs—and relieves coughs in a natural way.

Restless Children



Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.
